DEMOCRATIC LANDSLIDE IN CHICAGO; DEVER MAYOR

Jurist Defeats Lueder by 103,748 Plurality, Biggest in City's History With Only One Exception, Carrying With Him the Other Party Candidates.

THOMPSON AIDS GO DOWN TO DEFEAT

Democrats to Have 37 in Council to 13 Republicans —Hull Elected to Congress to Fill Vacancy Caused by Mann's Death.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 4.—On the top of a Democratic landslide, William E. Dever, Judge of the Superior Court, was carried into the office of Mayor yesterday, succeeding William Hale Thompson, retiring after serving eight years for the Republican party. The avalanche of votes that gave Judge Dever the biggest plurality in the city's history, with one exception, that received by Mayor Thompson in 1915, also elected a Democratic City Clerk and City Treasurer.

Unofficial returns gave Judge Dever a total vote of 387,961 and Arthur C. Lueder, Republican mayoralty candidate and former Postmaster, 284,213. Dever's plurality was announced as 103,748. Mayor Thompson's plurality in the Republican landslide of 1915 was 147,477.

In the only congressional election in the State to fill the vacancy in the Second Illinois District caused by the death of Congressman James R. Mann, the Republicans were victorious, Morton D. Hull, former State Senator, defeating Barrett O'Hara, Democrat and former Lieutenant-Governor, by 56,330 to 42,495, according to unofficial figures.

Thompson Supporters Beaten.

Although the old City Council was Democratic before the primaries, Feb. 17, in which 30 Aldermen were elected and yesterday's election naming the remaining 20, the party increased its strength. Thirteen of the Aldermen elected yesterday were Democrats, giving the party 37 Aldermen, as compared with the Republicans' 13.

Four or five aldermanic candidates, considered strong supporters of Mayor Thompson and his administration, were defeated.

John A. Cervenak, Democrat, defeated J. W. Healy, Republican, for the city treasury. Alf Gorman, Democrat, won over William H. Cruden, Republican, for the clerkship.

William A. Cunnea, Socialist mayoralty candidate, according to the unofficial returns, received 40,841 votes.

The aldermanic election gave Dever a working majority of Chicago's first city council of 50 aldermen. Twelve normally strong Republican wards went Democratic, while some wards elected the first Democratic alderman in 20 years.

Judge Dever's large vote that gave him a plurality in 33 of the 50 wards was ascribed to the voter's belief of his advantage over Lueder in municipal experience. Dever has been in public life for 28 years. The total vote in the municipal election was 713,015, only 78.7 per cent of the total registered vote.

$20,000,000 Bonds Voted.

Four series of bond issues totaling $20,000,000 were voted by residents of the South Park district.

While Mayor Thompson, who announced his retirement after the election of Lueder as candidate by the Republicans' coalition, took no active part in the campaign, Republicans yesterday charged that his forces had been thrown behind Dever.

Dever was born in Woburn, Mass., March 13, 1862. His father had a tannery in that city, where Dever learned the trade. In 1887, Dever and his wife came to Chicago and he worked in a tannery here. At night he studied law in the Kent College of Law, from which he was graduated in 1890 with honors. Judge Dever is a Catholic.

In 1900 Chicago's new mayor entered politics but was defeated for the Board of Aldermen. Two years later he was elected and served five terms in succession. At the end of his fifth term he was elected to the Superior Court bench, re-elected in 1916 and again in 1922.

Mrs. William E. Dever, wife of Judge Dever, Democratic Mayor-elect, will be her husband's "worry depository," she announced as she surveyed today the result of her husband's political success in the election yesterday. But she will not meddle in affairs of state, she added.

"I shall continue to do as I have done for the last quarter of a century—be a helpmate," she said.

WEBSTER GROVES AGAINST RESTORING SUNDAY MOVIES

Suburb's Only Existing "Blue Law" Sustained by Citizens by Vote of 1910 to 1465.

Citizens of Webster Groves, at their municipal election yesterday, defeated a proposition to rescind the community's one existing "blue law"—an ordinance prohibiting the showing of Sunday motion pictures, which has existed since 1916. The vote was 1910 to 1464.

The movement for Sunday cinemas had its origin last September, when Webster residents, thinking of the long journey to St. Louis for Sunday enjoyment during the winter, suggested removing the local restraint. Petitions were circulated and 1300 signatures were obtained. These were presented to the Town Council early in February and that body decided the question should be decided by vote.

Little campaigning was done by those favoring the repeal of the ordinance. The opposition was more active, and 10 days ago the Citizens' Protective Committee was organized and its members spoke against the proposition.

GEORGIA OFFICERS DISPOSSESS SIMMONS OF KLAN "PALACE"

Ku Klux "Emperor" Ordered to Show Cause for Retaining Injunction Against "Wizard."

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 4.—Sheriff J. I. Lowry of Fulton County, with a force of deputies, early today took charge of the "imperial palace," headquarters of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, under an order signed by Judge E. D. Thomas, dispossessing W. J. Simmons, "imperial emperor," who took charge of the headquarters and the klan yesterday under a temporary injunction secured by him against "Imperial Wizard" H. W. Evans.

The order, signed about 2:30 o'clock this morning by Judge Thomas, directed "Emperor" Simmons and the other plaintiffs in the action to appear for a hearing before him this afternoon at 2 o'clock to show cause why the temporary injunction against "Imperial Wizard" Evans and the other officials of the klan should not be dismissed.

TWO AUTO BANDITS ROB BANK NEAR JOPLIN, MO.

Police of the Latter City, Armed With Rifles, Try to Head Them Off.

By the Associated Press.

JOPLIN, Mo., April 4.—A motor car loaded with police, armed with rifles and sawed-off shotguns, left here this morning in an effort to head off two bandits, who at 10 a. m., entered the Bank of Waco, 16 miles northwest of here, held up the cashier, Warren Lofton, scooped up all the cash in sight and sped away in a motor car headed toward this city.

A Waco posse and the Joplin police lost trace of the robbers between Asbury, Mo., and Pittsburg, Kan., and returned. It was stated at the bank that the bandits obtained between $800 and $1000. Mrs. Lopton, wife of the cashier, had said, "The bank was just about cleaned out." The bank is capitalized at $10,000.

FOSTER CASE GOES TO JURY; JUDGE'S CHARGE IS LENGTHY

DEFENDANT'S PURPOSE ALSO AN ELEMENT

Judge Describes Legal Method of Changing Government and Says All Other Ways Must Be Unlawful.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., April 4.—The case of William Z. Foster of Chicago, who has been on trial here for violation of the State criminal syndicalism law, was given to the jury today. Foster is guilty of violation of Michigan's law against criminal syndicalism, Judge Charles White instructed the jury today, if:

1. The Communist party of America, at the time he attended its convention last August in lonely dunes on the shore of Lake Michigan, was a society formed to advocate and teach criminal syndicalism, and if,

2. Foster assembled with the convention delegates voluntarily or, in the words of the Court, "with conscious design and purpose to further and promote the teachings and advocacy by the Communist party of the doctrines of criminal syndicalism."

Six Thousand-Word Document.

It is not disputed, the Court said, that the meeting was a convention of the Communist party or that Foster was present at some of the sessions, so, he continued, only those two questions are left for the jury's consideration.

The Court's instructions, a 6000-word document, were read to the jury at 9 o'clock this morning and 11 men and one woman in the box then retired to consider a verdict.

Judge White instructed the jurors that it was not a crime for the Communist party to assemble in this State nor was it a crime for Foster to teach and advocate in this State, "theories of doctrines of class struggle, mass action, the dictatorship of the proletariat, the soviet system of government, the abolition of the capitalistic system, industrial unionism, internationalism, affiliation of the American trade union movement with the red internationale or labor unions, support of the soviet Government of Russia, independent working class action, the Communist social revolution and other industrial, economic and political changes mentioned in the documents of the Communist party in evidence in this case."

Advocacy of Criminal Acts.

No crime was committed, the Court said, unless Foster and the Communist party "taught and advocated crime, sabotage, violence and terrorism" as the method, or one of the methods, of accomplishing the changes in the organization of society desired by the Communists.

The Michigan law against criminal syndicalism, he said, was not aimed against advocacy of any changes in our industrial, political or social institutions, no matter how far-reaching or how drastic such proposals, but against advocacy of criminal acts as a means or method of bringing them about.

Even if the jury finds the Communist party, the Court said, was formed to teach doctrines of criminal syndicalism, the mere fact that Foster attended its convention would not be sufficient to establish his guilt unless the jury decided he took part in the convention with knowledge that the party did advocate criminal acts and with the purpose and intent by his presence to aid, abet and take part in such teachings.

Judge White described to the jury the legal method of changing the Government of the United States, or of the State of Michigan, by constitutional amendment and said all other methods proposed must be unlawful and illegal. While the Communist party and Foster, he said, had a right to advocate any change the Communists might desire, it was unlawful to propose accomplishing the desired result by any but lawful means.

Communist Party Membership.

The Court told the jurors that in determining whether or not Foster was a member of the communist party, as alleged by the State but denied on the stand by him, the jury should take into consideration what evidence disclosed as to his mental attitude toward doctrines and teachings of the communist party. "It is proper for you," Judge White said, "to consider the question of whether or not at that time he believed in the same things, or doctrines, or theories, or program that the communist party of America believed in."

The same thing, he said, should be considered in determining the pur-

OFFICE FIXTURES MISSING FROM COMMITTEE ROOMS AFTER LEGISLATORS LEAVE

Seven Typewriters and 21 Desk Lamps and Shades Among Articles Not Found When Checkup Is Attempted at Capitol.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4.—Coincident with the departure of members of the Legislature two weeks ago there has disappeared from committee rooms and other legislative offices seven typewriters, one adding machine, 21 desk lamps and shades, valued at $252, a mirror valued at $8 and a wooden chest valued at $8, Harry Woodruff, commissioner of the Board of the Permanent Seat of Government, said today.

Absence of the articles became known when Woodruff sought to check a list of property mentioned in a resolution passed by the House shortly before adjournment of the session asking the commissioner, who is custodian of the capital building, to keep the property for the next Legislature.

The resolution, in addition to the articles named, mentioned an iron safe valued at $100, a dictionary valued at $20, seven chests valued at $56 and four large shades valued at $60 which are accounted for.

The iron safe and the seven chests are rather bulky. The four shades are attached to the outside of windows at the top of the House Chamber in an almost inaccessible place.

The missing articles were in the committee rooms on the same floor of the capitol building as is the House Chamber. The committee rooms rarely are locked.

Woodruff said that of the seven missing typewriters, four had been borrowed for use of the Legislature from the Bonus Commission, two had been rented from a typewriter agency and one had been borrowed from the State Board of Health. The adding machine had been borrowed from the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Nine typewriters were missing when Woodruff began his check. A. O. McClelland of Kirksville, Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, found two of them in North Missouri and shipped them back to Jefferson City. Officials refused to say where the machines were found.

It is understood here that Oak Hunter of Randolph County, Speaker of the House, will instruct the Sergeant-at-Arms to make further investigation in an effort to find articles unaccounted for.

Woodruff said efforts are being made to trace the missing articles, but that he has made little progress, as he has no definite clews.

HOTEL GUEST BORES INTO CLOTHING STORE

Hole in Floor of Room 203 Solves Robbery in Establishment Below; Lodger Missing.

The lodger in room 203 at the Madison Hotel, 1831 Market street, was missing this morning when the proprietor sought to ask him about a large hole in the floor of the room. The proprietors of the Friedman Loan and Mercantile Co., which is on the floor below, were even more interested in the hole, which was also a hole in their ceiling, and which they found when they and the police began to investigate the theft of an assortment of furs from the establishment.

The lodger in 203 last night asked the clerk to call him at 2 a. m. today. The call was duly made, and the lodger, whose name was on the hotel's register as James Kelly of Cleveland, left soon after, carrying two large suitcases. These suitcases, and their contents, are believed to have constituted the losses of the store on the floor below.

"Jazz suits," quite a number of them—the management could not say just how many—were included in the loot. The outstanding peculiarity of this form of male attire is that the three front coat buttons are very near together. Silk shirts and furs were also taken from the store. The management said the loss would run into four figures. The jewelry cases were not touched.

The lodger was assigned to room 201 when he appeared at the hotel night before last, but he asked to be changed to 203. This room is over a balcony of the store. The hole in the floor was made by repeated drillings with a bit and brace —more trouble than a saw, but with the advantage of being noiseless. The bit and brace, and a pair of canvas gloves, were left in the room.

After a descent through the hole, which was just large enough to crawl through, the articles collected are supposed to have been pushed up through the hole, into the room, where they were packed in the stolen suit cases. The leaving of a call indicates that the guest may have lain down and rested awhile, after finishing the job.

MEXICAN LABORERS TO WORK IN BETHLEHEM STEEL MILLS

Pay Is to Be 30 Cents an Hour—Board and Lodging to Be Deducted.

By the Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 4.—More than 300 Mexican laborers will be sent from San Antonio to Bethlehem, Pa., to work for the Bethlehem Steel Co., it was announced here yesterday by Consul-General Alejandro Lubbert, following the signing of a labor contract with George W. Vary, superintendent of labor for the steel company.

The contract stipulates that the laborers be paid 30 cents an hour for as many hours each day and days each week as the laws of Pennsylvania permit and will be charged $1.10 a day for board and lodging by the company, which will be deducted from their pay.

SOCIAL BAN ON TWO W. U. STUDENTS LIFTED

One of Them Also Restored to Membership on Varsity Debating Team.

Reinstatement to normal social standing of two men students at Washington University, who, with a third, were recently ostracised by an edict of Pralma, senior honorary organization for men, was announced today in Student Life, the campus paper. Those reinstated are Victor A. Packman, 3159 Cherokee street, a sophomore in the law school, and Lawrence Goldman, 4317 Eichelberger avenue, a junior in the school of arts and sciences.

The reinstatement carries with it restoration of Packman's membership on the varsity debating team, from which he was barred by action of Prof. Isaac Lippincott, chairman of the Debating Council. The punishment had been inflicted on Packman and Goldman because they wrote letters to Student Life criticising the tradition under which the third ostracised student, Maxmillian M. Kling, 3117 Brantner place, had been paddled for refusal to wear a freshman's "peanut cap," he being a freshman.

The announcement today stated that Packman had written Pralma a letter of apology for certain language he had used in his public letter, and it was pointed out that the letters of Packman and Goldman were simply expressions of opinion. No mention was made of reinstating Kling to the good graces of his fellow students. It is known that there has been some dissatisfaction among the students and the faculty as to the ostracism of the three men.

After today, any person found drinking alcoholic beverages will receive 30 strokes with the bastinado, a long, pliable stick.

New Girders for Eads Bridge Deck.

The upper deck of Eads bridge, just under 50 years of age, used for street car and vehicle traffic, will be reinforced, within the next few weeks, by the supplying of new steel girders supporting this deck. This will be part of a course of improvement work on the upper deck, intended to meet the demand imposed by the increased weight of vehicles. Street car service will be curtailed while the work is in progress.

REPORT MISSING PRIEST HAS BEEN FOUND IN BUFFALO

Telegram Received at Knights of Columbus Headquarters in New York States He Is on Way Home.

SENDER IS NOT KNOWN IN BUFFALO

The Rev. Father J. A. Vraniak of Virden, Ill., Disappeared on March 5 After Trip to St. Louis.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 4.—A telegram from Buffalo, signed "J. I. Perrine," was received today at Knights of Columbus headquarters here stating that the Rev. J. A. Vraniak of Virden, Ill., reported kidnaped in Venice, Ill., on March 5, had been "captured from his abductors" and was being returned to his home this morning.

The telegram, which gave Perrine's address only as "The Square," was addressed to John B. Kennedy, editor of Columbia, a magazine published by the Knights of Columbus. Kennedy said his first impression was that the telegram was not a hoax.

The text of the telegram read:

"Father Vraniak captured from abductors. Being returned home this morning. Wire reward offered at once."

Kennedy said the last sentence referred to a reward of $1500 offered by the Knights of Columbus of Virden—$500 for information leading to the finding of the priest and $1000 for information leading to the arrest of his captors.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 4.—Matthew Doyle, financial secretary of the Knights of Columbus here, said no person named J. I. Perrine was known at headquarters here. The name does not appear in the city directory. "The Square" is supposed to mean Ellicott Square, a downtown center.

Virden Has No Information of Finding of Priest.

No information regarding the finding or prospective return of Father Vraniak, who disappeared March 5 in St. Louis or Venice, Ill., has been received by his relatives and parishioners in Virden, Ill., according to a brother priest, the Rev. P. H. Masterson. Father Masterson said today that he had been apprised of the Buffalo message, but that he had no information which would tend to bear it out.

A month of searching for the missing Slovak Catholic priest has been without result, save to narrow the field of inquiry and eliminate several theories.

The Virden Council, Knights of Columbus, announced after a closed meeting there last night, which was attended by knights from many surrounding towns, that whatever happened to the priest occurred between Venice and Mitchell, Ill., on the road to Virden. Their reason for this hypothesis is that Rev. Father M. J. Costello of Mitchell had a supper engagement in Mitchell with Father Vraniak the evening he disappeared. The priest did not keep this appointment, and last was seen leaving a garage in Venice in his automobile, according to the garage man there. Mitchell is about 10 miles north of Venice, on the road to Alton.

Search by Detectives Ended.

A national detective agency here, which was employed to investigate the case March 16, has been called off. Father Masterson said last night the agency's operatives worked for two weeks without learning anything material. Search now is being conducted by the Knights of Columbus and the Madison County authorities.

Absence of plausible motive still characterizes the mystery. Those in Virden closest to the investigation seem to have abandoned all but two theories, namely, that Father Vraniak was murdered or that he is in mental stress.

First theories, which included suspicion of the Ku Klux Klan, a love affair, voluntary retirement to a retreat, interchurch jealousy and financial involvement, have frittered away until there is nothing but idle gossip in Virden to support them.

Facts of Personal Life.

The facts of Father Vraniak's personal life always under the scrutiny of a little town to this day are attested to by Protestant and Catholic as follows:

He was poor. He had built up his church by devotion to duty and had gained the affection of his parishioners. He was young and enthusiastic—interested in baseball and football and other sports. He lived with his mother, a younger sister and small brother. No one ever heard, first hand, any talk against him and no one ever heard him talk against anyone.

Father Vraniak, it will be remem-

PASSENGER HURT, WINDOWS BROKEN, IN TAXICAB WAR

One Chauffeur, Changing Cars Twice, Is Three Times the Target for Bricks and Bullets During Night.

A series of skirmishes last night, in which one nonparticipant was injured, marked the second night of the latest depredations in the taxicab drivers' fights growing out of union differences with employers.

Two bricks were hurled at 8 p. m. at a Yellow taxicab, going west on Locust street at Twentieth street. The bricks were thrown from a west-bound touring car occupied by several men. The taxicab radiator, meter and one window were damaged, but the chauffeur, Richard T. Horn, of 3935 Flad avenue, was not hurt.

Horn got another Yellow cab and was standing with it in front of Hotel Chase at 10:30 p. m., when a touring car, apparently the same as before, passed. Bricks again were thrown. A window of the cab was broken.

Horn got a third car. He was driving abreast of another car of the same company west on Washington boulevard at Channing avenue, at 11:50 p. m., when about a dozen shots were fired at the cabs from an eastbound touring car in which were two men and two women. Three bullets hit Horn's car without doing serious damage.

A Brown taxicab, driven by William E. Thompson of 1335 Blackstone avenue, was showered with beer bottles thrown from a black touring car at Hamilton and Ridge avenues at 12:30 a. m. Windows were broken and a passenger, John McDermott, 24 years old, 5932 Wells avenue was cut on the face and over the left eye.

At 1:30 a. m. a shot was fired at a Brown cab at Grand boulevard and Wyoming street by one of two men in a touring car. Fifteen minutes later the Brown company telephoned to the police that bricks and other missiles had been thrown into its machines standing on Delmar boulevard, west of Taylor avenue; at Jefferson and Geyer avenues, and at Grand boulevard and Park avenue.

Fifty union chauffeurs employed by the Brown Taxicab Co. struck on March 6 because two members of the union had been discharged. Union officials held that the strike violated a contract between the union and the company, and the places of the strikers were filled with other union men. The Taxicab Trust Estate, operating Yellow cabs, has employed nonunion drivers since its union chauffeurs struck Dec. 31, 1921. There have been intermittent clashes since that time.

CONSTABLE SLAIN WITH OWN WEAPON BY SPEEDER

Assailant Driven Away by Group in Machine Which Had Been Following Him —Seven Suspects Arrested in City.

Police authorities up to this afternoon have not obtained a definite clew to the identity of the driver of a stolen automobile who last night, in brutal manner, shot and killed Deputy Constable Edward P. Neu in front of a parish house at 8240 Gravois road. The Deputy Constable had halted the driver and was about to place him under arrest for speeding when slain.

Details of the murder were related to the Post-Dispatch today by an eyewitness, Harold Briggs, proprietor of the Affton Automobile Service Co., and a member of a group which pursued the slayer and his five companions into the city, losing the trail at Morganford road and Gravois avenue.

"The dramatic club of St. George's Catholic Church, of which I am a member, was meeting in the parish house, 8240 Gravois road, about a mile southwest of the southwestern terminus of the Cherokee street car line," said Briggs. "It was about 9:45 p. m., and we were getting ready to adjourn when we heard a cry of 'halt' in the road. I recognized the voice as that of Deputy Constable Neu, whose brother was at our meeting, and ran to the front door.

"A Cadillac touring car occupied by one man had stopped in front of the parish house; a Hudson touring car, occupied by five men, was about 50 feet ahead of the Cadillac and was backing toward the other machine. Deputy Constable Neu was at the side of the road, farthest from the parish house, adjusting his motor cycle prop so that the motor cycle would stand alone.

Shot With Own Revolver.

"The man in the Cadillac car jumped out and ran toward the officer, who was in a stooping position. I yelled to Neu but before he could look up the man was upon him and had snatched the officer's revolver from its holster. He then backed away a few feet and fired two shots into Neu's chest. The officer fell and I heard him say, 'For God's sake, don't shoot any more.' He was lying on his back and his assailant deliberately bent over him, placed the revolver against his mouth and sent a bullet into his head.

"Four of the men in the Hudson, three armed with revolvers and one with a sawed-off shotgun, jumped from their car, leaving the driver at the wheel, and crowded about the Deputy Constable. They saw that he was unconscious and dying and they pulled the man who had done the shooting into their car.

"In the meantime, John Neu, the Deputy's brother; Eugene Weiss and I had run into the parish house and got our revolvers from our overcoat pockets. When we again went out the men were piling into the Hudson. We opened fire upon them and they returned our shot as the automobile pulled away east on Gravois road.

Pursuit Ends in City.

"My companions and I jumped into my automobile and pursued the Hudson, exchanging shots with the occupants of the other car as we sped along Gravois road. About 35 or 40 shots in all were fired, and at Morganford road, inside the city limits, we lost track of the Hudson.

"Other members of the dramatic club carried the deputy constable into the parish house and the Rev. Father Joseph A. Siebert, pastor, administered the last rites of the church as Neu was breathing his last.

"I believe the two automobiles were racing and the officer was about to arrest the driver of the Cadillac for speeding. He evidently did not realize the character of the men or suspect that the men in the Hudson were armed, otherwise he would not have exposed himself to danger by leisurely adjusting his motorcycle stand after the Cadillac had stopped.

Threat From Men in Hudson.

MACHINE TICKET WINS IN CITY IN LISTLESS ELECTION

All of Republican Alderman Candidates Successful by Majorities Ranging From 16,000 to 18,000.

73,533 VOTERS GO TO THE POLLS

WALTER J. G. NEUN.

The Republican organization aldermanic ticket was carried into office yesterday in a rather listless election, by majorities ranging from 16,000 to 18,000, on a total vote of 73,533, but the "machine" success is not heralded by politicians as a "great victory."

Opposing the Republican ticket were the Democratic and American Labor tickets, without campaign funds, and virtually no workers were at the polls to oppose the city employes, christened "the 7000 payroll patriots" in the recent campaign. In the face of this, the Republican majority was smaller than recorded in several years.

The total vote of 73,533 represented 28.5 per cent of the 257,292 registered voters of the city.

The election was on the presidency of the Board of Aldermen, 14 Aldermen from the 14 even-numbered wards and six members of the Board of Education. The successful aldermanic candidates were:

President—Walter J. G. Neun.

Aldermen:

Second Ward—Dr. Edward F. Randall.

Fourth Ward—William F. Otto, incumbent.

Sixth Ward—Louis A. Lange.

Eighth Ward—Edward Hirth, incumbent.

Tenth Ward—George Meisinger, Incumbent.

Twelfth Ward—Charles A. Neumann, incumbent.

Fourteenth Ward—Gus A. Baur, incumbent.

Twenty-second Ward—Herman C. Kralemann, incumbent.

Twenty-fourth Ward—Chauncey J. Krueger, incumbent.

Twenty-sixth Ward—R. H. Ellers, incumbent.

Twenty-eighth Ward—John H. Brod Jr.

Neun defeated his Democratic opponent, Dwight D. Currie, by a plurality of 16,058, Neun receiving 42,205 votes and Currie, who led his ticket, 26,247. William M. Brandt, American Labor candidate for the presidency, led his ticket with 4931 votes.

William Otto, re-elected from the Fourth Ward, led the Republican aldermanic ticket with 43,144, giving him a plurality of 18,519 over John J. Tatten, Democrat. Dr. Edward F. Randall, Second Ward, the low man on the Republican ticket, received 41,904 votes, a plurality of 16,387 over his Democratic opponent, Thomas R. Taylor.

Two years ago the Republican city ticket was swept into office by majorities ranging around 40,000, in a presidential year, when the Democrats had a campaign fund and made an active fight.

Four years ago, when Louis P. Aloe, Republican, was elected President of the Board of Aldermen, he defeated Flint Garrison, Democrat, by 25,000 votes. The Democrats that year had a campaign fund practically equivalent to the money expended by Republicans, and in addition a bitter fight was being made on the administration because of the United Railways compromise. A fight to obtain the recall of Mayor Kiel also had been pending.

Vote Four Years Ago.

The vote in that election was 84,668, or 54 per cent of the registration of 156,378. Women were not eligible to vote at that time.

Last fall Republican majorities were cut down by the heavy drift of Republicans to the banner of United State Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, who carried the city by more than 40,000. However, the Republican city ticket went over, in the face of defections from the organization, which was lukewarm in support of R. R. Brewster, Republican candidate for Senator. The high majority for the Republican city ticket was about 20,000. A vigorous fight had been made by the Republican organization to save the city ticket.

The light vote yesterday was considered in some quarters as a rebuke to the "machine" and a warning that the organization is "slipping."

Democratic candidates carried only the Third and Fourth wards. The Fifth, formerly a Democratic stronghold, went to the Republicans by about 600 votes. The Fourth, normally Democratic by 1000 votes, was carried by Currie with a margin of 530 votes.

Republican workers last night said virtually no Democratic workers were at the polls and few efforts were made by Democratic organization men to get out the vote in the wards where they have the greatest strength.

One Woman Candidate.

Mrs. Regina M. Billings, Democratic candidate for Alderman from the Twenty-sixth Ward, was the only woman candidate for an aldermanic office. She fell with the rest of her ticket, receiving 24,674 votes and losing to her Republican opponent, R. H. Ellers, by 18,451 votes.

Chauncey J. Krueger, Republican, suffered some "scratching," as did Gus A. Baur, Republican, Fourteenth Ward. Krueger had a plurality of 16,993 over his Democratic opponent, Henry J. Schleper. He carried the Twenty-fourth Ward over Schleper by 951 votes, receiving 2172, but 12 other Republican candidates received higher votes in the Twenty-fourth than Krueger. The latter, as one of the "three K's," figured in a hot fight in the 1920 campaign, when Krueger was beaten for election as a Judge. Baur carried the Fourteenth Ward with a plurality of 561 over Jerome L. Fuerst, Democrat, but was given a plurality of 16,966 on the total vote.

Currie led the campaign for his ticket with a fight for minority representation, but he had very little organization support and declared he was making the campaign without funds. Minority representation was made the chief issue of the campaign, along with an issue that expenditure of the $87,372,500 bond issue for public improvements should not be controlled by a solidly Republican administration.

Neun made his campaign on the Republican record. As President of the Board of Aldermen, he will be a member of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, with the Mayor and Comptroller. This is the fiscal board of the city. In the Mayor's absence from the city he will be acting Mayor.

Neun, a lawyer, with offices in the National Bank of Commerce building, resides at 5915 Clemens avenue. He was born here in 1881 and was graduated from the law school of Washington University in 1902, with honors. He served as Assistant Circuit Attorney, by appointment, in 1909-10 and was assistant counsel for the National Bank of Commerce in 1911-17. He was elected Circuit Judge in 1918 to fill an unexpired term of three months and was elected chairman of the Republican City Central Committee in 1922, following his election as committeeman from the Twenty-eighth ward. He resigned from the committee chairmanship after his nomination in the primary.

away from here.' When my companions and I appeared at the door with our revolvers and just before we began shooting the men in the Hudson car challenged us with the remark, 'Get back into the house or we'll kill you.'"

The Cadillac, which was abandoned at the scene of the murder, later was identified through its factory numbers as the property of George Meehan, 616 Eastgate avenue, who had reported it stolen March 26. Deputy Constable Neu's revolver was found at the side of the road where it had been tossed by the slayer after the shooting.

Seven Men Arrested.

A tow-rope was attached to the Cadillac, although both the Cadillac and the Hudson were running under their own power when they approached the parish house. The license number of an automobile which had carried a tow-rope to a point on the Gravois road, west of the parish house, earlier in the evening, was obtained and on this information city detectives arrested four men in a public garage at 1317 North Ninth street and three others in a gasoline station at Broadway and Wash street. An empty 38-caliber revolver from which the manufacturer's numbers had been filed, was found at the filling station.

Deputy Constable Neu, who was 23 years old, had been on Constable William Knight's staff of speed cops in Carondelet Township since Nov. 1. He lived at 8400 Gravois road and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Neu, and three brothers. A Coroner's inquest will be held tonight.

The murderer was described by Briggs as being about 28 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds, and wearing a tan cap and light colored raincoat.

Lenine's General Condition Satisfactory.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, April 4.—Premier Lenine's general condition was pronounced satisfactory last night. There had been no developments of the catarrhal condition of the left lung, according to the attending physicians, who reported his temperature as 99.5, pulse 104.

TWO MORE STATE MINES ARE SEIZED BY THE FRENCH

Occupation Forces Now Have Taken Over Six State-Owned Workings and Six Private Pits; Berlin Foreign Office Agent Arrested.

FUNERAL IN ESSEN FOR RIOT VICTIMS

Deaths From Shooting by French Soldiers at Krupp Plant Last Saturday Now Is 13; Four Krupp Directors Jailed at Werden.

By the Associated Press.
ESSEN, April 4.—Dr. Zechlin, representative of the Berlin Foreign Office, who has been holding daily conferences for the newspaper men at Duesseldorf, was arrested yesterday by the French authorities.

Two additional mines owned by the state, the Konig Ludwig and the Hermangluk, in the Recklinghausen district, have been seized by the French. This makes six state mines controlled by the French, as well as the same number of private mines.

A protest against the French troops firing on German workmen has been filed with Gen. Degoutte by the Krupp officials and the Essen Chamber of Commerce and other German organizations. The protest asserts that the troops were never endangered and points out that none of the French troops was injured.

Thirteen Victims of Krupp Plant Riot to Have Common Grave.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, April 4.—The death toll from the shooting at the Krupp plant in Essen last Saturday has been increased to 13. All will be buried in a common grave at Essen some time during the coming week-end, according to special dispatches from the Ruhr today. The Krupp works, at which a 24-hour protest strike against the killings has just been completed, will be shut down during the funeral.

German reports say the French medical commission which examined the bodies of the dead and wounded found that five of the dead and 14 of the 43 wounded had been shot in the back. Fourteen others listed as wounded are said to have received their injuries in jumping from roofs or falling while trying to escape. It is also stated in German quarters that the French officer who ordered the detachment at the Krupp works to fire, has been summoned to appear before General Degoutte in Duesseldorf.

The four Krupp directors arrested by the French are reported to have been imprisoned at Werden, pending trial by courtmartial.

BERLIN, April 4.—Gen. Degoutte's ultimatum demanding the payment of the coal tax in the Ruhr has been extended for a fortnight, to April 15.

Germany Receiving Coal From South African Mines.
By the Associated Press.
HAMBURG, April 4.—The first shipments of African coal to Germany are expected to arrive here within a fortnight. This traffic is the outcome of steps taken by the Germano-African shipping lines shortly after the beginning of the Ruhr occupation. Commenting on the oddity of obtaining fuel from the other side of the equator, shipping circles say that the South African coal fields are undoubtedly extensive.

Germans Send Out Trains Without Engineers to Bottle Up Station.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, April 4.—The Germans successively dispatched nine trains without engineers from Friedrichsfeld, in unoccupied Germany, in the direction of Weisel, says a Krefeld telegram to the Journal. The eighth train ran into the seventh on the pontoon bridge with the result that 70 cars were derailed.

The correspondent says that the object of the plan was to bottle up the Weisel station, an important railroad center. Three persons suspected of having a share in the plot have been arraigned.

Just a little steaming of her feet—at which the photographer caught her—and she felt all right again. She took food and drink as she fox-trotted, and she wore out several partners and jazz bands as well as her shoes.

The jury must also decide, the Court said, whether Foster has changed his views and beliefs, as claimed by him, since he wrote a book called "Syndicalism" in 1913. Foster is not to be convicted, he added, "because he may entertain or may have expressed certain beliefs or theories or doctrines. I am merely saying that his beliefs upon, and his sympathy with the plans, purposes and program of the communist party of America at the time he attended the Bridgman convention are material for you to consider as bearing on the question of what was his purpose of attending the meeting.

"The Real Question."

"The real question is, and the question for you to decide is, was the assemblage at Bridgman such an assemblage as is condemned by the criminal syndicalism statute? Did the respondent, Foster, voluntarily assemble with it, knowing the character of the assemblage, for the purpose of aiding, abetting and assisting in the carrying out of the general fundamental purpose of the organization? If it was such an illegal organization or assemblage and the respondent voluntarily assembled with it, as I have defined that term to you, then he should be convicted. Otherwise, you should return a verdict of 'not guilty.'"

Foster's trial, now in the fourth week, is the first case growing out of the Bridgman convention to be heard. Thirty-two of those alleged to have attended the meeting have been arrested or surrendered and the rest of the 76 alleged delegates, for whom warrants were issued last September, are still at large.

A Government secret agent, Francis Morrow, operating under the number of K-97 in the Department of Justice, attended the convention as a delegate, having worked up in the party ranks at Philadelphia.

The convention was opened about Aug. 18 of last year in a well hidden ravine between two lofty dunes, some miles south of St. Joseph, and on the shores of Lake Michigan. On Aug. 22, it was raided by a posse of county officers and Federal agents led by Sheriff George Bridgman and 17 persons, including Morrow, were arrested. Later two barrels were dug up from a nearby ravine and in them officers found a half dozen typewriters, two duplicating machines, portfolios of papers belonging to the 76 delegates, piles of literature and other documents.

Foster was not among those caught in the raid, having left the convention Aug. 20, according to evidence in his trial. He was arrested later in Chicago and extradited.

O. L. Smith, Assistant Attorney-General of Michigan, in charge of the prosecution, announced yesterday that as soon as the Foster verdict is in he will move that the trial of Charles E. Ruthenberg, another of the defendants, be set for next Monday.

Mrs. Minerva Olson, the woman juror, could not refrain from tears when Frank P. Walsh, Foster's attorney, made his closing argument yesterday, describing his feelings when his son went to war in 1917.

O. L. Smith, Assistant Attorney-General of Michigan, directing the prosecution, in his closing argument, recited the war-time poem, "In Flanders Fields."

If convicted, Foster faces a prison sentence of 10 years or a $5000 fine, or both, at the discretion of the Judge.

The court and attorneys agreed to set the trial of Charles E. Ruthenberg for a week from next Monday.

La Follette Adherent Defeated.
By the Associated Press.
MONROE, Wis., April 4.—Judge John M. Becker, ousted as County Judge of Green County in 1918 after serving nearly 20 years, because of his indictment under the espionage act, and reappointed to the position last December by Gov. John J. Blaine to fill a vacancy, was defeated for office by W. A. Loveland yesterday. He was a strong adherent of the La Follette faction in Wisconsin and his earnest support of the senior Senator's war record was claimed by some to have caused his indictment.

MICHIGAN ACTS TO END HOUSE OF DAVID

Attorney-General of State Files Formal Charges Against Benton Harbor Colony.

By the Associated Press.
LANSING, Mich., April 4.—Formal charges that the Israelite House of David colony at Benton Harbor is based upon a "foundation of deceit, immorality and fraud" were filed in the Ingham County, Lansing Circuit Court today by Andrew B. Dougherty, Attorney-General for Michigan.

The charges were filed in support of quo warranto proceedings begun in the court yesterday to compel the leaders of the cult to show cause why the organization should not be disbanded.

Today's charges allege that the colony has set itself up as a "kingdom" with Benjamin Purnell, head of the order, as "king." The allegation also is made that the association, which filed articles of incorporation in 1903 as a religious and ecclesiastical corporation, has usurped its privilege of an organization of this character by fraud.

The Attorney-General alleges the colony "is not and never has been a corporation for religious and ecclesiastical purposes, but on the contrary has for its true object the enrichment of Benjamin Purnell and his elevation to the rank of temporal king and the establishment within the State of a kingdom, whose king and his subjects are, or eventually shall be, free and independent of the civil power of the State."

Cult "Ready For Inquiry."

John J. Sterling of Benton Harbor, attorney for the cult, arrived here last night. He said the House of David was ready for any investigation the State might make.

The charges filed by the State today allege that the colony has usurped its franchise rights by "inducing and permitting and perpetuating frauds and deceit upon its members; by deluding members into conveying property to the corporation in return for fantastic and absurd promises of immortality and religious spiritual benefit; by setting up within the State, by deception and fraud, a temporal kingdom opposed to the Constitution and laws of the State, and whose avowed principles would subvert and destroy the government of the State by inducing and permitting acts of an immoral and unlawful nature, under the guise of religious discipline and spiritual ministration; by inducing and permitting commission of statutory crimes and misdemeanors involving vice and immorality in and about the community commonly known as 'Shiloh.'"

Charges of Adoption of Laws.

The preamble to the charges alleges, among other things, that the colony, under Purnell's direction, has adopted laws of its own, ousting the jurisdiction of the courts of this State.

State officials today said they assumed an order directing the cult leaders to file an answer to the State charges within about 15 days would be issued by Circuit Judge Leland Carr, in whose court the charges were introduced.

ADMIT THEY SPOONED BEFORE THEIR MARRIAGE

Many Wives Frank in Replies to Questions of Social Hygiene Bureau.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 4.—The prevalence of spooning is shown in replies received by the Bureau of Social Hygiene, founded by John D. Rockefeller Jr., to a frank questionnaire circulated in what is termed the first exhaustive scientific investigation that has been made of the sex life of the normal, educated woman.

A report prepared by Dr. Katherine Bement Davis, general secretary of the bureau, on replies received from 1000 married women in various parts of the country, shows that 375 admitted having spooned prior to marriage with other than fiances; 208 spooned with fiances only and 389 never spooned prior to marriage. The question was left unanswered by 28.

Eleven of the 375 failed to specify the extent of their spoonings; 27 wrote "not far;" 50 "kissing only;" 104 "hugging and kissing;" 45 "hugging, kissing and fondling" and 144 admitted more unrestrained spooning.

872 of the 1000 Happy.

Of the 1000 married women, 872 proclaimed themselves happy. Of the happy group, 41 per cent did not spoon, 37 per cent did and 22 per cent spooned only with their fiances. Of the middle group, 38 per cent admitted the extreme.

Included in the 1000 married women with which Dr. Davis' report deals, 691 were college graduates, 47 college undergraduates, 41 high and normal school graduates, and 12 private school graduates.

Of the 691 college graduates, 74 per cent admitted practicing birth control. Health and economic grounds were the reasons chiefly given.

A committee of 11 women well known for their work in the field of psychology co-operated with Dr. Davis. Care was taken to prevent the identity of those answering the eight-page questionnaire from becoming known.

Sex Scientifically Unexplored.

"In no part of the field of education is there greater difference of opinion than that which deals with sex," said Dr. Davis. "This is largely because, except on the pathological side, sex is scientifically an unexplored country."

It was explained that heretofore, such studies have been made only among women prisoners or pathological cases.

The preliminary letter seeking co-operation was sent to 5000 women in various parts of the country. Questionnaires eventually were received from only 436. The balance of the 1000 were obtained after letters had been sent 5000 alumnae of Vassar, Smith, Wellesley and other women's colleges.

Another set of questions was addressed to unmarried women. These answers are being compiled.

Few Deductions in Report.

Dr. Davis makes few deductions in her report on married women. "We much emphasize," she says, "the fact that it is not safe to draw general deductions from this study. The numbers considered are too small and the group is selective. The study does, however, raise important questions and points out the necessity for further study in many directions."

Dr. Davis said that it would take several months to tabulate the answers received to the questionnaire sent to unmarried women.

"We have received more than 1000 answers, comprising more than 12,000 pages of manuscript, to the questionnaire sent to unmarried women," she declared. "I do not believe the tabulation of those answers will be completed before summer."

Tailor Who Lost Lamp Suit Breaks With Lawyer

Objects to Paying His Attorney $27.50 to Appeal From Justice Court, for Four Lights Have Already Cost $138.

A. Katz has broken with his attorney. The rupture, Katz explains, is due to his legal adviser's insistence for a golden flow with which to appeal the decision returned by a jury in Justice of the Peace Murmann's court on March 17, when it was determined that Katz, a tailor of 923 Franklin avenue, must pay $56 to the Municipal Electric Lamp Co. for four lights which Katz said were sold to him in a manner most subtle.

The wiles of the salesman for the lamp company on the memorable eleventh of last October were so suave that the unsuspecting tailor didn't know he had purchased them, he says, but thought the $2 he had given were for a 30-day trial, and the contract which he had signed was nothing but a receipt, so Katz wouldn't be out the $2 in the event of the salesman's death.

Katz learned differently on the advent of a collector for the lamp company a few days later. And he was haled into court, on refusing to pay, and straightway obtained the services of a barrister. Relations between client and solicitor were good—until about a week ago.

Lamps Cost Him $138.

"Those lamps," said Katz yesterday, glancing menacingly at the four white glass shades hanging about his shop," cost me just $138. Think of that! Maybe you wouldn't believe it. But it's true. And if this attorney of mine, Julius L. Block, hadn't been so sure he could win the case, I could have gotten off—— But what's the use?

"First I gave $2 to the lamp company fellow for a 30 days' trial of those pesky lamps. Then, when they brought me into court to pay $56 more, I got an attorney. I got a lawyer because I thought I was in trouble. I was wrong. That's where my trouble started.

"'Give me $25,' he said, 'and I'll win the case for you.' So I did. He said he didn't want any more. We went to court a couple of times and got the case continued. 'It won't hurt,' he told me. 'Maybe it will cost us a dollar and a half.' Well, I wouldn't be stingy for a dollar and a half.

"Finally the case was tried. And you know what happened. I didn't want to pay the $56, so my lawyer said he would appeal. In about a week some fellow came to me and asked for $15. 'I'm a bondsman,' he said, 'and I've signed your bond. Block told me to. Give me $15.' Everybody was getting it, so why shouldn't he, I thought, and I gave the money to him.

Block Asks More Money.

"The same day Block came to see me. 'It will cost you just $27.50 more for me to go on with the case,' he told me. He said it cost a lot to appeal. I asked him about the dollar and a half he once told me about. But he wanted the $27.50. That's when I thought I had been giving money away long enough. And Block and I quit right there.

"Last week a Deputy Constable walked in. He told me I owed him $96. Fifty-six dollars for the lamps and $40 for court costs. I guess the $40 was the dollar and a half Block talked about. I asked the Constable about the appeal bond. 'The appeal was never completed,' he told me. I was tired. I was sick of it all. So I gave him $96. Listen. First. $2 for deposit, then $25 for a lawyer, $56 for lamps, $40 for costs, $15 for a bondsman, whom I never used. I tried to stop his check. He'd already cashed it.

"And all for those lights," said Katz, inspecting each critically and becoming philosophical. "I ought to put them in a safe deposit box. I should keep them the rest of my life. I don't need to have any fear. If the place ever were robbed they'd take everything else and leave those lights."

And Katz bit his lips and mumbled something at jaw's length behind his front teeth. He glared menacingly at the lamps. But their only answer was a hard glitter, an eye-menacing effulgence, mute in sound but articulate in manner. Like a sardonic wife, who not wishing violence holds her tongue, but whose every glance says, "You never really wanted me, but I got you. I've cost you a lot of money. Well, I'm satisfied. And you have got to be."

YOUTH INDICTED FOR MURDER OF HIS FATHER-IN-LAW

An indictment charging Elmer Raymond Garrison, 20 years old, of Whitehall, Ill., with murder was returned this afternoon by the Jersey County Grand Jury, in connection with the death of Richard Jefferson Bell, 53 yeares old, a farmer residing near Delhi, who was shot and killed March 28. Garrison married Bell's stepdaughter, Dorothy Bagley, last October.

The night of the shooting he had been ordered out of the Bell home, a few minutes before Bell was shot. A coroner's verdict named Garrison as having inflicted the fatal wounds, and he has been held without bond at the Jerseyville jail. An indictment also was returned today charging Garrison with falsely swearing that he was 21 when he got his marriage license.

INNES MUST GO BACK TO PRISON FOR 5 YEARS

Federal Jury Only 6 Minutes in Finding Him Guilty of Mail Fraud in Nelms Case.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., April 4.—Victor E. Innes of Texas and Nevada and late of the Georgia Penitentiary, must go back to prison. At the conclusion of the third court chapter of the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Eloise Nelms Dennis and Beatrice Nelms, in San Antonio, Tex., about 10 years ago, Innes was sentenced to serve five years in the Federal prison and pay a fine of $1000 in the United States District Court here yesterday.

A jury deliberated six minutes on evidence which had been presented during the last seven days while Innes was on trial on the charge of using the mails to defraud.

Second Sentence For Defendant.

The sentence was the second passed against the defendant as a direct result of the disappearance of Mrs. Dennis and Miss Nelms. He was convicted here in 1916 and sentenced to serve seven years on a larceny charge. Prior to that Innes had been released in a Texas court on a charge of murdering the two women through a legal technicality in the Texas law involving the "corpus delicti" phase.

The Federal indictment charged Innes with having used the mails to defraud Mrs. Dennis out of a small fortune. The Government also contended that after obtaining Mrs. Dennis' money Innes invited the women to his home in San Antonio, where they were last seen alive. The theory of the prosecution was that Innes put them to death to hide the crime for which he was convicted yesterday.

Judge Samuel Sibley, in passing sentence, declared the case to be an "aggravated one." He assailed Innes as a "victimizer of a woman." The court further declared he would not consider the evidence that Innes had made away with the women, saying he personally did not believe the Government builded up a circumstantial case of that nature.

Plea Made by Innes.

Innes declared to the court that he had been in prison for seven years and that he did not have a chance to gather evidence to clear himself of this charge.

A meat grinder, a large tub and quantities of lye and acids were presented as evidence by the Government to bear out its theory that the women had been slain.

Innes, on the stand, made a general denial of all charges.

Stabbed by Neuritis!

Many people suffer attacks by this arch-fiend, commonly called nerve inflammation. The first warning is usually a sharp stabbing pain, which may "come and go" or hurt constantly. You may feel it in the shoulder, neck, forearm, small of the back, down the thigh and leg to the heel. It is sometimes mistaken for sciatica, rheumatism or neuralgia, which often end in neuritis.

No matter where you have nerve pains or what caused them, you can get quick relief without narcotics or poison. Apply Tyzmol over the part that hurts and the pain will be gone.

Tyzmol is absorbed through the pores of the skin. It has a soothing, healing effect upon the diseased nerves, gradually helping to restore them to healthy condition.

AIRPLANE MAKER SEEKS $51,510,000 DAMAGES

James V. Martin Alleges Conspiracy to Injure Business—Names Corporations and Individuals.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Alleging conspiracy to destroy his business, James V. Martin of the Martin airplane factory, Long Island, filed suit under the Clayton act today to recover $51,510,000 from the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association, Inc., 25 other corporations and 28 individuals.

One of the corporations named as defendants was that of the "St. Louis Aircraft Corporation."

The plaintiff declared his business had been damaged to the extent of $17,000,000 and under the Clayton law he claimed triple damages plus an attorney's fee of $510,000. He charged that the defendant corporations and individuals had conspired to monopolize the aircraft trade, and told the court that whereas he had worked as a contemporary of the Wright Brothers and Glenn H. Curtiss and had invented indispensable parts of present day airplanes, none of the defendants had invented any airplane or airplane device.

In furtherance of the alleged conspiracy, he charged the defendants had slandered him, burned his planes, lied about his accomplishments, destroyed Government reports commending his devices and even made plans against his life. The result, he declared, was to bring about a failure of his business in England, Canada and France.

Among the individual defendants named were Benedict Crowell, former Assistant Secretary of War; Howard E. Coffin, Major-General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service; Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, director of naval aviation; Horace M. Hickman, chief of the information group of the army air service; Frank H. Russell, vice president of the Curtiss company; Commanders Hunsacker and Krauss, U. S. N.

The corporations named included the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, organized at Washington; Burgess company of Massachusettes; Boeing Airplane Co. of Seattle; Curtiss Airplane and Motor Co. of New York; Dayton Airplane Co.; Elias Bros., Inc., Buffalo; Engel Air Craft Co. of Ohio; Fisher Body Corporation, Detroit; Gallaudet Aircraft Corporation, New York; Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Akron; L. W. F. Engineering Co., Ltd., New York; Packard Motor Car Co., Detroit; St. Louis Aircraft Corporation, Sturtevant Airplane Co. of Massachusetts; Thomas Morse Aircraft Corporation, New York; J. G. White & Co., Connecticut; Wright Aeronautical Corporation, New York; Loening Aeronautical Engineering Corporation, New York; Cox-Klemin Aircraft Corporation, New York; Huff-Deland Aero Co., New York; Stout Engineering Laboratories, Detroit; Gardner-Moffat Co., Inc., New York, and Standard Aero Corporation of New Jersey.

$36,000 THEFT CHARGED TO FUGITIVE CAUGHT HERE

Wife of Man Who Had Auto Rental Agency Here Also Indicted.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., April 4.—Seven indictments charging theft of $36,766 were returned against George J. J. Mackay, 49 years old, former head of the Middle States Sales Co. by the county grand jury late yesterday. A separate indictment indictment against his wife, Mrs. Elsie Mackay, charges her with the embezzlement of $4400.

Mackay, who was arrested in St. Louis a month ago after a six months' nation-wide search, is in jail here in default of $40,000 bond. A warrant will be issued for Mrs. Mackay, it was stated. She is said to be in St. Louis.

Mackay is charged in one indictment with embezzling more than $31,000 from the Middle States Discount Co., and A. J. Harvey, its president. Another indictment charges him with defrauding the discount company of $5000 by a false check. As head of the Middle States Sales Co., which sold stock of the discount company, Mackay is alleged to have converted to his own use sums which may total $100,000.

Mackay was arrested here March 9 last, six weeks after he had come to St. Louis and established an automobile rental agency at 2918 Olive street. He resided with his wife and daughter, at the Gatesworth Hotel, under the name of George D. Kennedy. Mackay declared the charges against him to be the result of a business misunderstanding.

MOTORMAN HELD FOR DEATH

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned today against John U. Ray, 5124A Bodiamont Avenue, a motorman in the death of Miss Helen Boegemann, 24 years old, a telegraph operator, 7884 Wisconsin avenue from injuries suffered at 4:30 p. m. Saturday when an automobile in which she was riding with Harry E. Leonard, 2524 Glasgow avenue, was struck by a Kirkwood-Ferguson car at the Clayton road crossing. She died Sunday at Barnes Hospital.

Louis Applebaum, conductor of the car, testified Leonard seemed to be trying to beat the car to the crossing. The jury's finding was based upon testimony that the car ran 140 feet after striking the automobile. Ray's bond was fixed at $5000.

MAN SHOT WHEN HE FLEES FROM BANDITS

Street Car Conductor Seriously Wounded by Negro Highwayman's Bullet.

William H. Masterson, 44 years old, of 4537 Forest Park boulevard, a conductor on the Page avenue line, was shot in the back, below the shoulder, at 12:30 a. m. today, when he attempted to escape from negro highwaymen by running from them when in front of 4200 West Belle place. He was taken to St. John's Hospital, where doctors said his condition was serious.

Masterson told the police he was walking west in West Belle place, when a Ford coupe drove up to the sidewalk and one of two negroes stepped out. The negro had a revolver, he said, and ordered him to hold up his hands. Instead, he said, he ran, and the negro fired two shots at him, one hitting him in the back. After the shooting the negro climbed back into the automobile and disappeared.

Three negroes were arrested this afternoon on suspicion of being implicated in the shooting. One of them was taken to St. John's Hospital, where Masterson positively identified him as one of the highwaymen. This negro denied the charge.

Clarence E. Bitter, 4055A Lafayette avenue, was in front of 3300 Utah street at 11:40 p. m. yesterday on his way home, when he was held up by three armed men, who stepped from an automobile and robbed him of $11 and his watch.

Two men with revolvers entered the Standard Oil filling station, at 5162 Delmar boulevard, at 9:30 p. m. yesterday, and held up the clerk, James Ralls, compelling him to go into a rear room while they robbed the cash register and safe of $45 and escaped.

GRACE METHODIST CHURCH ADOPTS FREE PEW SYSTEM

Voluntary Gifts, Instead of Seat Rentals, to Furnish Support Hereafter.

Grace Methodist Church, Waterman avenue and Skinker road, has been added to the list of St. Louis churches which have abandoned the pew-renting system and fixed assignment of seats.

The tendency in recent years to do away with the formal renting of pews in churches, though families have usually continued to occupy their accustomed seats, A system of voluntary gifts, through weekly envelopes or quarterly payments, is considered more democratic. However, the churches which retain the pew-renting system do not neglect hospitality to strangers, as there are desirable free seats, and some members usually ask the ushers to show visitors into unoccupied seats in their pews.

TWO AUTO DEATHS ACCIDENTAL

Coroner So Finds in Cases of A. Kleinschmidt and E. Desnoyer.

Coroner's verdicts of accidental death were returned today in the cases of the deaths of August Kleinschmidt 56, of 5112A North Broadway, and Edward Desnoyer, 70 of 6454 Virginia avenue. Both deaths were caused by injuries suffered in automobile accidents.

Witnesses testified Kleinschmidt was riding Saturday night in a Ford truck driven by his nephew Howard A. Marsh, when it collided with an automobile driven by Sidney Mohlman, of 4547 Harris avenue, at the intersection of the North Drive of Fairgrounds Park and Prairie avenue. Desnoyer was crossing South Broadway about 75 feet north of Robert avenue about 11 o'clock Sunday night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Sandor Schnemann 31 years old, of 4625 Dahlia avenue. Three women who saw the accident testified Schnemann applied his brakes and skidded the car in an effort to avoid striking Desnoyer.

400 PLUMBERS' WORKERS QUIT

About 400 plumbers' laborers and drain layers went on strike Monday after being refused an increase of 12½ cents an hour, from 87½ cents to $1. The strike in no way affects journeymen or their helpers.

George Guelbert, president of the local union, said the increase demanded was necessary to meet increased cost of living. The union, which has no contract, deals in matters of wages with the Association of Master Plumbers, but no discussions are yet being held in connection with this strike.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out of date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known down-town druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

FUNERAL TONIGHT FOR TWO SISTERS KILLED IN FIRE

Bodies of Mrs. Lucy Lindsay, 95, and Miss Elizabeth Nicholson, 91, to Be Sent to Former Homes for Burial.

Funeral services will be held at 7 o'clock tonight from an undertaking establishment at 4449 Olive street for Mrs. Lucy Lindsay, 95 years old, and Miss Elizabeth Nicholson, 91, sisters, who perished in a fire which destroyed their home at 2401 Bell avenue yesterday.

Miss Nicholson and Mrs. Lindsay had been in bed on account of illness developing from senility. Miss Nicholson was blind, operations having failed to restore her vision.

Two other sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Maret, 81, a widow, and Miss Isabelle Nicholson, 70, suffered chiefly from smoke and shock, and were not severely injured. They were attended by physicians at a neighbor's home yesterday.

The bodies will be returned to the former homes for burial, Miss Nicholson's to the old Nicholson home at Boonville, Mo., and Mrs. Lindsay's to Lathrop, Mo., where she lived after her marriage.

Noted for Giving to the Poor.

Friends of the four sisters who called at the neighbor's yesterday to sympathize told stories of how they had all during their long lives been unusually charitable, although their activities were limited to personal giving rather than membership in charitable institutions. Miss Isabelle Nicholson contributed to the Russell Home for Girls, at 1221 Garrison avenue, and is a member of its board of directors.

"But aside from that," said Mrs. Hannah O'Bannon, 5627 Vernon avenue, who has known the "Nicholson girls," as she calls them, about all her life, "they gave in a quiet, unostentatious way, doing much good everywhere. They never turned down anybody who asked for aid and was deserving. Their door was always open to the needy. They helped humanity, never, you might say, letting their right hand know what the left was doing."

Mrs. O'Bannon was chatting with a neighbor, Mrs. Henrietta Jenkins, who also has known the Nicholson family since Civil War days—"the war between the States, if you please," interpolated Mrs. O'Bannon at her home last evening when a reporter called. The "living room" was reminiscent of the war between the States' days, the Stars and Bars floating at either end of the mantel-piece, and photographs of persons in dress of a bygone mode telling of a life in memories.

Remembers Them as Girls.

"Miss Lizzie was a belle of Boonville," sighed Mrs. Jenkins. "Miss Lucy was a mighty pretty girl, too."

"Yes. You remember, she was banished by the North when the war broke out, for helping our boys," a flash of pride in the Southern voice that must have been a symbol of the pride of the four sisters, Southerners, all, their friends avowed.

"She was married to a Southern lad," Mrs. O'Bannon continued. "Captain Lindsay * * * that was in Little Rock, I think. They were all staunch Confederates, the Nicholsons, and owned their slaves on the old farm near Boonville.

"The boys—there were six girls and four boys—weren't in the war (always meaning the Civil War). They went West, and were 'way out on the frontier then. I guess you could call them '49ers. They went out in the gold rush, first one, then another. None of them, as I recall, ever married.

Not Marrying Family.

"They weren't a marrying family. Only two of the daughters married, I believe."

"Miss Lizzie could have many's the time," said Mrs. Jenkins. "She was a handsome woman."

After the Civil War, two of the girls being married and four of the boys out on the frontier, the others "sort of broke up," and three came to St. Louis. Louise, another sister, died a few years ago, when 76 years old. Mrs. Maret then moved to the home with the other two, and about two years ago Mrs. Lindsay joined them. They owned the home there, which still stands, but which no longer is home to the two sisters remaining. The antiques were destroyed, too. They have made no plans for the future as yet.

Mrs. Lindsay is survived by a daughter in Oklahoma City.

DR. COOK ON BOND IN FRAUD CASE

Former Explorer Among 22 Oil Men Indicted.

By the Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 4.—With the surrender of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, former Arctic explorer and oil promoter, to Federal authorities yesterday afternoon, and two others, a total of 22 oil men have either been taken into custody or surrendered and been arraigned before a United States Commissioner on charges of fraudulent uses of the mail. Cook said that he was in Smackover and hurried to Fort Worth to make bond. He was released under bond of $25,000. He is president and sole trustee of the Petroleum Producers' Association. With Dr. Cook came A. R. Ekman, who was released under $5000. Six arrests remain to be made, which will bring the total to 28, the total number of the indictments returned by the grand jury.

ason Why Your air Turns Gray

There are three chemical elements, which, in certain proportions, are furnished by the body through the hair roots or root sap which determines the color of your hair. All these three chemicals, Iron, Sulphur and Magnesia, are in everyone's hair, whatever color your hair may be. If brunette, Iron predominates; if blond, Magnesia, and if brown, Sulphur. Black-haired people usually turn gray before blonds or brown-haired ones because Iron is the element the body first fails to furnish.

An American chemist found that if these chemicals could be restored to the hair in right proportions it would restore it to its former color, in a natural way. After many years of patient experimentation he at last perfected a compound containing these chemicals, together with other ingredients in correct proportions, and thousands of practical tests have been made which prove that it does restore the original color by feeding and nourishing the hair with these chemicals. He aptly named it NOURISHINE. He also found that it instantly removed dandruff, and prevented the hair from falling. All drug and department stores, including Liggett's Drug Co., Judge & Dolph, Wilson Drug Co., sell Nourishine for $1.25 per bottle. Try it and be convinced that you no longer have to use artificial dyes.

JOSEPH PESCH ENDS LIFE BY SHOOTING

He Was Known as Handbook Maker and Was Mentioned in Baseball Scandal.

Joseph Pesch, 50 years old, proprietor with two brothers of a billiard hall at 208½ North Eighth street, ended his life by shooting himself in the head yesterday afternoon in the Branscome Apartments, 5370 Pershing avenue, in which he resided with his wife. He had been suffering from a nervous disorder.

Pesch was known as a handbook maker and was mentioned in connection with the bribing of members of the Chicago American League baseball team to "throw" the world series of 1919. He was asked to testify as to his knowledge of bets made on that series, but was out of jurisdiction of the Illinois court and did not respond.

He appeared yesterday about 2 p. m. at the home of his brother, William, at 5567 Pershing avenue, but departed after a few minutes, giving the impression that he was going to play golf. It had been the custom of Pesch and his wife to take dinner each evening with Mr. and Mrs. William Pesch in their home. His wife appeared there as usual last evening, but Pesch did not arrive at the usual hour.

Mrs. Pesch then went to their apartment in the Branscome. As she opened the door, she saw the body of her husband on the floor. He had shot himself in the right side of the head, apparently when standing before the mirror of a dressing table.

William and Fred Pesch, brothers, agreed today that the critical illness of a servant who had been in the family for 40 years had had an apparent depressing effect upon Joseph. The latter returned about two weeks ago from a pleasure trip of several months in South America.

The funeral will be held Friday at 9:30 a. m. from an undertaking establishment at 3846 Lindell boulevard.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

COL. ASHBURN ISOLATES SELF IN EAST ST. LOUIS

Seizer of Goltra Fleet to Remain There Until Legal Battle in St. Louis Terminates.

Col. T. Q. Ashburn, whose swooping capture of the Goltra fleet and retreat with it down the Mississippi River would have gained the praise of his West Point instructor in tactics has been chafing in involuntary isolation in an E. St. Louis hotel since last Thursday, while the Federal Court in St. Louis is seeking to determine whether, under the civil code, it can bestow the same measure of approbation.

So long as the Colonel keeps without the jurisdiction of the court, the fruits of victory are unsoured, but he knows well that should he cross the river, Deputy United States Marshals stand ready to turn them to Dead Sea bitterness. Ergo, the Colonel prefers his solitude even if the only metropolitan reminiscence is the occasional rattle of a street car.

He rather dolefully said over the telephone today that he likely would prolong his exile through Saturday at least, that being the date set for the verbal tussle over his deeds. Meanwhile, the spoils of victory, the fleet, is safely moored at Cairo, also beyond the court's jurisdiction and from time to time, the Colonel takes solace from adage that "possession is nine points of the law."

Saturday's court discussion will center about a motion in Col. Ashburn's behalf asking that the court order temporarily restraining the fleet seizure be dismissed on the ground of failure to obtain service of the writ upon the Colonel.

As is recalled, two Deputy Marshals sought to obtain service. They first chased the Colonel down the river, but when one caught him, the Colonel had tied up at the Illinois bank and asserted that he was outside the Court's jurisdiction. The second deputy intercepted the Colonel above Cape Girardeau when the towboat carrying him was nearer the Missouri than the Illinois bank. The Marshal placed the writ in the pilot house near where the Colonel was standing and departed in the belief that this constituted service.

$2500 BOND FOR GIRL IN CONCEALED WEAPON CASE

Wife of Egan Gangster Had Revolver Under Her Cape When Arrested, Detectives Say.

In line with the policy suggested by the grand jury, Judge Anthony Hochdoerfer, in the Court of Criminal Correction, today set the bond of Mrs. Mary Runge, 16 years old, of 720 North Fourth street, at $2500. John J. Hurly signed her bond.

Mrs. Runge, wife of Elmer Runge, Egan gangster, was arrested March 29, when with her husband and Isadore Londe, by detectives, who said she had a revolver concealed under her cape. Londe, charged with the same offense, has been released under $2500 bond.

Progress of Civilization Marked by Mode of Living

To be satisfied with the bare necessities of life is to turn back the pages of civilization. Nowadays things must not only be useful, they must be artistic as well.

This is the idea that has dictated the policy of the Prufrock-Litton Furniture Company, Fourth and St. Charles, where artistic furniture costs no more than the commonplace.

Today and tomorrow two-piece living-room suites are very special at $99.

Brig.-Gen. Lord, Director of Federal Bureau, Who Is Here Today, Says It Would Curtail Expenses.

Work of the New Governmental Department and Its Accomplishments Explained in Detail.

The present budget system of the Federal Government "can and should" be adopted by state and municipal governments as a means of curtailing expenditures and eliminating overlapping departmental activities, Brigadier-General Herbert Mayo Lord, director of the Bureau of the Budget of the Federal Government, said here today.

Gen. and Mrs. Lord arrived this morning from Anderson, Ind. He is on a 12-day trip through the Middle West, speaking before various organizations on the work of the Bureau of the Budget. Gen. and Mrs. Lord will depart for Chicago tonight.

The work of the Bureau of the Budget and its accomplishments were outlined in detail by Gen. Lord at noon in a talk at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. He spoke later at the Federal Building to members of the Federal Business Association, composed of Federal employes in St. Louis, dealing more intimately with financial problems of the Government and urging the necessity of cooperation on the part of all Federal employes.

Long Federal Service.

Gen. Lord, who retired from the United States army June 30 last, to succeed Charles H. Dawes, former director of the Bureau of the Budget, has been connected with Government finances since 1898. He entered the army at the beginning of the Spanish-American War as Major and Paymaster. During the World War he was in charge of army finances at Washington, with the title of Army Liberty Loan Officer. He was awarded the D. S. M. "for exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous service" as assistant to the Quartermaster-General and as Director of Finance of the Army.

"The Bureau of Budget does not look to, and should not, take from Congress the final authority in the matter of governmental appropriations," Gen. Lord said. "Under the British budget system, if Parliament does not accept the budget recommendations without change, it means the fall of the administration in power.

"Our system is very different, however, as it should be. Congress is vested with the authority to make all appropriations, the members were elected with that function in mind, and they should be permitted to exercise it.

Estimates Cut But Little.

"The Congress has given careful consideration to the recommendations of the Bureau of the Budget, however. The last recommendation of the bureau was cut by Congress less than one-fifth of one per cent.

"One of the matters in which Congress failed to closely adhere to the bureau's recommendations was in rivers and harbors appropriations. The bureau recommended about $27,000,000. Congress added about $20,000,000 to that recommendation, largely through the efforts of Congressman Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis. Congressman Newton is a very able man and has been very conscientious in his work in Congress."

Gen. Lord explained that one of the functions of the Bureau of the Budget is to prevent overlapping of the work of the 43 governmental departments, bureaus and commissions. By executive order, each department, when it contemplates new activities, is required to submit an outline of its plans to the Bureau of the Budget, so that the bureau may ascertain if any other department is already doing that work, he said.

Business Rules Applied.

"The national budget is simply the ordinary, everyday common sense of successful big business applied to the routine business of the United States, which is the biggest business in the world," Gen. Lord said in his talk before the Chamber of Commerce.

"At the beginning of this fiscal year the Government was faced with a rather extraordinary problem in that the program of expenditure as prepared by the various departments called for $823,000,000 more than the expected receipts. In line with good business policies the President announced that there must be drastic revision downward of proposed expenditures and an increase in every legitimate way possible of income from established sources of income.

ECOMMENDS U. S. BUDGET PLAN FOR CITIES AND STATES

PEAKS BEFORE COMMERCE CHAMBER

Work of the New Governmental Department and Its Accomplishments Explained in Detail.

The present budget system of the Federal Government "can and should" be adopted by state and municipal governments as a means of curtailing expenditures and eliminating overlapping departmental activities, Brigadier-General Herbert May- Lord, director of the Bureau of the Budget of the Federal Government, said here today.

Gen. Mulcahy, Defense Minister and Chief of Staff of Free State Army, Is Termed the Real Link Between the Sundered Parties—Has Strong Republicanism.

The Post-Dispatch herewith presents the fifth of a series of pictures of "Ireland as It Is" today. Kelly has had years of intimate knowledge of Ireland and writes with peculiar authority, drawing a vivid, detailed and entirely unbiased picture of the Irish state and of those who are directing its destinies. A sixth article will appear soon.

By P. J. KELLY,
Dublin Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

(Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

Article V.

The personal element enters more largely into the causes and developments of the Irish trouble than is generally appreciated even in Ireland itself. The withdrawal of personal factors from the present warfare would mean an early peace. The whole country is crying out for settlement; the rank and file of both parties to the dispute are war weary. But personalities stand between.

Had Michael Collins survived he might have saved the situation some of its worse elements. On that account his death must be written down as the greatest tragedy of the time. But if Collins had succeeded in making peace it would have been at the cost of a break with Arthur Griffith. Collins and Griffith were temperamentally and fundamentally opposed.

Griffith Was Iron-Willed.

When the political pact was made previous to the elections of a year ago and it was agreed that there should be a Coalition Government of treaty and anti-treaty parties, it was made against Griffith's opinion, and in submission to the wishes of Collins and Gen. Mulcahy, then Defense Minister.

Collins had human and adaptable qualities, but Griffith was iron-willed and politically immobile. The clash between him and De Valera over the treaty had soured his soul. It had dug a gulf between him and his former leader that never could be filled because he held the firm conviction that De Valera's attitude of hostility was dictated by personal motives more than by political conscience. As between the two men history must give the verdict.

The deaths of Collins and Griffith robbed Ireland of two great essentials to the making of current history. They left less powerful, but not less important personalities behind—important in the sense of their representative capacity.

The Case of Mulcahy.

Of the "diehards," Gen Mulcahy, Defense Minister, and Commander-in-Chief of the Free State Army, is the most powerful on the Government side—Mulcahy, however, is the real link between the sundered parties. None of his ministerial colleagues has had the same steepings in republicanism that have been his. It is probably correct to say his republicanism is as strong as that of any of his opponents; stronger perhaps than that of many.

But the fate of Griffith and of Collins, his intimate friend as well as colleague, has embittered the outlook of Mulcahy. He feels a responsibility for their deaths in the fact he assisted in the making of the situation which brought them to the grave, and assisted because he had faith in the leaders of the other side and, above all else, the spirit of old and tried comradeship.

He feels the bitterness of disappointment and of loss. How much he trusted, even when compelled to make war against the militants in the Four Courts last June, is shown by the fact that when the Dublin fighting had developed along lines of civil war, he, unauthorized, conferred with De Valera to find a peaceful solution of the situation. De Valera then disowned any responsibility for what had happened, disagreed with the tactics that had precipitated the clash, but declared it was his duty as a soldier of the republic to take his stand behind the leaders of the army that stood for the republic.

Since then De Valera has been elected head of the republic at the request of the army in which he served and has established a council of state and all the paraphernalia of government in opposition to that established under the treaty. And Mulcahy has become "a traitor," for whom no opprobrious epithet is too bad and whose life is forfeit to the first republican gun that gets within range of him.

Suppression or Surrender.

The Republicans have made him drink the cup of bitterness, and a disposition, mild almost to dreaminess, has been hardened to steel. Mulcahy, repulsed and repudiated, his manhood in revolt against the ignominy which those he meant truly to serve have sought to cast upon him, embittered by the fate of Griffith and Collins, no longer believing in professions of political faith and personal aspects of old colleagues, has set his lips hard against any utterance of compromise with or concession to the men who have taken up arms against him. Stern and unyielding he stands for suppression or surrender. And in that he governs the Government.

On the other side, with the exception of De Valera there is no outstanding personality in the limelight. But there are powerful influences. Ever since De Valera split the ranks on the question of the difference between external and internal association with the British Empire, his influence has waned. It probably was never less than today, when, after nearly a year of bloodshed and destruction, he has revived his compromise proposal as his contribution to peace.

He confesses that some Republicans will not be satisfied with it, but recommends it on the ground that his proposals will not be resisted in arms. Whether this is a recrudescence of the personal vanity with which he has been charged in the past, or a confirmed judgment of political values, is beside the point. The armed Republicans had already declared they would not fight for the difference between De Valera's proposals and those of the treaty, and certainly would not fight their own countrymen on such an issue. And again within the last few days there have been murmurings along the same lines against the revival of the alternatives. De Valera's political influence must inevitably suffer in the result.

Stack and Lynch.

With the death of men like Cathal Brugha and Rory O'Connor and the imprisonment of others, the principal men left on the Republican side are Austin Stack and Liam Lynch, now head of the Republican forces. Stack is the strongest force, in the sense he is a man of determined will, with Kerry obstinacy, hard and rugged as his native hills in character, but a man of wide outlook and with a patriotism that his bitterest enemy never doubted.

Men have changed much in the past year in Ireland, but it is doubtful if Stack's character has undergone such change as to make him an admirer of the conditions into which the country has been plunged. Stack hates bloodshed except in a cause whose justice is above all suspicion of reproach. Those who know him best hold he is the great sane and restraining influence on his side and that the methods of the Republican campaign might have had bloodier aspects but for his counsel. But he will be the last to compromise on the republic.

Liam Lynch, the chief of staff, is a "diehard" of a different type. He has none of the gentler arts of the politically trained. Courageous and resourceful, he feels a greater personal responsibility than most of his colleagues and he uses every means at his disposal to fulfill his responsibilities.

His business is war rather than politics. His purpose is to notch up successes against his opponents anyhow and anywhere. Wherever a blow can be struck at the Government either directly or through its supporters, he is ready to strike it. There is no end to his mission except victory or extermination, and that gospel he will hold to the last. Come what may he knows he will have followers even if in lessening numbers.

Women Important Factors.

On the Republican side, and with the militants more than with politicals like De Valera, there are capable and strong-minded women. Of these, Mary MacSwiney is the principal. She combines the political instinct with the militant mind in remarkable measure. After arrest the other day the Free State military authorities released her with the contemptuous explanation that she was of no military importance. That may be an official tilt at Miss MacSwiney's self-esteem, but it falls short of the fact, for she, with other women, exercise a large influence over the fighting ranks. She has been the first to turn down De Valera for his revival of the external association proposals, and her lead will have considerable following, not only on the women's, but on the men's side.

Women, in fact, have exercised a fatal influence on Irish history ever since the elopement of the Prince of Breffni's bride with MacMurrough, King of Leinster, brought about the Anglo-Norman invasion seven and a half centuries ago and a King of England for the first time assumed the title of King of Ireland. They have compelled almost every division in the native ranks through Parnell's time to our own day. Perhaps if Irishmen were not too busy making history to find time to read it, out of the lessons of the past they might find wisdom for today.

M'CAWLEY BONE DRY BILL SIGNED BY HYDE

Law Prohibits Soft Drink Stands From Having Any Obstruction to View From Outside.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4.—Gov. Hyde has signed the McCawley bone dry bill which adds even more stringent State regulations than those previously in force in Missouri to the code of prohibition enforcement. The law will become effective June 24. This bill prohibits soft drink stands, which includes all places selling soft drinks, except drug stores, restaurants and department stores, where the drink stand is merely an adjunct, from erecting any blinds, screens or other obstacles to prevent a plain view of the interior from without.

This means that saloons throughout the State will have to take down the curtains which have remained in places since pre-prohibition days.

The law authorizes the confiscation and sale of automobiles or other conveyances in which intoxicants in quantities exceeding one pint are transported in violation of law, funds so obtained to go to the school fund, enables courts to declare the equities of owners in property declared a nuisance under the prohibition law forfeited to the State, order the property sold and the excess above costs of the proceedings turned into the school fund; orders Sheriffs' Deputy Sheriffs, Constables, Marshals, Chiefs of Police, policemen and all other police officers to enforce the act and orders their prosecution for failure, neglect or refusal to do so. Conviction under this section would be punishable by imprisonment up to a year in jail or fine of $500 to $1000 or both such fine and imprisonment. The law makes the carrying of any weapon in an automobile transporting liquor in violation of the law a felony.

Backed by Anti-Saloon League.

The law takes away the right of persons to refuse to testify in open court or before grand jury as to violations of the prohibition law on the ground that such testimony might tend to incriminate them, but forbids their prosecution except for perjury upon the basis of such testimony.

This bill, introduced by Senators McCawley of Jasper and Brunk of Lawrence County, was fathered by the Anti-Saloon League, its preparation in collaboration with McCawley having been the last official act of importance of the Rev. W. C. Shupp before his resignation as superintendent in Missouri for the league.

Bulger Bill Vetoed.

The Governor yesterday vetoed the Bulger bill, introduced into the Legislature by Miles Bulger of Jackson County, a former County Judge of that county, designed to take from the Jackson County Court the power to appoint road overseers and turn it over to the County Highway Engineer. This bill, which is an echo of a fight in Jackson County Democratic factional politics, was an effort of Bulger, a Democrat, to avenge himself upon Tom Pendergast, principal Democratic faction leader in Kansas City, for the latter's effort to drive Bulger out of the Democratic organization there. This fight grew out of Bulger's bolt from the organization in the Democratic gubernatorial primary of 1920.

The rest supported John M. Atkinson for Governor. Bulger supported Senator Frank H. Farris. Farris helped Bulger to drive the bill through the Legislature in a bitter fight.

Hyde's action in vetoing the measure, which would have benefited his party, is ascribed to opposition of the Kansas City Star to the measure. Hyde said he had acted adverse because the bill was purely local legislation designed apparently to secure temporary political ends. It has been noticed, however, that the Governor has not always been swayed to veto measures so framed, having signed a series of bills to legislate Democratic Justices of the Peace out of office and Republicans in, in Jackson County, in 1921.

The Governor today approved two bills by Mrs. Mellcene Smith of University City. Clean Election League Representative from St. Louis County, one giving the Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County a stenographer, who shall act as stenographer to the grand jury, and the other gives the Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County a contingent fund of $1500 instead of $500 as at present.

YOLANDA SAVES WOMEN'S JOBS

Italian Princess Asked That Needy Railroad Help Be Retained.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, April 4.—Princess Yolanda's plea for the retention of needy women railway employes whose dismissal had been ordered by Deputy Torre, the Railroad Commissioner, has resulted in the revocation of the order in the case of 10 per cent of the women affected.

In a letter to the Deputy the Princess said it would hurt her to think that on the day of her wedding other women less favored by fate should be without the means of livelihood. The decree was issued a month ago, as a step in reducing the railroad personnel. It affected all women who had entered the service since 1915.

WAR OR CIVILIZATION MUST GO, SAYS CECIL

League of Nations Advocate Answers Questions Put to Him by Newspaper Men.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Obviously gratified with the cordiality of the reception he received in his first public address in this country, Lord Robert Cecil elaborated yesterday his reasoning that the salvation of modern civilization rests with the League of Nations.

Sunk deep in an upholstered armchair in the library of Thomas W. Lamont's home, where he is a guest during his stay in this city, he talked at length and with constant good humor to a dozen newspaper men who questioned him.

Although many of the questions were patently hostile in tone, the distinguished Englishman, to whose influence much of the development of the league is credited, answered all sincerely and without losing his cool, smiling expression. In all his answers, with scrupulous care, he repeated that in his support of the league he makes no suggestion to America as to what actions she should take, but seeks solely to explain the work of the league fully, learn what America's attitude is and leave to an America fully acquainted with all the facts her own suggestions and decisions.

Expands Arguments.

Lord Robert offered no new argument, but he expanded on some of those which he presented in his speech at the Hotel Astor Monday night. He repeated with an earnestness that was proof of his conviction that "Civilization must end war or war will end civilization." He said that the league meetings at Genoa have shown that delegates from different nations, meeting for the best interest of all, discard many of the narrow national prejudices and avaricious ambitions which have brought about wars in the past. He reiterated his faith that the "pact of guarantee" which would assure nations of the support of their neighbors if attacked, and demilitarized zones between nations traditionally enemies, would ultimately bring about a new era of world peace.

"It is true that if my visit were for the purpose of instructing the American people as to what they should or should not do, it would be gross impudence," he said. "But I have repeated in every public utterance that I have made that I have no such intention. I am here not to dictate to America, or to suggest what she should do. I have come to your hospitable country to give information to certain of your people who seek to learn about a subject with which I am conversant."

Views on Idealism.

When he was asked a few minutes later if his views were not more idealistic than practicable, he replied:

"I think it is more dangerous to distrust everyone about you than to trust everyone about you. The lot of him who believes that all the world except himself is a scoundrel is not a very happy one."

He attended a private luncheon given by the Federal Council of Churches at the Women's University Club, addressing 100 clergymen briefly on the League of Nations and disarmament. He was the guest at a private dinner in the Lamont home in the evening.

REPUTED IRISH LEADER IN U. S.

Friends of Martin Lavan, Now in Cleveland, Oppose Deportation.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., April 4.—Believing that deportations might result in his execution for treason by a Free State courtmartial friends of Martin Lavan, said to be a leader of the Irish Republican army, are preparing to contest proceedings to deport him. They declared they would cite a number of such executions as grounds for keeping Lavan in this country, even though a "technical irregularity" might be discovered in his admission.

Deportation depends on the result of an investigation of circumstances surrounding his entrance to the United States, Federal authorities declared. Pending the investigation, Lavan is under guard in a hospital here.

Lavan landed in this country four months ago suffering with a bayonet wound said to have been sustained while acting as district commander of the Republican army during a fight in County Mayo, Ireland. After a month's stay in New York he was brought to Cleveland. His wound became so serious that an operation was decided upon last Friday.

Investigation by Free State sympathizers into a visit by Mrs. Terence MacSwiney, widow of the lord Mayor of Cork to the hospital is said to have led to Lavan's discovery.

Civitan Club Indorses Bridge Plan.

The report on terminal facilities of St. Louis, including a recommendation for an exchange by the city and railroads of the use of the railroad deck of the Free Bridge and the vehicular deck of the Eads Bridge, was indorsed yesterday by the Civitan Club, meeting at the Jefferson Hotel. C. A. Moreno and Hugh K. Wagner addressed the club on the report.

54.6 CENTS OF EVERY DOLLAR COLLECTED BY U. S. IN TAXES GOES TO WAR OBLIGATIONS

Of the 45.4 Cents Remaining the War Department Gets 12 and Navy 12.5—No Material Reductions in Sight.

BY CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Interest on the public debt of the United States during the fiscal year ended last June 30 was nearly $1,000,000,000, or a quarter of a billion dollars more than the total Government expenditures during the fiscal year 1916.

Just what does that mean to the taxpayer?

An analysis of figures recently compiled by the Treasury shows that to pay the interest on the public debt, which on March 4 stood at the staggering total of $22,700,000,000, the Government used a little more than 26 cents out of every dollar collected.

Other Items Detailed.

The other items in the Treasury statement may be similarly reduced to terms readily understandable to the taxpayer. In the same fiscal year, 1922, the sinking fund and other public debt retirements chargeable against ordinary receipts took $423,000,000, or 11 cents out of every dollar. The Veterans' Bureau expended $407,000,000 for the benefit of former soldiers and their dependents, or 10 cents out of every dollar. Pensions required $254,000,000, or 7 cents out of every dollar.

The four items numerated, all of which are due to wars in which the United States has engaged, took more than one-half of the total expenditures, which amounted to $3,795,000,000. To be exact, they accounted for 54.6 cents in every dollar. No material reduction in these disbursements can be expected in the next few years.

Of the 45.4 cents remaining in the Government's dollar—which is to say, the taxpayer's dollar—the War Department got 12 cents and the Navy 12.5 cents. For good roads, 2.42 cents was required; for customs and internal revenue refunds, 2.32 cents; for the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation, 2.29 cents; for the Indians, 1 cent. That left but 12.5 cents, or only one-eighth of the Government's dollar, for all the other administrative expenses of the Government.

Totals for Departments.

The totals paid out under the foregoing heads were as follows: War Department, $450,000,000; Navy, $476,000,000; good roads, $92,000,000; customs and internal revenue refunds, $88,000,000; Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation, $87,000,000; Indians, $39,000,000.

The remaining one-eighth of the expenditures went to pay the administrative expenses of the State Department, Treasury Department (exclusive of customs and internal revenue refunds), Department of Justice, Post Office Department (exclusive service payable from postal revenues), Interior Department (exclusive of Indians and pensions), Department of Agriculture (exclusive of roads), Department of Commerce, Department of Labor, the legislative establishment, the District of Columbia, the presidential office, and special bureaus and offices, such as the Civil Service Commission, the Federal Trade Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

All these departments and offices received for the conduct of the ordinary non-military business of the Government, apart from the special services which have been separately itemized, a total approximately equal to the cost of the Navy. The largest expenditure in this group was for the Treasury Department—$177,000,000, of which a considerable portion was for prohibition enforcement. The State Department received $10,000,000; Justice, $18,000,000; Post Office, $68,000,000; Interior (exclusive of Indian service and pensions), $39,000,000; Agriculture (exclusive of roads), $51,000,000; Commerce, $22,000,000, and labor, $6,000,000.

Pensions Another Big Item.

The pension figures show the continuing nature of the burden imposed by war. There are still on the pension rolls 41 widows of soldiers of the War of 1812, 57 survivors of the Mexican War and 1717 widows of Mexican War soldiers. Civil War veterans to the number of 178,349 and widows of Civil War soldiers to the number of 268,925 are drawing pensions.

Of the World War veterans, 899,095 have applied for compensation on the ground of disabilities received in service. The claims of 434,279 of these have been allowed, and of this total 180,757 are now drawing compensation of from $8 to $100 a month and in some cases an additional $20 for a nurse. Vocational training has been given 161,887 veterans, of whom 93,962 are still receiving training.

In addition, the Government paid out during the last fiscal year $109,073,801 to the beneficiaries of deceased soldiers who carried war risk insurance. Government insurance policies have been retained by 544,170 of the survivors of the war.

For the compensation, care and training of World War veterans during the next fiscal year the Treasury estimates that $450,000,000 will be required.

MANY CANDIDATES WITH KLAN BACKING ELECTED IN KANSAS

By the Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 4.—Candidates, alleged to have the support of the Ku Klux Klan, were successful in the majority of cases where the klan issue featured in Kansas municipal elections yesterday, returns today indicated. At Pittsburg, C. Mart Montee, elected Mayor, had the labor indorsement and the alleged indorsement of the klan, as did four city commissioners elected and three successful candidates for the Board of Education.

The Ku Klux Klan figured prominently in the election at Fort Scott, where William Childress, who was elected Mayor, and three successful candidates for city commissioner were alleged to have klan support. Two of the city commissioners at Wichita were reported to be supported by the klan, as was Earl Hawkins, elected Mayor of Emporia.

W. W. Gordon, said to have received klan indorsement, was elected Mayor of Kansas City, Kan. Harry B. Burton, incumbent, was strongly opposed to the Ku Klux Klan. Ralph Hanges, reported to have been indorsed by the klan for the mayoralty of Wellington, was defeated by Joseph M. Thralls, labor candidate.

The klan was not an issue in the Topeka election, where Earl Akers, former State Treasurer, was elected Mayor over H. J. Corwine, candidate for a third term.

James C. Davis, "Big-Hearted Jim," twice elected Mayor of Leavenworth and twice forced to resign to avoid ouster, was elected Mayor again yesterday, obtaining a majority of 127 over D. R. Alford, candidate for re-election.

CHINESE CABINET SAID TO HAVE DRAFTED NEW NOTE TO JAPAN

Demonstrations Regarding Leases on Kwantung Peninsula Held in Nearly All Large Cities.

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, April 4.—In response to nation-wide agitation, the Cabinet is reported to have prepared a second note to Japan regarding the abrogation of the Sino-Japanese treaty of 1915, which involved the extension of long leases on Port Arthur and Dalny on Kwantung peninsula.

Since the dispatch of a note to Japan last month, demanding the retrocession of the Manchurian leaseholds, and Japan's refusal to discuss the matter at this time, demonstrations have been held by students and commercial bodies in nearly all large Chinese cities.

The Chinese General Chamber of Commerce has recommended that a boycott be instituted only as a last resort after giving Japan time to reconsider her insistence on holding the Kwangtung territory. The chamber also recommends that the Government refer the treaty question to the League of Nations.

Gen. Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war-lord, is reported to have forbidden any demonstrations or Japanese boycott in his territory, holding that the issue is one for the central Government alone.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 4.—Appointment of a receiver for the F. S. Peabody Syndicate and an injunction restraining sale of the Eastern Kentucky timber and coal holdings of the syndicate to the Fordson Coal Co., a Henry Ford corporation, until the rights of the plaintiff are determined, is asked in a suit filed in Federal Court by T. C. Fuller of Lexington against Stuyvesant Peabody of Chicago, trustee, and the Fordson company.

Fuller, in his petition, contends he owns one-tenth interest in the property and the syndicate owes him $105,000. He asserts that the property, approximately 140,000 acres, is worth $15,000,000, and was sold to the Fordson company for $2,500,000 less than its real value.

Besides Stuyvesant Peabody as trustee, Harry Payne Whitney, New York; Samuel Insull, Chicago; William Wrigley Jr., chewing gum manufacturer, and others are included in the list of defendants.

CHARGE ON WHICH SOVIET EXECUTED CATHOLIC VICAR

Was Convicted of Exciting Population to Mass Agitation and Nonpayment of Taxes.

ACTION UNDER ARTICLE OF CRIMINAL CODE

The Punishment Provided For in the Statute Is Either the Death Penalty or Imprisonment.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 4.—Confirmation of the execution by the soviet authorities of Constantine Butchkavitch, vigar general of the Roman Catholic Church in Russia, is contained in a dispatch received today fro mthe Rosta Agency, the official Bolshevik news organization.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, April 4.—Vicar-General Butchkavitch was found guilty and executed as a violator of Article 63 of the criminal code, which provides the death penalty or imprisonment for "participation in any organization which is acting with the purpose of exciting the population to mass agitation, nonpayment of taxes, unfulfillment of its duties, or by any other means clearly detrimental to the dictatorship of the working class and the proletarian revolution, although an armed rising or an armed invasion is not the chief aim of that organization."

Only two papers, the official Isvestia and Pravada, carried the announcement of the execution, that printed in the Pravada reading: "On March 31 was brought into effect the death sentence on the Priest Butchkavitch, condemned in the case of the Catholic counter-revolutionists."

The paragraph in Isvestia read: "The sentence of the Supreme Court of the Republic with regard to Butchkavitch, who was condemned to be shot and whose reprieve, which had been requested, was disregarded by the Central Executive Committee, has been carried out."

Pope Deeply Grieved When Informed Sentence Had Been Carried Out.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, April 4.—Word of the execution by the soviet authorities of Mgr. Butchkavitch, it is learned, reached Pope Pius Monday, and upon hearing the news the pontiff knelt in prayer for the soul of the dead prelate.

The Pope was deeply grieved when informed that the sentence had been carried out, especially as the efforts made to save the Vicar-General had raised hopes that it might be possible to obtain a commutation of sentence, as in the case of Archbishop Zepliak.

Poles May Sever Diplomatic Relations With Russian Soviet.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

WARSAW, April 4.—The Polish Cabinet today discussed what steps should be taken regarding the execution of the Rev. Father Butchkavitch, Polish prelate of the Catholic church, who was put to death Saturday by a firing squad at Moscow. Diplomatic relations with Russia may be severed.

Riga Correspondent Cables Vicar Butchkavitch May Be Alive.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 3 (Tuesday).—A dispatch to the Times from Riga, dated Tuesday, says:

"The soviet Government denies that Vicar-General Butchkavitch has been shot. It says the execution has been suspended."

The Times prints the announcement from Moscow that the prelate was executed Sunday.

Editorially the Times alludes to the dispatch from its Riga correspondent and expresses the hope that the fate of Vicar-General Butchkavitch will not long remain a question of such grave doubt as that of Archbishop Benjamin of Petrograd, regarding whom, it says, no definite information has been received since he was condemned to death in 1922 for interfering with the seizure of church treasures.

FUTURE OF OKLAHOMA INDIANS

Possibility of Their Pauperism in Decade Seen.

By the Associated Press.

MUSKOGEE, Ok., April 4.—Although Oklahoma Indian councils are now counting their money in millions of dollars, 10 years from this time the Indians may be paupers, living on the bounty of the State, as well as constituting a problem as a separate class of citizenship, it is believed by Dr. Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior, and Charles H. Burk, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, who are on a four-day tour of the eastern part of the State.

Immediate establishment of permanent educational funds while the money is still unspent, and arrangements for extensive restriction treaties which expire April 29, 1931, are two steps which must be taken to prevent such a situation from developing, they believe.

Whom the Plaza "Busts."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN the interest of stating both sides of the case, I should appreciate sufficient space in your paper to reply to the "Plaza or Bust" letter in your columns recently. It would have been apropos to have signed the letter "The Plaza—no matter how many it busts." When it comes to the subject of selfishness in a matter of such widespread ramifications that concerns the public generally, but many kindred interests specifically (some unsuspected), there are few unaffected ones left to pass judgment. Either the pocketbook aspect, involved alike in moving it or not moving it, unbounded fealty to a specific program, or personal interest in the creation of a new area of widespread building activity, would disqualify on the grounds of bias most all of the public sufficiently aroused to date to speak their minds. There is no more whispered balm of business to be considered on one side than the other. Selfishness is not a matter of monopoly.

It is well to remember that virtues as well as vices are put in motion by interest. The opponents of the move have openly and frankly stated the virtues of their position; and have endeavored to inform the public as to the facts. As to what the people thought they were voting for, the ballot speaks most convincingly—the site was not mentioned.

Mr. "Plaza or Bust" refers to the speech of John G. Lonsdale before the Downtown Improvement Association. Those who heard that talk know there was no rancor in it, only a plea for equity and fair-mindedness in judging the situation. That's all anyone could ask, but branding one side or the other as "the public's side," without a single substantiating fact, is unfair. Who is the public? Are the people east of Twelfth street excluded from the public? Is there any desire for stability in a deliberate, widespread contempt of property rights?

Suppose 30 or 40 blocks of homes were concerned in such an act of depreciation. Would that exclude them from being a part of the public concerned? Would their cause become selfish? Can one interest against the other arbitrarily set itself up as "the public?" Since when has business so lost caste as not to be considered? Are "the public" and "business" two different things, or isn't the livelihood of the public entirely business? Is the part of business only to foot the bills? True public-mindedness would not attempt to escape the adjudication of the facts, pro and con, nor seek sympathy through misbranding. The real public is capable of judging which is its side.

FOR FAIRNESS ONLY.

Quote Rent Figures.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I HAVE been looking over your For Rent ads. Have also called at many places which were advertised, and in each instance found that the rent asked was more than I desired to pay. It seems to me that persons who advertise would save themselves and those who wish to rent much time and worry if the rent prices were advertised. I have spent much time and car fare in these wild-goose chases.

The same complaint about advertising "For Sale Property" applies. I have made it a rule to look at such places first which had advertised prices.

It seems to me that you would do a humane act if you would give this matter publicity and endeavor to induce advertisers to quote prices.

The Condemned Prelates.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE American public is undoubtedly in great sympathy with the condemned churchmen in Russia, but the American people are not aware of what these men, who claim to be the servants of God, did. If they had always been sincere, they would not have stirred up race riots, especially against the Hebrews, as they did during the days of the Czar.

I am not in favor of death penalties, nor ever have been; nor am I a member of any political party, nor do I wholly agree with the policy that the soviet government is carrying on; but I happen to be interested because I came from Russia, and know very well how these divinity fathers oppressed and plundered the poor peasants in the old days.

At the present day, as I understand, their fate has changed in that they cannot dominate the people and own the enormous tracts of land that were under control of the church during the days of Czarism, because the soviets do not allow it. So they rose in rebellion, and tried to stir up trouble because they were deprived of their autocratic powers. So the soviet government took the steps that any other country would take against persons who try to overthrow a government. I think we cannot blame the soviets for acting in self-defense, as this is a law of self preservation to which we are all partial.

A READER OF YOUR PAPER.

HAVE COURTS BROKEN DOWN?

Must we admit that the law and the courts have broken down and that extralegal means must be adopted to rid the city of criminal gangs?

Must we depend wholly upon the police to deal with criminals and thus inaugurate a war between police and criminal gangsters and bandits with lawlessness and violence in full swing?

Must we eventually resort to vigilance committees and a general declaration of war, with the police and vigilance committees on one side and criminal gangs on the other?

If the law and its processes have not broken down the authorities can rid the city of major criminals of all kinds by enforcing law.

Courts and juries can support the police and rid the city of professional criminals and thus avoid a police-gang war and a resort to vigilance committees. It is preposterous that we have professional criminals, thieving gangs and murderous gangsters when there is a special provision in the law to protect the public from the murderous activities and depredations of these gentry.

The habitual criminal act was framed and enacted for this purpose. It provides that when a criminal is convicted of a major crime and when it is proven that he has previously committed one or more crimes of the same nature, such as murder, burglary, robbery or criminal assault, the maximum sentence under the law must be imposed. In short, he must be sent to the penitentiary for life.

This is a just and humane law. It is just and proper that men who make crime a profession and live by preying upon their fellow men, who habitually attack or endanger life to rob others, should be put under permanent restraint. There is no place in orderly society for professional criminals and murderous gangsters. They are continual menaces to life and property and when permitted to ply their vocations cause general lawlessness, contempt of law and disregard for all rights of citizens.

The enforcement of this law would solve all of our criminal problems. It would rid the community of professional criminals and criminal classes. It would restrain first offenders from repetition of crimes. It would make repetition of crimes so dangerous that few would attempt it. St. Louis would cease to be the home of gangsters and the resort of professional criminals.

Little is gained by driving criminals out of the city or from city to city. They are still free to prey upon law-abiding citizens. Everything is gained by the restraint of habitual criminals in prison and the enforcement of law.

We believe that the habitual criminal act can be enforced if a concentrated, vigorous effort is made by prosecuting officers and Judges to enforce it. Good juries of citizens who will do their duty under the law; prosecuting officers who will find and present the evidence of previous crimes; Judges who will refuse to be lenient under pleas of guilty and who will instruct juries clearly as to the law and their duty will go far towards a rigid enforcement of the law.

When the law is enforced professional criminals and murderous gangsters will disappear and order, safety and peace will return.

A TRIBUTE FOR LA FOLLETTE.

In a sheaf of capital gossip the Washington correspondent of the Post-Dispatch directs attention to the fact that only the aged and fading figure of Senator Cummins of Iowa now stands between the chairmanship of the Interstate Commerce Committee and Senator La Follette, provided the rule of seniority continues to operate. It is a mischievous rule, but public censure and appeal have not availed to break it. Now the powers that be are said to be debating seriously the necessity of abrogating the rule because of La Follette's appearance as heir presumptive to this chairmanship.

The old guardsters, however, are frankly uneasy as to La Follette's probable attitude. Will he tamely submit to this trickery? Will he sacrifice himself, uncomplainingly, for the lasting good which the smashing of the seniority rule will accomplish? The old guardsters think it unlikely. They are dead right. Self-sacrifice is not one of the intended victim's distinguishing characteristics. Their antithesis as to ideals and policies, La Follette is as hard-boiled as the toughest of the old guardsters. He is as insistent on his pound of flesh as they are. If they discover the iniquity of the seniority rule only when he is at last to be its beneficiary he will not be impressed with their sincerity; nor will anyone else.

A harsh, rasping, difficult person is La Follette, ruthless as a boss and with a genius for making and keeping enemies. But whatever may be thought of his methods or vagaries the old guard's fear of him is a considerable tribute to the Wisconsin bastinado.

THE PEOPLE WON IN EAST ST. LOUIS.

The election in East St. Louis resulted in a decisive victory for clean and harmonious city government. The people turned out the three Commissioners who, as a majority of the commission, had whitewashed the police in the Campanella matter, and had continually obstructed the plans and policies of Mayor Stephens. The people not only returned Mayor Stephens and his faithful ally, Commissioner Whalen, to office, but gave them colleagues who may be expected to co-operate with them. The election of M. P. Murray, a candidate of extraordinary ability and a fine record of service, was particularly happy.

It is now obvious that the klan cut a ridiculous figure in the campaign. From its pretentious program of choosing and electing candidates, it eventually was forced down to a desperate effort to merely pick the winner. The results speak for themselves. The only successful candidates indorsed by the klan were Mayor Stephens and Ralph Cook, both of whom repeatedly, and in the strongest terms, repudiated the indorsement. The only candidates who could be properly claimed by the klan ran last.

The defeat of Commissioners Veach, Leber and O'Leary is a rebuke to police brutality. It is a rebuke to authorities who lent the aid of the police in breaking a strike outside the city limits, and permitted the police to accept gifts from the beneficiaries. It is a rebuke to politics of the kind that became notorious in East St. Louis. It was a convincing declaration that masked murder and hooded violence cannot control city government there. The people won.

THE DOPE ON THE LEAGUE.

The Republican National Committee is distressed at the speeches Lord Robert Cecil is making about the League of Nations. It charges the Englishman with not having kept "within the bounds of truth" in his statements about what the League has done. The committee insists upon the truth.

Now, it may be that Lord Robert Cecil does not know as much about the League of Nations as the Republican National Committee does. It is true that Cecil helped to create the League, has had a part in some of the League's efforts and has been an eyewitness to its undertakings and accomplishments. He has had unusual opportunities to get accurate information. But it must be confessed that Cecil has not had the extraordinary advantages enjoyed by the Republican National Committee. He has not been privileged to read everything that some of the most eminent Republican politicians have said about the League, or the interlineation and elaboration with which certain Democratic politicians have embellished the Republican revues.

The Republican National Committee can tell Lord Robert Cecil things about the League of Nations which that deluded man has never suspected. By glancing over the remarks of Henry Cabot Lodge, Hiram Johnson, Medill McCormick and George Harvey, along with the gentle contributions of Borah and Reed, the Republican National Committee, in re the League of Nations, can depose and say:

That, first of all, the League is dead. That it is the most damnable contrivance ever conceived in the brain of man. That it is a futile, impotent thing. That it is a super-government which would bolt our sovereignty in one gulp if we should be idiotic enough to join it. That it is a wicked scheme, hatched by the vicious diplomacy of the Old World for getting Uncle Sam into Europe and stripping him of his plug hat, his spike-tailed coat, his striped trousers and his bee vee dees before turning him loose. That so far from being a means to prevent war the League is an infernal machine deliberately fashioned to promote war and that, moreover, whenever and wherever it gets a good brisk war going it will see to it that the youth of America will do all the fighting on both sides.

The Republican National Committee, by referring to the authorities listed, can further inform the world, including Lord Robert Cecil, that the League of Nations was a deep-laid plot of Woodrow Wilson to elect himself King of the Earth, Emperor of the World, Supreme Ruler of the whites and blacks and intermediate tints and lord of all the bounding billows. A pitiful pigmy, a colossal giant, an empty pretense to deride, a monster to flee from for your life, an idealistic gesture, the most grewsome reality that ever undertook to fasten its talons on the hopes and liberties of man—that's the simple truth about the League of Nations as the Republican National Committee sees it.

Oh, there is no doubt that the Republican National Committee has all the dope there is and isn't on the League of Nations.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

SOCRATES: I suppose you young men were around the polls somewhat during yesterday?

Glaucon: Yes.

Socrates: Did you see anything indicating that the women are as enthusiastic about voting as they seemed to be about getting the right to vote?

Glaucon: No, Socrates. It was very quiet.

Glaucon: Of course.

Socrates: However, it has been a long time since men ever said they wanted to vote or cared a whoop outdoors whether they can or cannot.

Glaucon: Truly.

Socrates: It might even be said that men probably never did want to vote, but gained that right because certain idealists thought they ought to vote.

Glaucon: Likely enough.

Socrates: It would not, therefore, be fair to criticise the apathy of men on election day, since it is not in human nature for us to prize what others get for us no matter how good it is.

Glaucon: Quite right.

Socrates: But it is the opposite, wouldn't you say, with women, who wanted to vote and raised a great hullaballoo about it?

Glaucon: It is the opposite.

Socrates: Very well. Don't you think we are by this time convinced that women never really wanted to vote but that their demand for that right was purely emotional as opposed to what may be termed our intellectual wants?

Thrasymachus: Certainly we are so convinced. We knew very well that women would desert the polls the moment the emotion subsided, leaving the men to go on with the dull business of voting as half-heartedly as they have always gone on with it, exactly as women have devoured the social content and left only the empty shuck of many another thing for which they once went in furiously.

Socrates: Just so. Nor is anyone, I think, particularly disappointed that this is so. If women were not incurably emotional there would be no society.

Polemarchus: You said something then.

Socrates: Did I? Well, it would not do to say that we can all go chasing off after the intellectual.

Polemarchus: No, it would not.

Socrates: Somebody has to preserve the emotional values of life, and only women can do it.

Glaucon: Jove, yes!

Socrates: It would not do to hold that voting is more important than this or that exercising their right of suffrage or any other intellectual pursuit is comparable at last to women being just what they are.

Thrasymachus: I trust nobody is waiting for me to scold them because they thought they wanted to vote and now find they don't care very much about it.

Socrates: An admirable sentiment, my dear Thrasymachus, and worthy a much older philosopher.

Thrasymachus: Thanks, Socrates.

Socrates: Tut-tut, my dear boy. Now let us stop and give the debate over evolution some of the space in Just a Minute. You know Hillare Belloc is soon to be here, and the people who believe in evolution need all the boxing practice they can get. He is no pillow fighter like Bryanus.

Sir: You are quite right about the state of our local culture, in which the rich exhort the poor to save. I have never known another time when other people spent our money for us the way they do now. They have one's pay check parceled out before it is delivered. There is a large electric sign out on Locust street. It says: "CHRIST SAVES." One cannot see that without wondering if it is regarded as the sanction for our culture of thrift. PENNY WISE.

Neither the Kaiser's memoirs nor those of the Crown Prince are worth shucks on the market, which shows how much interest attaches in a war to anything but the front. The commentaries of Caesar are still selling, but Caesar rode at the head of his army and sometimes personally divided a Gaul in the usual three ways. There is a moral here, but if you have been reading Just a Minute long you can go on from this point unaided by us and ruminate with both pleasure and profit.

COGITO ERGO SUM.

I am.
Since I am, I am.
And namely am I I.
I am I.
I am not only I, but also something.
But I am not only something, but also somebody.
And, what is more, I am not only a person, but exclusively I and no other. I embody myself, I personate myself. I am wholly and entirely I.
If I were not I, I ware perhaps somebody else.
But I would be at all events.
I were, if I were not I, certainly and doubtlessly another.
If the other were I, I would be the other.
Whether I am I or another—I am by all means I, because the other were, as I said, I.
Since I am, I am not only, but I am also I.
If I were not, I were not.
This is quite sure.
But I am not only I and no other, but I am also something.
I am, I must confess, a philosopher, else I couldn't write such trash. M. LEAN.

The MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

DEVELOPMENT OF WATER POWER.

From the Boston Transcript.

SOME six years ago the United States Government built a great dam for power development where the Minnehaha creek comes into the Mississippi, in the outskirts of the cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis. A great potential power was thus created. The question then arose as to what should be done with it. St. Paul and Minneapolis, "twin cities" but not always partners in sympathies and enterprise, could come to no agreement as to what should be done with it. Years went by and the High Dam, as it was called, remained a potentiality only. Applications were made for the privilege of using the power, but there was always a suspicion that the object was to put the power to sleep, in somebody's interest, rather than to develop it. But finally, in January of this year, Mr. Ford came along, and as an earnest of his intentions bought 167 acres of land on the St. Paul side of the dam, and applied to the Government for permission to use the dam's power. And after long consideration the power has been granted, and Mr. Ford announces his intention to create on the ground a $10,000,000 plant for the manufacture of automobiles—an enterprise which would mean the employment of 15,000 men. As a result of this decision, the city of St. Paul, which has not advanced so rapidly in wealth and population as its neighbor Minneapolis, is wild with delight. The decision, to judge from the excellent St. Paul papers, and from the utterances of its enterprising mayor, means the "rebirth" of St. Paul. It will undoubtedly be a great thing for the city's prosperity. But why should St. Paul and Minneapolis remain two cities? To the rest of the world, they seem to waste a considerable portion of their joint resources, as well as of the energy force of their citizens, in their old rivalry. Why should not this new development, which will exactly between them, have the effect to unite them politically as well as commercially?

TEACHING AND TRAVELING.

From the Rockford Star.

SCHOOL teachers, as is well known, are great travelers. But often their travels are pursued under difficulties chiefly financial. Tulsa, Okla., is solving that problem with neatness and dispatch. Tulsa pays a teacher her regular monthly salary every third summer if she spends the vacation traveling. There are certain moderate and reasonable conditions to be met. The teacher must submit to the superintendent an outline of her proposed trip and what she expects to get out of it in an educational way. Also there is provision for giving the schools some of the benefit of it afterwards. The teacher must make a written report, presenting especially the educational features that can be used in making up library travelogs for the school children. All such experiences, clippings, pictures, etc., go into the travelogs. A copy of the report remains as the permanent possession of the schools. The teachers are encouraged, but not required to prepare lectures or informal talks on what they have seen for pupils or community gatherings. Since the plan was adopted, says the Tulsa superintendent, 20 per cent of the city's teachers have traveled, visiting nearly every part of North America and many countries of Europe. They have benefited their experience and the schools and the whole community get the benefit. Tulsa, evidently, is going to know the world pretty well before many years, thanks to this simple sensible and comparatively inexpensive system.

ELMER L. RICE.

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 24.—The most notable contest was that in which Lawrence B. Rice of Longwood defeated Francis T. Hunter, national indoor champion, by a score of 7—3, 7—5, 7—5.—The World, March 25.

CANNES, March 25 (Associated Press).—Col. Mays, again playing as "Philathlete," won the singles championship, defeating Francis T. Hunter, an American player, 6—3, 6—2, 6—0.—The World, March 26.

The long, hurried transatlantic trip seems to have tired Hunter so that he was unable to win a set.

Frequently this department has commented on the consciously cudenced style of Mr. A. S. M. Hutchinson, and when it spoke of it in connection with "If Winter Comes." Mr. Hutchinson wrote a disclaimer. He said he didn't know he did it. We have been rereading "The Happy Warrior," and here, almost at random, are two lovely passages (the resetting is ours) that prove, to us, at any rate, that he knew precisely what he was doing:

I.

Watch her if, unseen, he might unseen adore her—
Mark her perfect beauty, breathless see her breathe;
Watch her poised to listen to some bird that hymned her coming.
Watch her stoop to greet some flower's fragrance with her own.
Watch the happy grasses take her feet, and watch those others,
Benisoned and scented by the border of her gown;
Watch the tumbling breezes give her path and only kiss her—

II.

Ah, she had had holiday, but not enough to close her;
She had tossed among the flowers, but had fluttered home at nights.
Now the mate she toyed with was knocking at her prison:
She could see and could remember, but she could not fly.

Dear, dear, the 1924 conventions will be the first to be broadcast. As though there were not already enough apathy about politics.

Sign of Spring: Anger that the steam heat which didn't keep you quite warm enough all winter was so intense that three strings in the racket broke.

...ate Principal of Yeatman Honored.

Resolutions in honor of William M. Butler, principal of Yeatman High School, who died suddenly a week ago, were adopted yesterday by the school principals of St. Louis. The resolutions, prepared by a committee headed by Assistant Superintendent Bryan, told of Butler's 46 years of service as a teacher, and his 18 years at Yeatman High. A community memorial service in Butler's honor is to be held Sunday night at North Presbyterian Church, St. Louis and Kearns avenues.

$500,000 CAMPAIGN FOR PRIVATE SCHOOL

Country Day Institution for Boys and Girls to Be Opened Oct. 1; $133,685 Obtained.

Funds are being raised this week for the John Burroughs School, a country day school for boys and girls to be opened in St. Louis County Oct. 1. It is to be a private school of limited capacity, with a number of scholarship grants to assist those of limited means.

The goal of the financial campaign is $500,000. Of this sum $70,000 was raised in about 50 gifts nearly a year ago and the preliminary work was done. Including the amount raised previously and the pledges made Monday and yesterday morning, the fund stood at $133,685, it was reported at a luncheon for workers yesterday, at Hotel Statler, temporary headquarters of the school.

A general committee of more than 200 representative men and women, of which J. Lionberger Davis, chairman of the board of the Security National Bank Savings & Trust Co., is chairman, is conducting the campaign, with C. R. D. Meier and Mrs. Joseph W. Lewis in charge of team personnel. The eight canvassing teams are led by Mrs. F. B. Eiseman, Mrs. C. R. D. Meier, Mrs. Warren Goddard, Herman Spoehrer, Mrs. P. B. Fouke, Mrs. Ernest Stix and Mrs. Hugh McK. Jones, George Oliver Carpenter Jr. and E. R. Meyer, and Mrs. A. S. Rauh.

It is hoped the campaign may be completed by Friday, but it will be continued until the desired amount is obtained.

18-Acre Tract.

The school is to be on an 18-acre tract at the northwest corner of Price road and Clayton car line, about three miles west of the city limits, near the St. Louis Country Club. The land has been paid for and excavation for the first building began recently. It is planned that about $250,000 be spent for this main building and a gymnasium this year.

It is planned that the school embrace the work of junior and senior high schools, preparing children for college entrance, and endeavoring to foster qualities to help them in college and later life, its supporters say. The equivalent grades will be the seventh through the twelfth. However, only the first three of these will be conducted this autumn. There will be an eventual capacity of 350 pupils and the minimum number of teachers will be 10.

Seven gifts of $10,000 each have been made to establish scholarship grants, each of which will be available for the assistance of one or more children. These funds will bear the donors' names, which have not been made public.

It is desired that at least three more scholarship grants be obtained now and that eventually 25 be gotten, as the director of the school, Wilford M. Aikin, formerly director of a similar school near New York, has stipulated that at least 10 per cent of the student body must be there by virtue of such assistance.

Special Street Car planned.

The tuition will be $500 a year, said to approximate the expected cost per pupil. It is planned that a special street car leave the central residential district of the city every school morning after the sessions begin, to gather pupils and take them directly there, returning in the evening.

Louis H. Egan is president of the board of trustees of the school, Mrs. Hugh McK. Jones and C. R. D. Meier, vice presidents; F. B. Eiseman, treasurer; Mrs. George Gellhorn, secretary, and Eugene Angert, W. W. Boyd Jr., J. Lionberger Davis, Benjamin Gratz, Mrs. Joseph W. Lewis, G. Riesmeyer Jr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Stix, members.

SYMPHONY AT DENTON, TEX.

Auditors Had Heard the Orchestra Over K S D.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DENTON, Tex., April 4.—Approximately 3000 persons heard the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra yesterday on its third appearance here. The afternoon concert was primarily for school children and was heard by hundreds, Director Rudolph Ganz graciously playing a program of music memory numbers in which a contest recently closed among the school children here, which greatly delighted his audience. He also made a brief explanation of each number, which added to the children's pleasure. Encores were given after each number.

The night concert was attended by more than 1200 students of the College of Industrial Arts, at which institution the concerts were given, in addition to a large number of others from the community. Mme. Carolina Lazarri captivated the audience with her beautiful voice, vying with the orchestra in popular approval. Denton radio fans frequently hear concerts over K S D, the Post-Dispatch radio station, and have listened in at a number of the Symphony Orchestra's programs during the winter.

The Wyman School Parent-Teacher Association will hold its monthly meeting Friday at the school, 1601 South Theresa avenue. Pupils of the school will present two short plays, one to be "The Constitutional Convention," in costume, and another a scene from the modern stock market.

CLARK OPPOSED HERRIN KILLINGS, WITNESSES SAY

Pleaded in Vain to Save the Prisoners, According to Testimony Offered by the Defense.

By the Associated Press.

MARION, Ill., April 4.—Otis Clark, alleged by the prosecution in the Herrin massacre trial, to have been one of the riot leaders, pleaded in vain to save the prisoners, according to the testimony of defense witnesses today. Several of the witnesses testified that they had seen the prisoners marched from the mine and had heard Clark protest when several unidentified men urged that the captives be killed.

During the cross examining, Otis Glenn, special Assistant Attorney General, clashed with George White of defense counsel.

"Are you contributing to the defense fund through the miners' 'check-off,'" Glenn asked Frank Collins, a miner. "I suppose so."

White immediately demanded if the witness were not paying taxes to help pay the $75,000 fund voted by the Legislature to finance the prosecution of these cases.

Judge Hartwell sustained an objection to the question, and Glenn said, "Well, I'll swap what I get for what Mr. White gets from the defense."

Alibi testimony from defense witnesses that Clark and Oscar Howare, were a mile away when C. K. McDowell, one-legged superintendento f the Southern Illinois Coal Co. mine, when he was shot down, was the basis on which the defense apparently intended to build the remainder of its case.

Witnesses for the prosecution had testified that the two defendants led the mob that killed the nonunion workers from the mine and accused Howard and Clark as being the two men who led McDowell from the line of prisoners to the spot where his body was found later.

In cross-examination, attorneys for the State, by their questions, emphasized the fact that seven of the eight witnesses were miners or former miners and one the wife of a miner.

Testimony for Clark Given Yesterday.

"If there is going to be any murdering, I'll quit right now," three witnesses yesterday declared they had heard Clark say in a speech to a crowd of men, many of them armed, who had taken 48 nonunion workers from the mine.

"For God's take, don't do it; the United Mine Workers won't stand for murder," Clark was quoted as telling members of the crowd who were urging that the prisoners be taken out and killed, "to wipe out the breed."

Witnesses for the State previously had identified Clark as having made the speech urging the killing of the prisoners while an unidentified man pleaded for their lives in the very words attributed to Clark by the defense witnesses.

Clark and Howard, it was charged by the State, then marched on with the crowd and its prisoners to Moak Crossing, where they took McDowell, who was unable to keep up the pace, from the line and led him away.

Only a half-day session was held following a recess of a day and a half because of the death of the child of one of the jurors.

BELLEVILLE CENSUS REPORT

Belleville now has a population of 26,157, according to a Census Bureau report to City Clerk Kraft yesterday. The population in 1920 was 24,823 and the increase as shown by the last report is 1334.

to Congress in December last, as required by the Budget and Accounting Act, it gave a statement of the expected receipts and proposed expenditures for this current fiscal year. At that time the discrepancy had been reduced from $823,000,000 to $273,000,000. At the present time the possible excess of expenditures over receipts is $150,000,000. No effort is being spared by the Bureau of the Budget, acting as the agency of the President, to eliminate this threatened deficit. All expenditures are being carefully watched, curtailed or postponed wherever possible, while all of the collecting agencies of the Government are being speeded up for the purpose of enabling the Government to show a balanced budget at the end of the fiscal year, June 30 next.

Greatest Source of Waste.

"One of the great sources of waste in the Government has been the entire lack of team work, the departments and independent establishments operating without regard to any thought of unified purpose and without regard to the possibility of any national policy. To bring about this necessary team work so essential for efficient and economical operation of the Government agencies, there has been appointed under the Bureau of the Budget an officer, styled a Chief Co-ordinator, and serving under him are eight important boards made up of details from the various departments of the Government who develop policies that tend to bring into the Government what it has lacked all these years, that is, a broad, unified national policy—team work."

AMERICAN HISTORY FOR CHILDREN

MAP SHOWING PLAN OF GETTYSBURG BATTLE.

By HENDRIK VAN LOON,
Author of "The Story of Mankind."

(Copyright, 1923, by the Christy-Walsh Syndicate.)

WE left the two armies, after the Union defeat at Fredericksburg, in December, facing each other upon opposite banks of the Rappahannock River. Gen. Joseph Hooker was the new commander of the Northern forces. He was much more popular than any of his predecessors had been. New recruits filled up the broken ranks of the Union army, and several months of rest and drill once more brought up the morale of the soldiers. In April, Hooker decided to try and attack Lee from the rear. Part of his army marched 30 miles up the river and there crossed safely over, and the rest carried out the same maneuver at a safe distance down the river. The two divisions joined forces at Chancellorsville, a little to the west of Fredericksburg.

The Confederates, taking the offensive, left Fredericksburg, and advanced to attack the Union army. Had Hooker gone forth to meet them, he might have defeated them, but he preferred to fight upon the defensive and the result was disastrous, for he was badly beaten in a hotly contested battle, which raged from the 2d to the 4th of May, and he was forced to retreat beyond the Rappahannock again. It was during this battle that Stonewall Jackson was shot by his own men. He had gone out upon a little reconnoitering expedition and, riding back in the dark, was fired upon by the Confederate sentinels and mortally wounded, dying a few days later. His loss was a sad blow to the Confederacy.

After the defeat at Chancellorsville, the usual ceremony of removing the commander in chief was performed by the Federal authorities, their new choice being Gen. George Gordon Meade.

Lee now decided to make a fresh attempt to invade Maryland and Pennsylvania. He thought it would be much pleasanter for the civilians of the South if the war were continued in Northern territory, and he also hoped, by a spectacular victory in the North, to so discourage the Union that they would be willing to sign a peace which would acknowledge the independence of the South. So he marched up that old thoroughfare of the Confederate armies, the Shenandoah Valley, and by the middle of June began to cross the Potomac River. Meanwhile, Gen. Meade had set out to follow him, keeping his own army between the Confederates and the important cities of Washington and Baltimore.

Part of the Confederate army got as far north as Carlisle and Harrisburg, in Pennsylvania. But when Lee discovered how hotly he was being pursued by Gen. Meade, he recalled these advance columns and decided to make a stand at Gettysburg, just a short distance across the Pennsylvania line. You all have heard of the famous battle of Gettysburg, perhaps you have even explored the battlefield, and so much has been written about it that I will not take time here to discuss the plan of battle.

The fight raged for three days, from July the 1st to the 3d, and of the 170,000 men engaged, nearly 50,000 were killed and wounded. But Lee's advance was checked for the second time, and two days after the battle he started to march back into Virginia again. The North was safe from invasion, and the war was to be finished after all upon Southern territory. The battle of Gettysburg was a great mistake upon Lee's part. He had defeated the Union army so often that he had begun to despise it. He thought that one Confederate soldier was as good, if not better, than two Union soldiers, and so he went into battle with only 70,000 men against a well-placed army of more than 90,000. The greatest handicap one can have in a contest of any kind is an underestimation of one's opponent.

3 SUBURBAN MAYORS BEATEN AT POLLS

Woman Alderman Elected, Annexationists Win in Richmond Heights, and Bonds Carry.

Features of the elections in St. Louis County yesterday were the defeat for re-election of Mayors of three of the larger towns, the election of a woman candidate for Alderman in Glendale and the defeat of another in University City, the success in large measure of the new Annexation party in Richmond Heights, which favors extension of the St. Louis city limits, and the apparent passage of bond issue proposals, for a total of $860,000, in three places.

The only county-wide vote was on the superintendency of schools. Rufus G. Russell, who has held the position for eight years, apparently was elected over E. E. Morton, who has been Superintendent of Schools in Clayton for 12 years. The vote for 57 out of 91 districts was 10,005 for Russell and 4056 for Morton, with most of the town and consolidated districts heard from except University City. There were no formal ballots in this election, which was on a nonpartisan basis. The position pays $4000 a year.

All of the school districts, including those in the suburbs, elected new directors.

Results in the towns were as follows:

Webster Groves—Mayor, John B. Chopman, defeating the incumbent, Marshall B. Peterson, 1779 to 1695; Commissioners, Louis F. Booth, an incumbent, and C. A. Reichardt. A proposal to repeal an ordinance against Sunday movies was voted down.

Maplewood—Mayor, Eugene Burks, defeating the incumbent, John D. Schuster, 1737 to 1626; Commissioners, Frank P. Kasper and Theodore W. Weber. During the campaign, Mayor Schuster and one of the present Commissioners, Otto L. Riek, who was defeated for re-election, filed a libel suit for $25,000 damages against Kasper, alleging that he had charged there was a deficiency in the city treasury, whereas, they said, there was a surplus. A similar suit was afterwards filed in behalf of the City of Maplewood.

Ferguson—Mayor, William H. Tiffin, a brother of County Clerk Tiffin, defeating John H. Kinealy, who has been Mayor for 10 years, 493 to 395; City Marshal, who is ex-officio Collector and Street Commissioner, John H. Flood, incumbent; Aldermen, R. M. Tully, I. H. Skinker and G. W. Owen, incumbents, and C. A. Graf and Samuel R. Millman.

Clayton—No contest. Aldermen, Julius Strong, John Lynes, John Eggers, Christ Ruehl and Roy Atwood; Police Judge, Justice of the Peace Henry Stecker. Vote on a bond issue proposal of $185,000 for a new school in the Hi-Pointe district and $5000 for school repairs not compiled, but the proposal is believed to have carried, it being known there were majorities for it in two of the five wards.

University City—Mayor, Warren C. Flynn, re-elected with a vote of 1831, his opponent, Walter Hays, having withdrawn; City Marshal, George Ward; Collector, Patrick H. Powers; Police Judge, A. A. Ladd, all incumbents and unopposed. Aldermen, William W. Butts, Arthur E. Ebbs and William H. Taylor, Ebbs defeated Mrs. J. C. Estes of 24 Yale avenue in the Second Ward, 339 to 158.

The following University City bond issue items totaling $470,000 carried by majorities of 1074 to 1462: $200,000 for three parks, $50,000 for a municipal city hall, $45,000 for a fire engine house and new fire truck; $136,000 for a two-mile sewer along the River des Peres, $35,000 for repaving a section of Delmar boulevard and $4000 for a bridge over the River des Peres at Bartmer and Kingsland avenues. A proposal to annex a square tract of land to fill out the northwestern part of the city and simplify drainage problems, passed, 1496 to 216.

Richmond Heights—City Marshal, John F. Maloney, unopposed; Aldermen, Richard Krohr, W. S. Schmidt, W. Kemp Walker, J. W. Angthius, Richard Stueck and M. O. Gannaway. All but Krohr had the backing of the Annexation party, while the Citizens' party also backed Walker, Stueck and Krohr.

Normandy school district—Proposal for $200,000 bond issue for purchase of Eden Seminary and its 24-acre tract on St. Charles road, for a high school, carried, 922 to 163. The seminary plans to remove.

Kirkwood—No contests. Aldermen, all incumbents, Wallace Bell, Carl C. Irwin, A. S. Cerny and Joseph C. A. Hiller, re-elected.

Valley Park—Aldermen, W. T. Vance, James E. Basham, Fred Coleman, William Lloyd, Homer Heiss and William Young.

Brentwood—No contests. Town Board of Trustees, Charles W. Meyers, W. L. Withrow, L. N. Webster and E. J. Smith, incumbents, and Henry Fellenz, elected.

Glendale—Unopposed incumbents re-elected: Mayor, E. A. Holscher; Collector, Fred Sackbauer; City Marshal, Tom O'Meara; Police Judge, Frank Pauthy. Aldermen from the First Ward, Mrs. Fred Johnson and Dr. Charles R. Burnett, a third candidate being defeated. Alderman from the Second War, Otto Radke.

For Clean Elections.

Mrs. Fred Johnson, who was elected an Alderman of Glendale, is the wife of the manager of the district office here of the Wagner Electric Corporation. They reside at 137 Cornelia avenue. Glendale. Mrs. Johnson is chairman of the Camp Friends Committee of the Eighth District, Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, which has been active in an effort to improve moral conditions along the Meramec River and elsewhere, and intends to continue its activities this summer. She has no politics, she said today, but is "just for clean elections." She expressed a belief that if the county municipalities would co-operate they could accomplish much good for the county.

Alkali In Soap Bad for the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy; it is very cheap and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

What the success of Linoleum in the Kitchen proves

MODERN linoleum came out of the kitchen. That is true. But what brought linoleum out of the kitchen?

Two things. The beautiful, tasteful patterns of modern linoleum made them desirable in other rooms.

And the fact that linoleum has been tested in the kitchens of this country.

It's a test of any material to make it serve as a kitchen floor. Linoleum in the kitchen proved that it was a floor durable, easily cleaned, sanitary, easy to install, nonslippery, nonabsorbent, resilient, restful, quiet, easy to care for.

You can't confine a good floor to the kitchen. People with a talent for interior decoration began to see the possibilities of linoleum for other rooms. And Armstrong's Linoleum was designed in patterns and colors suitable for use in any scheme of interior decoration.

Linoleum has color

Color is of importance in making rooms attractive. Linoleum is made in colors and designs that are as intrinsically attractive as are to be found in any floor material. And this fine linoleum—two-tone Jaspés, carpet inlaids, parquetry inlaids, inset and marble tile inlaids—has all the sturdy and worth-while qualities that made linoleum a success in the kitchen and bathroom.

Look for the CIRCLE "A" trademark on the burlap back

Architects are specifying floors of Armstrong's Linoleum. Women who put linoleum floors in their homes are pleased with them. Good stores carry the new patterns. The value and beauty of linoleum floors is definitely established, and in new homes and old the use of linoleum in other rooms is increasing every day.

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old." The booklet contains a score of colorplates of distinctive designs that you can see at good stores—Jaspés, carpet inlaids, tile inlaids, marble tiles and printed patterns; linoleum rugs printed and inlaid; also, information on laying linoleum and how to care for your linoleum floors.

Joseph Lackland Sr. Elected Mayor of St. Charles.

Joseph Lackland Sr. was elected Mayor of St. Charles yesterday by a plurality of 432 votes, defeating Frank May and Claude Tuttle. Lackland polled 1021 votes, May 594 and Tuttle 585.

Lyman L. Farmer defeated Edward A. Holmes for the city collectorship. R. F. Rego was elected Police Judge over H. C. Phoelke. Henry J. Linnebus was re-elected City Marshal, defeating Edward Duckworth by 542 votes. Linnebus has served 30 years as City Marshal, the election yesterday being for his sixteenth term.

Aldermen were elected as follows: Grover Keys, First Ward; John Dubbert, Second Ward; Frank Cullen, Third Ward, and Harry L. Chrismer, Fourth Ward. For School Board Joseph Herring and George Null were elected.

In the county election Benjamin H. Jolly was chosen County Superintendent of Schools, defeating Franklin McClure, Paul A. Thomsen and Theodore Riske. A proposition to increase the school tax from 40 cents to 70 cents was defeated.

Republicans Win Majority of Offices in Edwardsville.

In Collinsville Township John Davis was elected Supervisor and Jule Maurer, Fred Scharpff and William Jamison, Assistant Supervisors.

Fred Berry was elected Supervisor of Wood River Township with the help of Asa Springer, who withdrew from the race a few days before the election, throwing his strength to Berry. L. E. Roberts and Conrad Fichtel were elected Assistant Supervisors.

John Eible Defeats Mayor Crawford of Alton.

John Eible was yesterday elected Mayor of Alton, defeating Stephen Crawford, incumbent, by a vote of 5565 to 2363. Eible has been an Alderman. John W. Olmstead, a third candidate, received 1307 votes. Eible's vote was the largest ever given a candidate for the mayoralty.

Bart R. Kennedy was re-elected City Clerk, defeating F. B. Bailey by 6479 to 2209. The vote given Kennedy was the largest ever given any candidate in Alton. He has held the office 16 years. O. H. Seibold was nominated and elected without his knowledge, as he is traveling in the Orient. Loeffler moved to St. Louis before the election. It is expected that John A. Nixon, who received the next highest vote, will be Constable. Three other candidates for the constableship died before the election.

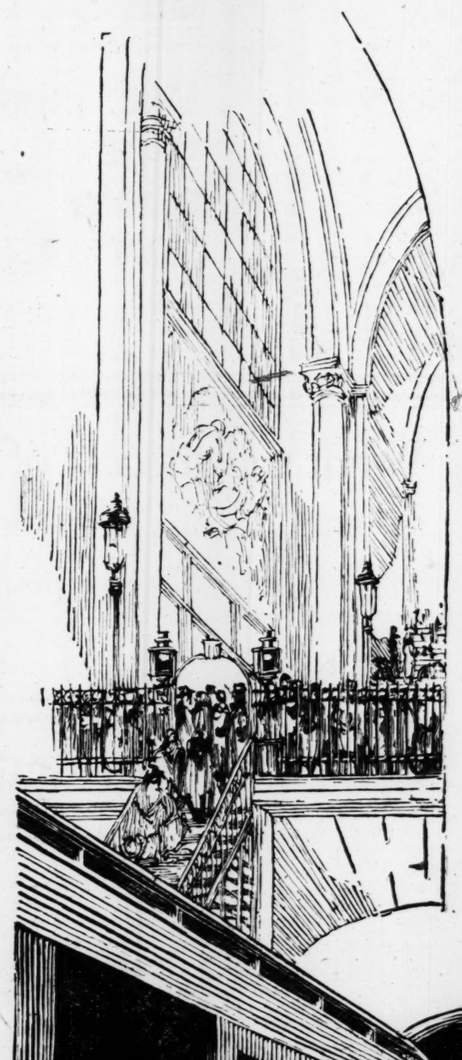
BATTERIES



A little brother to the baggage car

YOU have grown accustomed, these last few years, to seeing little trucks dart around the railroad station, piled mountain-high with trunks. It was only yesterday that this work was done slowly and laboriously by straining man-power.

Nowadays, railroad stations and progressive factories of all kinds move heavy loads about their plants, quickly, economically, and humanely with small industrial trucks and tractors propelled by tireless Exide Batteries.

Exide Batteries propel not only trucks and mine locomotives, but also a majority of the submarines of the world when running submerged. Exides are widely used in radio, for airplane ignition, for power and light on farms, for sending your voice over the telephone and carrying your message over the telegraph wires. They ring the city fire alarms and provide the light you read by in the train.

The rugged battery for your car

Experience in developing batteries for every purpose since there was such a thing as a storage battery is built into the Exide made for your automobile. It is rugged, reliable, and exceptionally long-lasting.

Safety, comfort, and true economy all direct you to the nearest Exide Service Station when you need to replace your present battery.

Inquiries about batteries other than automobile batteries should be addressed to our St. Louis Branch.

Artist recital by Arthur Josefy, baritone; Mrs. James M. Bradford, soprano; Margaret Dee, pianist.

Brigadier-General Herbert M. Lord, Director of the Bureau of the Budget of the United States, will be the headliner on tonight's radio program at Station KSD. Gen. Lord is in St. Louis as the guest of the newly organized association of Government bureau chiefs in this city. He will speak on the radio program about 8:30 o'clock. Other speakers this evening will be Prof. P. H. Ross of the University of Missouri School of Agriculture, and G. E. Wiedemann, consulting chemist of the Missouri Food and Drug Commission.

Choral music was offered to listeners-in by Station KSD last night. The chorus giving the program was the Scottish Rite Choir of St. Louis, and the program was arranged and directed by O. Wade Fallert. The fact that nearly every man in the choir of 42 voices is a concert soloist of note made the entertainment doubly interesting, because soloists as a rule object to choral work, and also because, having highly trained singers in his organization, Director Fallert was able to accomplish things not often even attempted by choral conductors. These solo singers, accustomed to leading, sang absolutely as one man, swayed completely by the will of their leader. Such choral work is seldom heard anywhere.

The concert as a whole was extraordinary. The soloists, all artists who also sang in the choral numbers, gave most satisfying renditions, and the one instrumentalist of the evening—Fred W. Sultan, violinist—added much to the beauty of the program.

In the case of such a concert it is difficult to lay finger on one number and say, "Here is the best." However, standing well to the front was the "Toreador's Song" from "Carmen," which was the first in a group of three selections presented by the St. Louis baritone, Raymond Koch.

An interesting feature of the program was the presentation of a manuscript song of a young St. Louis composer, John Kessler, sung by the composer's father, Dr. J. J. Kessler, the basso soloist of the evening. This was Robert Louis Stevenson's "Requiem" and young Kessler has written a really noble setting for the great poem. Soloists were Clifford L. Irons and Louis F. Hetlage, tenors; Raymund

This Laxative Works Fine on Old People

Thousands have kept themselves healthy with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

ADVANCING age with its subdued ambitions and strivings could be made very happy if only good health accompanied it, and the basis of good health, as everyone learns upon reaching the age of 60, is the regular daily movement of the bowels. If it can be effected through the food you eat, the water you drink and the exercise you take, so much the better. But if nature will not operate it must be assisted or sickness will follow. Neglected constipation causes the blood pressure to go up 28 per cent, and that is the forerunner of hardening of the arteries. It makes rheumatism and gout worse, too.

The ideal constipation remedy for people of advancing years is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is gentle and mild, and does not cramp or gripe. It is a mistake to think you need a violent salt or powder or pill, calomel, coal-tar drugs and such things. They purge and weaken you, and their reaction tends to make you more constipated than before.

Now try the milder method. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect with repeated use, and increased doses are unnecessary. Mrs. E. M. Burgess of Enfield, N. C., who is 73, keeps herself in good health with it, and Mr. Charles Chorman of Stapleton, Staten Island, N. Y., wasted fifteen years and considerable money on other remedies before finding steady relief with Syrup Pepsin.

Use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself the next time you suffer from constipation, biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, piles or night cramps. Many thousands of elderly people use nothing else, and it costs them less than a cent a dose. Druggists have sold it successfully for 30 years, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

JEW DEFEATS KLAN CANDIDATE AT TRENTON

Several Women Elected to Office in Other Missouri Towns and Counties.

TRENTON, Mo., April 4.—Trenton rolled up a heavy vote yesterday against the Ku Klux Klan when Ott Stein was elected Mayor over the Rev. T. M. Johnson, United Brethren minister. A campaign was carried on against Stein by the klan because he was a Jew. The klan was defeated in every ward.

The school district adopted a $200,000 bond issue for a new high school

HERMANN, Mo.—At the school election the proposition to bond the Hermann school district for $50,000 to build a new high school building carried by a big majority. The vote was 416 for and 123 against. The School Board two weeks ago bought the fair grounds at Hermann and then deeded that property to the city of Hermann in exchange for the city park. The latter grounds will be the high school site.

PARIS, Mo., April 4.—W. E. Whitecotton, State Representative from Monroe County, was defeated for membership on the Paris Board of Education, being fourth among five candidates from whom three were to be elected. Whitecotton recently said in the Legislature that farmers' taxes must be reduced if all the school houses in the State had to be nailed up. One new director elected is Mrs. A. C. Deaver, the second woman to be elected to an office in Paris. In the county election Mrs. Julia C. Mason of Paris led Davis H. Acuff of Granville by a vote of 1575 to 785 for the county superintendency of schools in 42 precincts out of 99, including all towns in the county. Her election is conceded. Mrs. Mason is the first woman to be elected to public office in Monroe County. She is a Democrat and at present principal of the Paris Junior High School.

PIEDMONT, Mo.—W. E. Hamacher was elected Mayor. Other city officers elected were Jess Hixson, Marshal, and O. C. Lucy and J. E. Chism, members of the Board of Aldermen. B. A. Lee and J. S. Berryman were elected to the Board of Education.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4.—Cecil W. Thomas, Republican, was elected Mayor in a three-cornered race. Paul Hunt, Republican, running for re-election as an independent, was second, and C. B. Corwin, State Representative, Democrat, was third.

CARTHAGE, Mo.—The Republicans elected three of five councilmen. Candidates indorsed by the Christian Council, an organization composed of various churches, on an alleged blue law platform, were defeated. The injection of the Sunday closing issue resulted in a heavy vote.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—J. W. Fuson and F. A. Carr, regular nominees on the Republican ticket, were elected over Roscoe G. Prescott and G. W. Hagebush, insurgents, nominated by a combined capital and labor group for the school board. Fuson and Carr were elected on the promise of investigating reported mismanagement of school funds. The Fuson-Carr ticket was pledged to oust Edgar Hoffman, secretary of the Board of Education, while the Prescott-Hagebush ticket favored ousting W. W. Thomas, Superintendent of Schools. The Ku Klux Klan, Catholicism, the negro question and a division of the labor element figured in the election.

RICH HILL, Mo.—W. W. Jamison was elected Mayor.

MARYVILE, Mo.—W. O. Garrett defeated F. B. Robinson, now Mayor here, by 244 votes for the mayoralty.

MONROE CITY, Mo.—Monroe City voted overwhelmingly to issue $75,000 bonds for the erection of a new high-school building.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 4.—The entire Democratic ticket was elected in yesterday's city election here. Emmett McDonnell, Democrat, defeated C. B. Rollins Jr., Republican, in the mayoralty race, by a majority of 472.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WARRENSBURG, Mo., April 4.—In the city election held here Tuesday the Democrats made a clean sweep, electing an entire city ticket, headed by Dr. O. B. Hall for Mayor, by majorities ranging from 383 to 445.

Koch, baritone, and Dr. J. J. Kessler, basso. There also were incidental soli in the choral numbers given by C. A. Renard, Julius Langenbach, Hetlage, Koch and Joseph E. Wodica.

What to Eat and Why

A Natural Supply of Vitamin

The word "Vitamin" is new, but the thing itself is as old as the human race. It is the energizing, vitalizing, growth-producing element in the right food. Its absence is a serious fault of the wrong food. When the food is right, there is no need to go to the drug store for Vitamin.

Grape-Nuts, the famous ready-to-eat cereal, supplies the natural Vitamin from the wheat, and a further supply is included in the cream or milk with which Grape-Nuts is eaten.

Grape-Nuts is delightfully crisp and appetizing, with a flavor which happily suggests the wholesome, health-building goodness which the food contains. Phosphorus and iron, as well as Vitamin, with a bran content to stimulate intestinal action, are supplied by Grape-Nuts. Many of our modern, "refined" foods lack these vitally necessary elements.

Grape-Nuts digests easily and is assimilated quickly, and is splendidly nourishing and energizing. You'll find better health and fitness, in the natural way, with Grape-Nuts as a regular part of your diet.

There's genuine economy in Grape-Nuts—many servings of this exceptionally nourishing food to the package. At your grocer's—ready to serve. Grape-Nuts—the Body Builder. "There's a Reason." Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Michigan.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The calonite powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

Is Your Back Giving Out?

IS that constant backache getting on your nerves? Does every morning bring the same dull, throbbing ache—every evening the same utter weariness? Then you should be looking to your kidneys! Winter's colds and chills are mighty hard on the kidneys. That's why Springtime for so many folks is backache time! The kidneys fall behind in filtering the poisons from the blood. The effect on blood and nerves is quickly apparent. Your back aches, you have sharp, stabbing pains; feel nervous, weak and all played out. Headaches come, too, with dizzy spells and annoying bladder irregularities. Don't neglect these early symptoms—delay may mean serious kidney sickness. Help your weakened kidneys now with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Read How These St. Louis Folks Found Relief:

EDWARD J. SCHEER, 2831 N. Spring Av., says: "My whole body was racked with pains. I could hardly move because of those awful pains through my back which darted clear up to my shoulder blades. If someone had stuck me with a knife it could not have hurt more severely. I often had to have help in order to turn in bed. My kidneys did not act right. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, and after using Doan's I was cured."

MRS. DAVID ENGLEHARDT, 3937 LEE Av., says: "I am always ready to speak a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. My back was sore and tired and I could hardly do my housework. It seemed like lumbago. There was an annoying, grinding pain all through my back. But it was Doan's Kidney Pills that brought me out all right, and from that day to this I have always praised them for they do what is claimed for them. Whenever I get the least sign of any of my old trouble I take a few Doan's Kidney Pills and they fix me up again with the same good results."

JOHN ISRAEL, 5520 Oriole Av., says: "I was in the Fire Department for forty years and had many a hard fight with fire and am satisfied that this was responsible for the attacks of lumbago I had. Many times I had to stay at home, as I could not get around enough to get to the fire hall. I couldn't bend over to put on my shoes, and had pains all through me. I tried nearly everything in the line of medicine for kidney trouble, but nothing ever helped me like Doan's Kidney Pills. In a few months after using Doan's all the lameness left me and my back was strong."

Sally's Alley, Best Filly In Training Last Year, May Be Declared Out of Derby

Winner of Two Futurities and Conqueror of the Best Two-Year-Olds in the Country Has Developed Leg Growth and Is Under Veterinarian's Care, Report Says.

By C. S. Reinhart,
Turf Correspondent for the Post-Dispatch at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 4.—As the date of the running of the 1923 Kentucky Derby draws nearer, every day brings forth information that a certain candidate has been withdrawn. The latest information from the East is that Sally's Alley has practically been declared out of the big event.

It is said that the crack daughter of Allumeur-Salvolatile has developed osselets since her arrival at Havre de Grace. A couple of weeks ago a specialist was called to Havre de Grace to treat one of her legs.

That was just before Gene Wayland, her trainer, died. It may be that the development of osselets will prevent her from facing the barrier in the Kentucky classic and she will not make her 1923 debut until later on in the season.

That trouble, and the fact that she is filly are against her chances of success so early in the spring. Sally's Alley was easily the best of the two-year-old fillies last season. The other top-notch fillies were Blossom Time, Betty Beall, Alice Blue Gown, Edict, Out Out, Miss Star, Cresta and How Fair.

Before Gene Wayland died he said that Sally's Alley was the best filly he had ever trained. "That little bay filly with the white face is many pounds better than Careful and Step Lightly," is the way Wayland put it.

Queer Price Against Sally's Alley.

Sally's Alley won five of her starts against the best two-year-olds in training. She had been getting a good play in the future books and the official announcement of her withdrawal, no doubt, would come as a surprise to her many admirers.

Her owner, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, has other representatives in the rich classic. In the event that Sally's Alley is not in condition to start, he still has two representatives in Sunference and Sun Fey, a black filly by Sun Briar-St. Fey. This one faced the barrier four times last season but was unable to get out of the maiden class.

Sunference, a fine chestnut colt by Sun Briar-Conference, will more than likely be the color bearer for the Kilmer stable. This colt won one race last season, defeating Cherry Pie, Bud Lerner and Zev. They think a great deal of Sunference in the East. The future book layers here think little of his chances for they are quoting him freely at 100 to 1.

Enchantment Doing Well.

Enchantment is doing well at Brookdale and reports have him going along nicely in his gallops. Furthermore, he is said to be showing no signs of temper which hampered his work considerably last season. His record shows that not once in his 11 starts as a two-year-old was he in a mood to get away from the gate ahead of his field. The nearest the son of Chicle came to beating the gate was at Havre de Grace when he got away third and finished the race ahead of Better Times and Cartoonist.

In practically all of his races he has been left flatfooted at the barrier. They say that Jimmy Rowe has about broken the colt of this bad habit. But just the same, it would be much better for patrons of racing to wait and see him perform in public before they hazard too much on him winning the Derby.

Sally's Alley Quoted At 20 to 1 in Winter Books, Price Too Long

SALLY'S ALLEY, despite her marvelous record, was not favorite for the Derby. In fact her price, which opened at 15 to 1, went up as high as 25 to 1, arousing much curiosity and considerable future play.

Eventually her price dropped back to 20 to 1, where it stood this morning, locally.

On her past performance she appears to be entitled to favoritism for the race over Enchantment, except by reason of her sex which is supposed to militate against her condition, in the spring.

Sally's Alley led all two-year-olds in winnings, last year, with $98,847 total. Included in her five victories were the classic Belmont Futurity and later the first half of the Pimlico Futurity.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Time to Wake Up.

ON the theory that the Browns have been a one-man baseball club, critics throughout the country are arranging for the Browns a final resting place in second division. They figure Sisler is out of it, at least for many weeks; and that, therefore, the Yanks, Tigers, White Sox, Athletics and other clubs should beat us out.

The worst of it all is that the Brown players themselves seem to take the same attitude while members of the club management are coddling the men along with encouragement as to the date of Sisler's return to the field.

The Sisler complex is made up of sinus trouble, eye trouble and doubt as to the great player's shoulder—and the last is the least. Sisler's vision impairment has shown improvement, in the last few days; and it is possible that his sinus trouble will also succumb to treatment quickly.

But it would seem that the better policy on the part of the club and the players would be to settle down to strengthen the club, on the basis that Sisler will not be back in the game soon, thus forestalling early the worst possible contingency.

A Case of Psychology.

THE club is a good one without Sisler. It can stand on its own. If it realizes that it must do this now it will cope with the absence of the star better than by a policy of "wait 'til Sis gets back."

The club this year has greatly improved in pitching strength. Its outfield is probably better than formerly and its infield will be sound if a first-class first baseman can be signed or developed. The hitting punch is there. It has nationally-known stars in Severeid, Williams, Tobin, Baby Doll Jake, Shocker, Pruett, Gerber and others. It should, therefore, not lack confidence.

Last year the club slowed to a whisper when Sisler was hurt. That was psychological. The club's mental attitude toward Sisler's absence then cost it one pennant. The same attitude this year will cost it another chance.

Getting Away With It.

WRESTLING is not the only game that is putting something over. In St. Paul they sent old broken-down Mike O'Dowd to the shambles against Jock Malone, one of the best in the middleweight class. Here's what the Boxing Blade has to say of this bout:

"O'Dowd was not in fit shape to fight, although the examining physician allowed him to pass.

"It had been common knowledge for a week that Mike was not fit to fight a man like Malone. He had been knocked down in training bouts by sparring partners using big gloves.

"Mike had a hard time keeping on his feet, owing to a leg that appeared to be paralyzed.

"The night of the Malone fight he came in with his knee bandaged and it was so weak that he could barely climb into the ring. In fact, he had to be helped into the ring by a second on whose arm he leaned. He looked like a cripple being assisted to a chair.

"The fight lasted one minute and 15 seconds and Malone landed only three blows. They were enough."

Minnesota has a commission. Still they get away with that.

TWENTY-EIGHT TEAMS REMAIN IN NATIONAL BASKETBALL TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Disappointment and joy were the mixed feelings apparent as the University of Chicago's national invitation intercollegiate basketball tourney opened its second day, winners of the first day's game, representing virtually every section of the nation, were jubilant and anxiously awaited the next opponent that stands between them and the tournament title. Losers of the first day's contest, some of whom traveled more than a thousand miles, keenly felt the quick ruin done to their championship hopes.

While the afternoon games were decisive, some of the night contests were fought with teams neck and neck until the last few minutes of play, two games going into an extra period.

Today and tonight, 28 teams will battle on the court of the university's gymnasium.

The team from Hagerman, N. M., that learned the game on a dirt court without the aid of a coach, was defeated by Hyde Park of Chicago, 41 to 21.

Giants Certain to Cop, Says Gleason

Manager of White Sox Believes New York Greatest Club He Has Ever Seen.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The Giants should sweep easily to their third successive National League championship and maybe to their third world's championship, in the opinion of Kid Gleason, veteran manager of the White Sox.

Prevented by rain from continuing his team's exhibition tussle with the Giants at Fort Worth, Manager Gleason gave his opinions of both clubs, and his own, he confessed, will finish well up at the top, fighting.

"Take it from me, it's a cinch for the Giants to win another pennant," said the Kid. "They are far and away the class of their league, one of the greatest ball clubs I ever saw. Of course, I have not seen either the Pirates or the Reds who are supposed to furnish the fighting for the Giants this year, but I can't imagine anybody stopping McGraw's club.

"It has everything—pitching, speed, hitting, confidence, daring—ch, just everything. It must be wonderful to manage a bunch like that—always trying and always fighting. I like the Giants in every position. The Giants look a lot speedier than they did last year. They take long chances and they make the most of them, that's my kind of baseball, run out every opportunity to the limit.

"The confidence of having two world's championships is behind that. The boys have class and they know it."

JACK MINNER ELECTED CAPTAIN OF PIKER FIVE

Jack Minner, a sophomore, was elected captain of the 1924 Washington University basketball team at a meeting of the Pikeway squad last night. Minner played at left forward during the season just closed and was second high point getter for the Missouri Valley conference. His home is at Sparta, Ill.

Al Schnauss was also nominated for the captaincy, but he withdrew in favor of Minner who was thereupon unanimously elected. "Bodidy" Thumser, the retiring captain, will be graduated in June. He is the only member of the 1923 team that will be lost by graduation.

Benny Leonard's Cafe Under Fire

Internal Revenue Agents Endeavoring to Close the "Ringside" by Injunction.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Developments of the last 24 hours indicate an early return to affairs of the fist by Benny Leonard, prominent actor and cafe proprietor. Business is very, very bad just now, as far as Benny's multifarious interests are concerned, and is becoming steadily worse.

Flaunting a care-free toe before the footlights has ceased to be a lucrative occupation, and now the "infernal" revenue agents are threatening to padlock the Ringside, Leonard's palace of joy, for a period of a year.

The ringside is one of five Broadway places against which an injunction will be applied for today on the ground that they are "public nuisances."

Friedman First on List.

Therefore, Benny is beginning to look about him for a casual jaw or two. He has several in mind, including those in the possession of Lew Tendler, Charley White, Rocky Kansas and Sailor Friedman. The Sailor's, it is understood, is to be first jaw accommodated.

The three big holiday dates of the summer season, Memorial day, July 4 and Labor day, are being held open by all promoters with the idea of scheduling either Leonard or Jack Dempsey in championship bouts on those occasions.

BABE RUTH IN THROES OF HITTING SLUMP AS YANKEES MOVE NORTH

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Correspondents traveling North with the New York Yankees reported today that Babe Ruth was in the throes of one of his worst batting slumps and that it had the Bambino perceptibly worried.

In spite of the Babe's zeal in training this year, his successful effort in getting down to weight and his earnestness in discipline he has failed to produce hits, long or short. He seems to have difficulty in meeting the ball and becomes concerned when the pitcher gets two strikes on him, a status that was mirth provoking for him in former years.

Experts who have studied the Babe and his baseball for years believe that his difficulty may be due to over-anxiety.

Commission Tells Promoters Tom Must Whip Champion's Former Sparring Mate First.

By Bert Igoe,
The Post-Dispatch Eastern Boxing Authority.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Tom Gibbons may have his big dream come true—the chance to box Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship of the world.

William F. Sailor of the Minnesota Boxing Commission visited William Muldoon and the New York board, yesterday, and requested that the proud son of Minnesota be given an opportunity to prove that he is a better man than Dempsey.

After listening to Sailor the commissioners told him that Gibbons would be allowed to fight Dempsey, if he first stops Jack Renault. There was a conference over it.

Sailor pointed out that size, the one thing that prompted Muldoon to put the ban on a Dempsey-Gibbons fight, meant nothing. He argued that the best man in history scaled about what Tom does. He was right, there, for Jim Corbett weighed about the same as Gibbons does now when he defeated Sullivan. Fitzsimmons was between 160 and 170 pounds when he fought Corbett, and Dempsey was as low as 188 the day he fought Carpentier. Gibbons and Carpentier are about the same in heft, but not as fighters. Tom might whip Georges as quickly as the champion did.

When told that Gibbons could earn recognition by first whipping Renault, Sailor said that there was no question that Gibbons would remove the Canadian if he was the real boulder in Tom's path. He left, happy over what he believed to be the certain meeting of Dempsey and Gibbons for the title.

Rather an interesting twist, with Renault having all the better of it, if opportunity counts for anything. For, if he whips Gibbons, why can deny him a fight for Dempsey's title?

Polo Grounds Club Gets License.

The Boxing Commission put in a busy day. First of all, silver-topped Tom O'Rourke, like a naughty boy who had been caught in the jam closet, was hauled in on the official carpet and given quite a lecture for alleged transgressions of the boxing rules. He was charged with disorderly conduct at the Pioneer Sporting Club while the bout between Kid Norfolk and Jack Taylor was in progress and for acting as a manager of a boxer while holding the position of matchmaker for a club.

Tom was threatened with being put to bed without his supper and then they sent O'Rourke away in high glee with Charley Stoneham of the Giants when they handed the pair a license for the newly organized Polo Grounds Athletic Club.

With a license to back them up, the club will now urge the reinstatement of Johnny Kilbane that he may be enabled to go through with his bout with Eugene Criqui on June 2.

Oklahoma Beats Nebraska.

NORMAN, Ok., April 4.—A single and two home runs in the ninth inning enabled the University of Oklahoma to come from behind and make it two straight from the University of Nebraska here yesterday. The score was 7 to 5. Seven errors against Johnson were responsible for Nebraska scoring in the early innings.

You May Look Over the Brooklyn Dodgers but You Won't See Much

Team's Infield and Outfield Doubtful, Its Catching Staff Lacks Experienced Talent and the Hurling Future Is Up to the Team's Veterans, Some of Whom Are Pading.

Below is Article No. 3 of the series designed to acquaint Post-Dispatch readers with the up-to-date prospects of the various major league clubs. A number of St. Louisans with the Dodgers makes this team's future of interest to the Mound City fans.

NO. 3—THE BROOKLYN DODGERS.

By Herman Wecke,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

I had a good look at the Brooklyn club during its stay at Clearwater. Looking doesn't do much good when there isn't much to see—and that's the case with the team that was once known as the "Superbas." Little about the Dodgers of today is superb.

To begin with, the club has had difficulty signing some of its players, and even if Andy High, the St. Louis boy; Wheat and Ruether are all on the job ultimately, as expected, the team will be off to a slow start.

Fournier's failure to report has caused an acuteness in the first-base situation, more especially as Branch Rickey is said to have exercised his own option on Ray Schmandt, another St. Louis product, and the only veteran first sacker left to the Dodgers.

Fournier pulled a rough trick when he failed to come through and join Brooklyn as part of the Cardinal deal, for Myers has already joined the Cardinals, and Schmandt is pledged to go wherever Rickey assigns him. At last accounts this was to have been Houston, Tex. Probably, in Brooklyn's plight, he will be retained by the Dodgers.

Mullen a St. Louisan.

There are several likely looking candidates with the Dodgers this spring. Among them are Billy Mullen, the St. Louis boy, who is being given a whirl at third base, with his fellow citizen, High, as holdout. Stewart, another infielder; Schleibner and Post, first sackers; Dickerman, pitcher, and Taylor, a catcher, loom up as mighty promising candidates.

The trade which sent Hi Myers to the Cardinals has left a gap in the Superba outfield. Wheat, Tom Griffith and Bert Griffith, still another Mound Cityan, who is forced to go slow because of an injured ankle, are counted upon as the regulars. The others are Neis, with the team last year; Barber, obtained from the Cubs, and Bailey, a rookie. Not a sensational lot.

Fournier "crossing" those who said he was merely holding out for more money, has signed to manage the Centralia (Ill.) team and seems hopelessly lost. This makes the initial station loom up like an aching void. If Ray Schmandt should not be available, his successor would have to be chosen from the youngsters Schleibner and Post. Schleibner, one of the best hitters in the Southern League a year ago, is showing fairly in training games.

Andy High Is Absent.

At second base, the veteran Ivan Olson and Stewart from the Southern Association, who has had previous tryouts in the majors, are battling. Jimmy Johnston is a sure shot for short, while with High absent, Mullen and McCarren are fighting it out at the hot corner.

The Dodgers this season will have a young catching staff made up of DeBerry, Hungling and Taylor. All are graduates from the Southern. Hargraves also is being given a tryout, but will hardly make the grade.

Without a doubt, two new pitchers will get berths with the club. They are George Smith, who came from the Phillies in exchange for Clarence Mitchell and Dickerman, one of the stars of the Southern Association in 1922. In all, Robinson has 14 pitchers in camp this spring.

Veterans on the Toboggan.

Two or three years ago that staff of veteran hurlers would have made atonement for all shortcomings of the club. Grimes, Ruether, Cadore and Mamaux. Today it is a question how many of them will be memories.

On the whole the club appears to lack any convincing feature and to be off to an indifferent training start. If it comes through during the regular season to a high place in second division it will have done more than any one can expect of it.

It is understood that Andy High, St. Louisan who has failed to join the Brooklyn club because of salary differences, will patch up his disagreement within a day or two. It is expected that High will be with the Dodgers before the end of the week. In this event, Billy Mullen will probably be shifted to second base.

Jack Fourier last night averred that he has no intention of joining Brooklyn. He reiterates that he is sincere in his intention to retire from big league baseball for business reasons.

Ray Schmandt, Brooklyn's only other experienced first baseman, will join the Houston club of the Texas League, to which team he was sent in line with the Fournier for Myers-Schmandt trade with the Cardinals.

Award District Golf Tourney to Algonquin, June 2

Louis Rosen, Westwood, Elected President of Local Governing Body.

District Association Seeks to Bring 2 Big Golf Tournaments Here

THE St. Louis District Golf Association will attempt to ave the women's national and the national open golf tournaments held here, Frank F. Nall, secretary of the association, said today. He added that in the event the quest was unsuccessful this year, redoubled efforts would be made to bring them here in 1924.

Professional golfers will be brought here during th epresent season to illustrate varieties of shots and play exhibition matches.

Louis Rosen, former president of the Westwood Country Club, was elected president of the St. Louis District Golf Association, succeeding Dr. Willis Hall, at a meeting last night at the Racquet Club. Christian Kenney of Sunset Hill Country Club was elected vice-president and Frank B. Nall of Normandie Golf Club secretary-treasurer.

The association awarded the annual district tournament to the Algonquin Club, to be held the week of June 2 to 9. This date will permit St. Louis golf stars to compete in the local championship and then permit them to play in the State, Trans-Mississippi and Western tournaments in order. Clarence L. Wolff, Sunset Hill, is the present champion.

Two New Clubs.

It was voted last night to admit two new clubs to membership in the association, Riverview Club of St. Louis and the Rock Springs Country Club of Alton. It was also decided to increase the number of delegates from each club from two to five. President Rosen said the object of this move was to increase the number of men who have a direct interest in the association and who are anxious to advance the game locally.

President Rosen said that the association would again hold a junior city tournament which was inaugurated last year. Mark C. Steinberg and Clarence L. Wolff, district champion, will again handle the tournament.

William Medart of Sunset Hill Country Club defeated Johnny Isaacs of Westwood Country Club for the title last year.

Browns Hope Improved Pitching Will Nullify Sisler's Absence; Fritsch Confers With Players

Foibles Will Be Weakened Defensively on Infield as Well as at Bat, but Pruett, Thurston, Vangilder, Shocker Et Al Are Expected to Hold Enemy Clubs in Check.

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 4.—The Browns are on the last lap of their spring training exhibition tour. Today and tomorrow they meet the Columbus Club of the American Association, Friday, Saturday and Sunday they play the New Orleans Club of the Southern Association, and then after two games in Memphis, they return to St. Louis where two games with the Cardinals will be played as the final preparatory workout for the opening of the American League campaign.

Walter Fritsch, vice-president of the club, joined the team yesterday morning and attempted to convey a cheering message in regard to George Sisler's absence from the game.

The Browns hope that the marked improvement in the pitching staff will serve to nullify the absence of the team's greatest individual asset.

Pitching Much Stronger.

It can be stated without fear of contradiction that as fas as pitching is concerned the Browns are much stronger than they were in 1922. Pruett alone make that statement stand up. Then there are Vangilder, Wright and Shocker, who can be counted on to win more games than they did last year. Davis ought to do as well if not better. If Thurston and Elliott do anything it will be pure gain over 1922. But, for a pitcher on the staff has gone back. Every man is in better condition than when last season's campaign started.

The outfield will be as good as it was last year defensively. On the attack it should be stronger. Williams ought to hit more home runs. Jacobson will hit or he will be replaced by a man who can hit. Tobin promises to have the best year of his career.

In the infield, the team will be as strong defensively as last year except at first base. Gene Robertson will make a great third baseman. Predicting the Browns' finish is a matter of going around in a circle. You always return to George Sisler's absence and that big problem at first base.

Rain Halts Game.

Rain yesterday afternoon halted the final game at Shreveport, just as the Fohlmen were beginning to forge their way to victory. In five innings the Browns had been held to one hit. They had collected two hits and two runs in the sixth and had two men on base with one out when the rain interferred. The score reverted back to the end of the fifth and the game thus ended a tie, 4 to 4.

Perhaps it was the eagerness of the Brownies to hit in the presence of Walter Frisch, or perhaps they really ran into some good pitching. At any rate, they certainly were helpless in the early innings. For three frames they faced Paul Johnson, a right-hander with a good curve and no control. Johnson held the Fohlmen to one hit. However, two bases on balls and an error preceded that one hit. Those passes and the boot filled the bases and so that one bingle, which was a home run by Marty McManus, gave the Fohlmen four runs.

In the fourth and fifth Happy Foreman, from Bastrop, La., made the Brownies look amateurish. Three of the Browns struck out, one was nipped off first after walking and two others grounded out to the infield.

Then in the sixth, Durst walked, Williams filed out and Jacobson hit over the left field fence for a home run. McManus bunted safely and Severeid walked. Foreman was weakening when the rain came.

Root Needs Work.

Charley Root, young right-hander from Terre Haute, was the Browns' flinger. For three innings he looked like Mathewson. Not a man reached first till the fourth, when Charley lost his control, walked two batters, hit another and was touched for a single. Charley was winded and two bunts went safe. Before he could pull himself together three runs crossed the plate. Root has not had enough work. A brilliant prospect, he has been handicapped by lack of opportunity to pitch. Twelve throwers are too many on one squad and Root simply grew tired after three frames. He struck out four of the nine batters in the three first innings. With a club where he would be forced to pitch every fourth day Root probably would develop into a brilliant pitcher. If he stays with the Browns his work will be restricted to pitching in batting practice.

EDDIE CICOTTE, former Chicago White Sox pitcher, who left organized baseball following the world's series expose in 1920, today accepted appointment as a Michigan Game Warden, John Baird, head of the Conservation Department, announced tonight.

Cicotte's salary will be about $3 a day, officials said. The White Sox paid him $12,000 a year in addition to a bonus.

CHAMPIONS LYNCH AND GENARO TO APPEAR IN CHICAGO RING TONIGHT

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 4.—For the second time in a month Chicago boxing fans, denied public boxing for a score of years, tonight will see a world's champion in action. The exhibition will be supported by the ring appearance of an American champion.

Joe Lynch of New York, bantamweight champion of the world, will meet Midget Smith of New York in a 10-round no-decision bout, and Frankie Genaro of New York, the American flyweight champion, will have as an opponent Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., in another contest under the same conditions.

In the third 10-round go, Patsy Flanagan of St. Louis, Mo., and Jack Elle of Chicago, bantamweights, will start.

After a long period of boxing by stealth to evade the stringent Illinois antiprize fight law, the sport emerged to the open recently with a titular contest between Lynch and Joe Burman of Chicago, which drew approximately 12,000 persons, with $48,000 paid at the gate.

Tonight's matches, in the Chicago Coliseum, scene of many national conventions and other notable gatherings, promises to draw more than $50,000, with the house sold out.

The net proceeds of the exhibition will go to an orphanage. It will be protected from legal interference by the usual writ of injunction restraining the police, Sheriff, Coroner and all others.

Kirk Wins From Fenchel.

Harry Kirk played brilliantly in defeating Saul Fenchel, 50 to 29, in the local amateur three-cushion billiard championship tournament at Peterson's. The title has already been won but several players are now engaged in a playoff for fifth and sixth places. Tonight Dr. Macklin will oppose Fenchel.

Toney and Doak Being Saved for Detroit Series

Veteran Hurlers Not Expected to Rejoin Cardinals Until Next Sunday.

By Herman Wecke,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

DOTHAN, Ala., April 4.—The cross-country barnstorming drive of the Cardinal baseball team landed the track-sore St. Louisans in this little burg today for another scheduled game with the clan of George Stallings, the Rochester baseball club.

If the Cardinals this spring fail to break all records for exploring virgin territory, it will not be the fault of Walter Hapgood, secretary of the Rochester club. Asked to explain how he discovered so many unknown localities, Hapgood replied that the real surprise was "the number of other towns that were begging for a chance to see the great Rogers Hornsby."

There was some disappointment over the failure to play at Andalusia yesterday. That town, although boasting only 4000 inhabitants, has a real baseball diamond. Rickey made his athletes practice on it, despite the rain, so the day was not a total loss.

Unless the weather again interferes, Bill Sherdel, the little southpaw who has shown better than any of Rickey's flingers to date, and Bill Pertica or Lester Sell will, without a doubt, be called upon to oppose George Stallings' outfit this afternoon. John Miljus, at one time a member of the Brooklyn club, and Keenan, the little southpaw, last spring with the Phillies, are scheduled to work for Rochester.

New Policy Next Spring?

Since the Cardinals left Florida three of the exhibition games have been called off because of rain. If more postponements occur it is probable that next spring the exhibition games scheduled will be cut down considerably.

It was to find out what his recruit ballplayers could do under fire that Rickey scheduled so many early contests this year. Nine contests still remain to be played, three with the International League aggregation and half a dozen with the Detroit Tigers. The six battles with the Tigers will wind up the cross-country jaunt of the Rickeymen.

Enough Said.

At a luncheon given the Cardinals and the Rochester athletes by the Andalusia Rotary Club yesterday, Heine Mueller was the only athlete who requested a chance to talk. And there was no trouble in getting the request granted.

Mueller's speech was a Patrick Henry. He said: "Mr. Chairman, I am not much on speechmaking, but I certainly can hit that American egg. I thank you."

Toney and Doak Still Absent.

Manager Rickey to date has made no announcement as to when he will ask Fred Toney and Bill Doak, veteran righthanders, to rejoin the club. However, the chances are that it will not be until next Sunday, when the aggregation is opposing the Detroit Tigers.

Max Flack, the little outfielder, who will be the team's regular right fielder this season, will be given a chance in every game when the club is playing on a real field. Flack has been hitting like a fiend this spring.

The little meadowman who, at Bradentown, did nothing but bat, has made six hits in seven appearances at the plate in the contests in which he has participated this spring. He has had little to do in the field, but that little was done in perfect style.

THREE-CUSHION TITLE TOURNEY WILL OPEN IN ST. LOUIS, APRIL 9

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 4.—Dates for a world's championship three-cushion billiard tournament, to follow the season's play of the National League, were announced here today by Secretary Scanlon. Each of the first four players finishing the league race will play the others.

The four players will compete in Kansas City April 12, 13 and 14. The New York series will begin April 18 and the concluding games will be played in Philadelphia April 23, 24 and 25.

The championship will be decided on a percentage basis of the games won and lost. The receipts will be pooled among the players, the winner getting 40 per cent; second, 30 per cent; third, 20 per cent, and fourth, 10 per cent.

INDOOR NET CHAMPS REACH THIRD ROUND

Garbutt, South Africa, who were advanced to the third round through the default of P. C. Hart, Canada, and partner.

Francis T. Hunter, New York, national singles champion, and Vincent Richards, Yonkers, former titleholder, playing as partners, advanced to the third round by defeating Charles A. Anderson, Brooklyn, and W. M. Fischer, New York, 6—2, 8—6, in the first round, and J. F. Allen and Frank Whitcomb, New York, 6—0, 6—0, in the second.

VESPERS WILL NOT MEET PETERSON CLUB

A wire received today from Winton E. Barker, president, and Phil Riley, treasurer of the St. Louis Soccer League, who are now in New York, carries the information that they would advise against a game between the Vesper-Buicks, new champions of the local league, and the Paterson Football Club at this time. The wire does not give details.

The Vesper-Buick team recently forwarded a challenge to Thomas Cahill, honorary secretary of the U. S. F. A., and requested that he transmit it to the Paterson club. It is presumed that Cahill conferred with Barker and Riley on the matter. This is taken as tantamount to a rejection of the challenge.

Bowler Establishes New World Mark

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 4.—A new world's record, changes among the five leaders of the all-events, singles and doubles featured in the American Bowling Congress tournament yesterday. William Knox of Philadelphia, in a performance which transcended that of C. Daw of Milwaukee, who last week established a new mark in the all-events when he totaled 2019—in his nine games, yesterday toppled the score of Daw by five pins and set a new record.

Knox, who rolled with the Quaker team of Philadelphia, on Monday night scored 618 points in the team event, added 686 sticks to a 1302 fourth-place count collected by him and his partner, C. Trucks, in the doubles, and scored 715 in the singles, good for third place. Knox started his singles with a 192 game, followed with 244 in his second game and 279 in the third, giving him the high single game of the tournament.

18-Year-Old Filipino Sprinter Covers 100 Yards in 9 4-5 Seconds

NEW YORK, April 4.

A FORMIDABLE rival of Charley Paddock and other American sprinting stars has been uncovered in the Philippines, according to word received from athletic authorities in Manila.

The new track sensation is Eortunate Catalon, an 18-year high school youth, who was credited with running 100 yards in 9 4-5 seconds on tree consecutive days at recent tryouts for the 1923 Far Eastern games. Five watches clocked Catalon each day and several of them caught him in 9 3-5 seconds, the world's record.

Catalon, who won the 100, 200 yard dashes at the Far Eastern games in 1921, will be sent to the Olympics in 1924 to test his speed with American and European stars.

St. Teresas Challenge DeLuxe.

The St. Teresa's soccer team, through Manager J. B. Moran, has issued a challenge to the De Luxe independent team. The De Luxe own a 1-to-0 victory over the St. Teresa stars.

"Let me make you a cigar"

I HAD occasion recently to explain the manufacture of La Palina cigars to several business men. I brought from the factory the various tobaccos of which La Palina is made, and rolled several cigars for them to smoke.

I wish I could do this for you. It would be easy for you to understand, then, why there are over one hundred and fifty million La Palinas smoked in the United States in a year.

You could see, for instance, the delicate texture of the fine imported tobacco, free from heavy stems and veins; you could smell its exquisite bouquet, even in the leaf; you could see how this tobacco is combined, as the cigar is rolled, to produce a flavor that is full bodied and rich, yet always mild; you could see how the fragrant leaf tips, the finest part of the tobacco, are distributed throughout the length of each cigar.

Then you could see how the wrapper adds to your enjoyment of La Palina. You could see how fine it is in texture, how pliable, the lasting moisture it contains; how its own delicate aroma blends with the fine imported filler. And you could see why it is responsible for the even burning character of La Palina.

In short, if I could make you one La Palina I am sure you would always smoke this cigar. But since I cannot do this, I do assure you that each La Palina at the cigar counter is made exactly as though it had been rolled for you.

CHANGES SMALL AND IRREGULAR ON STOCK MARKET

Bonds Fairly Active and Firm—Lower Trend to Call Money Rate — Exchange Irregular.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"A tendency to quiet down after recent disturbances was apparent in the chief speculative markets today. Stocks opened steady and a certain amount of strength in steel shares was apparent during the first hour. Subsequently the announcement of the offering of some $14,000,000 of new stock to the stockholders of the Westinghouse company brought a drop of 3 points in the shares of that company. The market then flattened out and remained dull during the rest of the day. At the close changes were fractional and were irregularly distributed. Bonds were fairly active and remained firm, and call money again displayed an easier tone. After opening at 5 per cent, the rate on the Stock Exchange was reduced to 4½ at noon and to 4 toward the end of the fourth hour. The rate had not been as low as 4 per cent since Feb. 16.

Exchange Market Irregular.

"With trading still fairly active, the foreign exchanges were irregular. Sterling continued to be offered on a fairly large scale, but lost only ¼ of a cent at $4.66¾. In this connection London is inclined to explain the recent reaction on the theory that Americans who have taken profits on British securities are now taking their money home. It is also pointed out that, recent heavy buying of commodities abroad by Americans is not likely to be maintained. French francs, meanwhile, were weak on their own account, dropping at London to a 6.45 cent basis and rallying here to 6.52 cents, which was 6 points below the previous close. Italian lire remained firm and German marks were steady. Brazilian milreis continued weak, losing another 10 points at 10.50 cents.

"More bad weather in the South assisted a continuation of yesterday's rally in cotton, but profit-taking on the rise wiped out the early gains. Thus May sold as high as 29.48 cents, but was off 4 points at a late price of 29.05 cents. Considering the strength of the rally, which on a day, the profit-taking movement was not surprising. Wheat remained quite dull, May being ¼ of a cent lower at $1.20½.

Steel Industry Situation.

"As had been anticipated, pig iron production broke all records in March. This applies both to the aggregate output and the daily rate, the latter at 113,590 tons comparing with the war-time peak of 111,139 reached in October, 1916. The capacity of the furnaces active on April 1, furthermore, amounted to 115,500 tons a day, which suggests that another new record will be attained in April. Every blast furnace in the Pittsburg district is now in blast and only a few others are idle in other districts. Demand for steel products meanwhile continues strong. Despite recent heavy railway buying, orders from this quarter are still below requirements, owing to delay in the delivery of equipment and right of way. Automobile makers have come into the market for the second half year and implement manufacturers are increasing their commitments. The price situation is more stable. Iron Age reports a slight increase in its steel products index, but states that the larger producers consider that prices are high enough."

Wall Street News and Comment

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The stock market went through a series of confused fluctuations without very definite tendency in either direction. Final price changes were a mixture of small losses and small gains without much advantage on either side. The trading element sold stock in the last half hour and succeeded in giving the market at the close a rather unstead appearance although without developing any real weakness. One of the few features of the day was the rise in some of the steel shares.

The outstanding feature was the activity and strength of the independent steel shares.

Westinghouse Electric fell sharply for a time preceding the report of a new offering of nearly $15,000,000 stock at $53, that is almost 10 points under recently prevailing market prices. The sock steadied later.

The oil shares as a group felt the effects of heavy profit taking.

Maxwell Motors issues were again bid up.

The call money market was the easiest of any day for a month. Surplus funds employed in day to day Stock Exchange loans were actually going begging and in the afternoon the pressure of this money upon the market forced the rate down to 4 per cent. This produced some effect upon the attitude of time money lenders who were more liberal in their offerings than they have been in some time.

By contrast with other days the afternoon stock market was dull. Here and there stocks in the hands of pools were bid up, but there was very little spontaneous action either on the buying or selling side.

Mack Trucks with another jump over 3 points, making a total gain of 8 points from the low of the previous day, was a feature of the afternoon trading.

The Bond Market.

The bond market was strong today and more active than in a long while. The chief strength was not shown in the United States Government issues, which moved irregularly, but certain class of rails and utilities. Inquiry for bonds of this description on behalf of institution again was reported very good. Both on the exchange and in trades over the counter advances were reported. Gains ranged from a half a point to more than a point, which in bonds of this character is substantial.

The more speculative issues were not so prominent in the day's trading. A notable exception was all three issues of Wilson & Co., the first 6s, the convertible 6s and the convertible 7½s. In the case of the last two named the gain was over 2 points and in the case of the first about 1½ points.

Other interesting incidents of the day were a gain of a point and a half in Chicago Railway's 5s, and a remarkable jump at the opening in B. & O. first 4s, a part of which gain, however, was later lost. Foreign bonds were firm.

PRICES ARE IRREGULAR IN TRADE ON NEW YORK CURB

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The curb market for a time today was disposed to continue the recovery which set in the early hours Tuesday, but the upward movement proved to be shortlived and around midafternoon renewed selling was encountered.

Vacuum Oil managed to maintain most of its advance of the morning and at one time was up 5 points from the previous close. Trading in the independent group was uninteresting and changes for the most part were small.

The upward movement in the new Midvale Corporation of Delaware shares continued, with the stock of the old Midvale Steel on the big board. This new corporation was organized to take over the Nicetown plant, which did not go with the others into the Bethlehem merger. Each holder of 100 shares of Midvale Steal received 10 shares in the stock of the new Delaware corporation.

The new issues of Bridgeport Machine Co. common and preferred were admitted to trading on the common opening at 15¾, but subsequently breaking below 15 against the subscription price of $14 a share.

Report that the directors of United Shoe Machinery Corporation will propose an increase in the authorized capital stock at the annual meeting of stockholders in May from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000, consisting of 500,000 shares of preferred stock and 2,000,000 common shares of $25 par value had little effect upon the stock.

Mining shares did little one way or the other. Cortez Silver continued one of the active leaders of the low-priced members.

Dry Goods Market Review.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The market for cotton cloths was steady today with a fairly firm undertone, but activity was not in evidence. Print cloth prices showed no change, the 64 by 60s remaining at 11c and the 68 by 72s at 12½c. Sheetings were a trifle stronger on inquiries from the bag trade, but mills were not anxious to make commitments far into the future. Sateens and pajama checks were in fair demand, but fine fabrics were dull.

The raw silk market rose to high levels for the year today reflecting an active market and price advances in Yokohama. Trading was not particularly active here. Quotations: XXA 13x15 and 20x22 denier, $9.30; XXB, $9.25; extra, $9.15; best No. 1, $8.12½; best No. 1, $9.11; kausal, canton, 14x16, $8.85; canton, $8.25.

Corn showed better tone than wheat on the Merchants' Exchange today. The fine grain was influenced on one hand by ¾c to 1¢ higher close at Liverpool and on other by reported break in Buenos Ayres quotation. Primary receipts were good and some moisture was said to have been received by grain in Southwest.

Reports of wet weather in Argentina likely to delay the crop movement there had a bullish effect on corn in the last part of the day and so, too, did gossip that exporters were buying liberally in the United States. On the local grain market red winter wheat was steady but dull. There were light sales to mills. Hard was quiet and steady. Cash corn was strong and ½c to 1½c higher. Cash oats were steady to 1c higher. Demand was fair.

Reported absence of precipitation where needed in winter wheat country and higher Liverpool and Buenos Aires prices gave steadiness to early market. Corn also was steady. Liverpool May and July wheat came ½d higher.

May wheat opened at $1.20¾, July wheat at $1.15⅛, September wheat at $1.15¼ and corn at 76¼c, July corn at 77¾c and September corn at 78¼c.

Primary exports for the week ending March 31, as reported by the United States Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates (wheat including flour in terms of bushels; grain grades only and does not include flour): Atlantic ports—Wheat, 1,040,000 bushels; corn, 444,000; oats, 37,000; barley, 89,000; rye, 248,000. WIDOW, ENTITLED TO DOWER, DESPITE DIVORCE, COURT RULES Decree in Knox County Case Not Absolute in Absence of Final Order, Says Daues' Opinion.

A divorce granted to Mrs. Ella Matlick of Edina, Mo., from Harry V. Matlick by the Circuit Court of Knox County does not deprive her of a widow's right of dower in his personal estate according to a decision by the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

Over her husband's opporsition Mrs. Matlick obtained a decree of legal separation on Dec. 9, 1919. He filed a motion for a new trial, which was overruled April 5, 1920, two months after his death in Scotland County, Mo. When the fact of Matlick's death was called to the attention of the trial Judge, he set aside the order overruling the motion and reinstated it on the docket. Then other heirs contended that, notwithstanding the motion had been revived the divorce had taken effect and Mrs. Matlick was not entitled to participate in a division of her former husband's property.

However, the Court of Appeals, in an opinion written by Judge Daues, finds that as the lower court restored the motion the divorce was not absolute because of the absence of a final judgment. Judge Daus pointed out that with the motion still undecided, Mrs. Matlick could not legally have contracted another marriage. About $3000 is at stake.

DISPUTES CLAIMS FOR 'SEMI-ARTIFICIAL EYE'

St. Louis Oculist Says Restoration of Vision by Such Means Is an Impossibility.

A St. Louis oculist of high standing said today that the claims made by a Prof. Katz, a Russian ocular surgeon, of ability to restore vision to the blind by means of a semi-artificial eye of celluloid, were of an impossible character. Such claims, he said, have a tendency to arouse false hopes on the part of blind persons.

The claims of Prof. Katz were related in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, in a special article from Petrograd. The correspondent stated that he had seen but one case, which did, not come under the heading of those restored to sight by the celluloid device. All the statements as to that device rested on the word of Prof. Katz.

As described by Prof. Katz, his operation for the restoration of sight consisted of cutting away the withered front part of the eye, and setting in a celluloid cup, through which the light is reflected, making sight possible.

"It is absolutely impossible to restore sight in any such fashion," the St. Louis oculist said. "Experiments have demonstrated absolutely that no foreign substance placed in the eye, can give vision.

Any foreign substance which is placed in the eye either is expelled or becomes covered with tissue. In the latter case, it would be no longer transparent, and so would be worthless for the purpose of admitting light.

After an operation removing the front part of the eye, there would be a raw surface, which in healing would either expel the celluloid cover, or would coat it with tissue.

"The idea of a window in the eye has been experimented with in this country. I know of such experiments, made with rabbits nearly 20 years ago, which demonstrated absolutely the impossibility of keeping the window in position and getting light through it.

"Everyone knows that a bullet, fired into the body, will be expelled or will, if it does not carry infection, become surrounded with tissue. Nature takes care of foreign substances in the body in this manner."

The St. Louis oculist, who for professional reasons would not permit his name to be used, said also that accounts of the successful grafting of corneas from the eyes of animals upon the eyes of human beings were not to be credited. He said that in a very few cases human corneas have been grafted on other human eyes, but that the cornea of a lower animal cannot be grafted on a human eye, nor upon the eye of any animal of a different species.

MAN IN CRITICAL CONDITION AFTER SHOCK BY LIVE WIRE

Chief Electrician for Polar Wave Ice Co. Injured at Winter Garden.

Joseph A. Leahy, 39, of 3912 Labadie avenue, chief electrician for the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel Co., is in St. John's Hospital in a critical condition after being shocked by a live wire, reported as carrying 13,000 volts, when at work at the substation of the ice plant at the Winter Garden, 520 De Baliviere avenue, yesterday.

Doctors reported he was suffering with shock, burns on the hands, wrists, legs, toes and feet and from a probable fracture of the skull.

Police reported Leahy was overhauling the plant at the substation when he reached over his head and took hold of the live wire and was knocked to the floor, the wire tangling about his body. Fellow workmen turned off the current and Leahy was disentangled and taken to the hospital.

Skin Eruptions
Are Usually Due to Constipation
When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.
Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity, when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

MANY THANKS.—We do not locate the recipe for "Belgian Bees."

H. O. N.—The man found dead on the Broadway street car March 13 was Harry Hanna, a timber buyer.

J. N.—Consult a patent lawyer concerning the method you should follow in reference to your plan, or idea.

X. Z. X.—You can obtain a permit to play tennis in the city parks, in the city hall, Park Department, Recreation Division.

G. W.—The population of St. Louis in 1910 was 687,029 and in 1920 it was 772,897. The census is taken only every 10 years and not annually.

G. D.—The plumbers and the motion picture unions are located in the Central Trades Building. Inquire there regarding the requirements for joining the respective unions.

NO NAME.—The oldest bridge in St. Louis is the Eads Bridge. The opening took place July 4, 1874. The Merchants Bridge was opened in 1890. There was no bridge at St. Louis in 1857 for the Alton & St. Louis railroad to cross on.

E. F. T.—The address of the News Service is 30 East Forty-second street, New York. Inquire in the music stores or schools in St. Louis for the names of competent composers who will write music for your poems.

HON.—Be sure to heat your curling iron so that it will be hot enough to curl your hair. If then you cannot get satisfactory results from it, take it to the place from which you purchased it, and have them tell you what is the trouble.

C. D.—The addresses you requested are as follows: Eugene Debs, Terre Haute, Ind.; Frank Farrington, Springfield, Ill.; Frank P. Walsh, Commerce Building, Kansas City, Mo.; Alfred Hayes, 120 Broadway, New York, N. Y.; Senator Sneed, United Mine Workers of America headquarters, Springfield, Ill.; Alexander Howatt, Girard, Kan.

K. TUT.—Chicken wings are not eaten with the fingers in company. You cut off as much of the meat as you can, and leave the rest on your plate. Consult the furniture store from which you purchased the bed room suite for information concerning the care of it. Send your rug to a cleaners and have it dry cleaned. That will help to brighten the colors.

J. R.—Chief Probation Officer Smith of the Juvenile Court states that there has not been an increase in juvenile crime in St. Louis in the last 3 or 4 years. He has no figures available for comparing the juvenile crime statistics of St. Louis with other cities. He suggests that statistics might be secured by writing Charles L. Chute, General Secretary National Probation Officers' Association, 370 Seventh avenue, New York City.

SPRING CLEANING.—Following is a formula for a paint and varnish remover: Dissolve 20 parts of caustic soda (98 per cent) in 100 parts of water, mix the solution with 20 parts of mineral oil, and stir in a kettle provided with a mechanical stirrer until the emulsion is complete. Now add, with stirring, 20 parts of sawdust and pass the whole through a paint mill to obtain a uniform intermixture. Apply the paste moist.

E. J. K.—There are in the United States so far as we know only six Sunday newspapers (two in Chicago, three in New York and one in Boston) having a circulation greater than the Sunday Post-Dispatch. The daily and Sunday average of the Post-Dispatch is greater than that of any other St. Louis newspaper. There are a few daily evening papers (two in Chicago, one in Philadelphia, three in New York, one in Boston) and perhaps one or two others, where the field is divided differently than here, or where the population may be greater than that of St. Louis) with more daily circulation than the Post-Dispatch. The circulation of the Post-Dispatch is greater than the combined circulation of the other two St. Louis evening papers.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

SMITH.—See answer to Mother.

E. K. S.—The old will is still good, and need not be changed, even though she married again.

MOTHER.—If under the law the soldier is entitled to hospitalization, the fact that he was refused it now will not bar him later.

OLD READER.—If the fence is on your neighbor's property, it belongs to him; if it is on your property it belongs to you; and if it is on the line, it is a boundary fence and belongs to both of you and should be repaired by both.

MAX.—If you have any ground for divorce you can secure a divorce in this country. If you obtain a divorce and then marry you cannot marry for one year. If you married an American woman she could retain her American citizenship.

OLD SUBSCRIBER.—Whether the son's share will or his children by his first wife would inherit his estate in England would depend on the provisions of the will governing his estate in England. Consult a lawyer.

B. H. P.—Under the circumstances you have described the deed could be annulled and the children of the son and of the other daughter could obtain their shares of the estate with the consent of the guardian.

WIDOW.—In Illinois your husband would receive one-third of your personal estate, on your death. You could leave it all to him by a will, if you wished to do that. A power of attorney is a written authority to another person to act for you and in your name. It is not a law.

X. Y. Z.—In our opinion, if the will said "until she becomes of age," it should be construed to mean until she becomes 21, unless she was already 18 and of age at the time that the 1921 law was passed. A great deal would depend upon the exact language and purpose of this provision of the will.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

G. W.—See answer to P. J. F.

WORRIED SISTER.—Apply or communicate with the Children's Hospital, King's highway and Park View.

JOHNNY.—The remedy is an examination of the nose to determine the cause and the removal of the cause. Almost every case is due to some abnormal condition present.

P. J. F.—We believe from your description your trouble is troubles of itch. Itch is a parasitic infection of the skin by the itch mite. It is as a rule, readily amenable to treatment, carefully and conscientiously carried out, with the aid of the prevention of reinfection, which readily occurs. Proceed as follows: (1) Provide clean underclothing, clean bedclothing and clean nightwear which is to be used, and not changed, until the completion of the treatment. Then all of the above-mentioned clothing must be replaced by clean clothing. (2) Take a hot bath of soap and water, using and rubbing well with a coarse rag, to break down any lesions on the skin in which the itch might be lodged. No other bath is to be taken until the completion of the treatment. (3) Rub in thoroughly, in every part of the skin below the chin, the following ointment, which should be well made and smooth night and morning, until five rubbings a day have been done. Four drachms of washed sulphur, 4 drachms of balsam of Peru, 2 ounces of vaseline made into a smooth ointment. (4) The night or morning following the fifth rubbing take a hot soap and water bath, after which all clean clothing should be used. It should be borne in mind that the ointment may for a few days occasion an itching and time should be allowed for this to pass. If a cure has not been effected the treatment should be repeated.

THE GIRL IN THE CORNER APARTMENT

LXXIV. — MISUNDERSTANDING.

THE CHARACTERS.

CYNTHIA BRANT, country girl, living in a New York apartment she has inherited from an old lady she once befriended.

RUBY ALLISON, her gay and frivolous friend.

ALEC KERR, Ruby's fiance.

QUENTIN GRAY, an artist friend of Ruby's.

AUNT ELLEN, who keeps house for Cynthia.

MURRAY STEWART, for whom Cynthia is working as a stenographer.

MRS. WAKELAND, friend and rich client of Stewart's, who takes a fancy to Cynthia.

VIOLET JERROLD, friend of Murray's.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT.

HALF an hour later, a tap sounded at her bedroom door, and, opening it, she saw Mrs. Wakeland.

"My dear, it isn't fair that you should be cooped up here on this perfectly gorgeous day! I can't allow it! Tomorrow you'll be hard at work for me, and not free until the evening. So you ought to make the most of this lovely afternoon."

"I—I'm quite all right, thanks," stammered Cynthia. "Isn't there something that I can do for you, just now? You know I'd be glad to"——

"Stuff and nonsense! Time enough tomorrow." Mrs. Wakeland hesitated for a moment, as though planning something. "I've got half a dozen calls to pay this afternoon. If you'd care to come with me, my dear, I'd be very glad to have you, but some of those friends I'm calling on are so much older than yourself, so it would be a bit dull for you, besides being a shame to coop you up on such a sunny afternoon!"

"Yes. Don't mind me. I'm all right," rejoined Cynthia, hastily, feeling painfully in the way.

"Of course, you can't go alone," resumed Margaret Wakeland, as though she had not heard the interpolation. "But I know a young man who would ask nothing better than to take you"——

"Then please don't ask him," cut in the girl, flushed and embarrassed. "I'd just as soon go out for a little stroll all by myself. I don't want to be a nuisance"——

"Rubbish!" Mrs. Wakeland piloted her back into the private sitting room, where Murray Stewart was leaning rather moodily up against the mantelpiece. "Murray, here's a young woman who thinks she is a burden on everyone. What shall we do with her, please?"

He did not answer immediately, and the good lady went on, gaily:

"I think you and she ought to go out for a drive or walk."

"I'm rather tired," said Cynthia, suddenly. "I'd be glad to have a rest quietly in my room." Tears, which at all costs she must suppress, struggled to gain the mastery of her. Why was Murray Stewart so uninterested and so detached? Why had he ceased to care for her?

The young man spoke. To Cynthia's sensitive ears his voice seemed perfectly cool and remote.

"I've a sort of second-cousin-once-removed who has a house out in one of the suburbs," he said. "Perhaps I ought to go out and look her up."

He had meant to include Cynthia in this plan, but the girl thought he did not want to act as escort to her, and her pride rose at once.

Before she could say anything, however, or repeat her desire to be alone, Margaret Wakeland cried:

"You dull man, how can you dream of wasting such a perfect afternoon in that dreary suburb, with some dreary relative for whom you don't care twopence?"

That clinched the argument, and pretty soon Cynthia found herself motoring with Murray Stewart.

The world looked very beautiful, but a queer constraint, begotten of misunderstanding, had fallen on them both, making them rather silent and embarrassed in each other's company.

Ruby Allison was in excellent spirits, for Quentin Gray was kind again.

Whether the artist's latest inamorata had tired of his attentions, or whether her pocketbook had suffered more severely than her heart had done, remained to be discovered.

But certain it was that he had (to use Ruby's terse phraseology) "got the chuck" in that quarter, and was now willing to amuse himself once more with the impulsive lady of the flaunting looks and ready tongue.

Ruby's interview with the moving picture director, too, had been successful. She was to be "tried out" the following Tuesday afternoon.

"Say, kid, I guess I can use your 'type,' all righty," the great one had announced, speaking from one corner of his mouth, the other being occupied by a large and fat cigar (with the paper band still on it), on the end of which he chewed remorselessly. "You've got the goods, and 'pep' and 'punch.' That copper nob of yours will screen first class, if you can get away with the acting. And believe me"—with an admiring ogle into her tawny eyes—"you've got some lamps in your head, all right, and with a heavy makeup you'll be the cutest vamp I've seen in donkey's years."

This gracefully worded tribute to her charms delighted Ruby and quite restored that confidence in herself which Quentin's defection and Alec Kerr's absence had considerably dashed of late.

Therefore, when the artist begged her to spend Saturday afternoon and evening with him on the sound she accepted with delight.

Tomorrow: "A Holiday."

How a Famous Singer Contrives to Keep Really Well

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

WHEN one is interested in improving the health of the country it is encouraging to find a great artist setting a worthy example of how to live. The other day I read about the way Mme. Amelita Galli-Curci keeps her marvelous voice by preserving her body.

There are few persons who have better worked out the essentials of good health. So important does Mme. Galli-Curci consider physical vigor that she devotes as much time to exercise as she does to vocal practice.

In writing a little book on "Over-Weight," I railed against the limousine, saying:

"The automobile is the enemy of many a slim figure. Lolling on the cushions of a motor car will do more to put on flesh than almost any other habit."

Having this in mind, I was pleased to see what the great artist said on the same subject.

"Too many of us ride in limousines. They are a temptation, and I know that it is hard to struggle against them. But walking whenever it is possible is always best for the health."

We always think ideas are sensible if they agree with ours! I preach Mme. Galli-Curci's doctrine myself, as note these words from my little book:

"Never ride if you can walk, and, if you do ride, hold yourself erect. Don't permit yourself to slouch down in the seat. Your back, chest and abdominal muscles should be kept on tension. Don't let them relax and thus permit the fat gradually to crowd out your muscle tissue."

Mme. Galli-Curci walks four or five miles a day, even if she has to do it on the roof of a hotel. She uses a few simple calisthenics, 10 minutes, night and morning.

In her regimen the corset is taboo, as also are tobacco, wine, tea and coffee. Water and milk are her beverages. The health officials are trying to get everybody to use a quart of milk a day, but this little lady does better—she drinks two quarts daily.

Ten hours are given to sleep, and she thinks it is not a bad plan to woo sleep by taking a big bowl of crackers and milk before retiring.

Not only is Mme. Galli-Curci a sanitarian, but she is a philosopher. Listen to her words:

"Too many of us are likely to think that worries injure our health. That is a mistaken idea. A little worry stirs up the blood. To worry is better than to be in a state of apathy. Apathy never gets you anywhere. When we are a little worried we are likely to bestir ourselves and create something that is worth while."

My hat is off to you, Madame!

Answers to Health Questions.

H. A. Q.—Will you kindly tell me the reason for cold hands and feet and a remedy for this condition?

A.—Poor circulation is the usual cause of your malady, sometimes due to a run-down condition. Proper exercise and correct food will banish your complaint. If you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and restate your question, I shall be glad to send you instructions that will help you.

M. A. M. Q.—Would a circular movement of the arms used as a daily exercise tend to broaden the shoulders?

2.—I am a girl 16 years of age, height 5 feet 6 inches. Will you kindly tell me what my correct weight should be?

A.—Deep breathing before an open window, together with your suggested exercises, will help to broaden your shoulders.

2—For the age and height you mention, you should weigh about 125 pounds.

• • •

A. S. Q.—I am troubled with my eyes—usually when reading. Will you kindly advise me what to do for this condition?

A.—Have an oculist examine your eyes for eye-strain. You probably need glasses. An examination will determine this.

• • •

C. L. F. Q.—Will you kindly tell me whether —— soap or any laundry soap is harmful to the face?

2—What would you suggest for slightly chapped face and lips?

A.—The soap you mention is not harmful to the face or skin.

2—I would suggest that you use cold cream on your lips.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

Solving Economy-Dinner Problems With Hearty Soups.

HEARTY soups are an economy where the family is large, for they save serious inroads on the meat dish.

A hearty soup is not necessarily a meat or cream soup, for it may be one of dried peas, beans, lentils, or cereals.

For instance, if baked beans are to be the main dinner dish, do not throw away the water in which the beans were boiled, but add to it a sliced onion, some bits of celery, parsley and diced vegetables which may be on hand. Cook the soup until the vegetables are done. Then thicken with a little butter and flour rubbed to a paste. The soup may be strained if desired, then a little chopped parsley sprinkled over the top, or the vegetables may be left in the soup. This is hearty and economical.

In planning a dinner, in the interest of goodness and economy, it should be the aim of the cook to make one thing fit into another.

This is the French way of managing, and the idea is worth copying. When an extra nice piece of soup meat is purchased—good top or bottom round—the meat should be trimmed and shaped well, larded with strips of bacon or macaroni if desired, then cooked with the vegetables in the soup until very tender. Then it may be lifted and kept hot in a steamer to be served with a horseradish, sauce, or any other sauce liked.

Meantime, the soup may be skimmed and served with or without the vegetables, either simply thickened or with rice or barley added to it. This kind of management saves fuel. The entire meal is taken care of in the one pot.

When there is to be a boiled fish dish add to the water some cut-up vegetables, a quarter-cupful of vinegar and three cloves. When the fish is done lift it, return skin and bones to the water with a grated onion, and boil two minutes. Season well, strain, add a pint of hot milk, thicken, add a half of a small can of broken shrimps, and serve. This is a good soup, and again the soup and main dish are cooked in the same pot. A good drawn butter is served with the fish, and boiled potatoes. Stewed tomatoes, fried cucumbers, baked eggplant or well deviled eggs should be served with the fish.

A chicken dinner may accomplish the same purpose, and the soup and main dish come out of the same pot. Truss and stuff a chicken for boiling, and add to the water a sliced onion, a small bay leaf, some chopped celery tops, a few sprays of parsley, a sliced carrot and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. When the chicken is tender, remove it and place it in a roasting-pan. Dust it lightly with flour, set in the oven and baste once with a little melted butter with the juice of half a lemon and an onion in it. When a delicate brown it is ready for the table.

Meantime, the soup may be strained, and what is to be used for dinner may be cooled quickly, and the grease taken off. Then it may be reheated and thickened. It will be ready almost as soon as the chicken is browned if the cook works quickly. Or the vegetables may be left in if desired, and the grease may be taken off with a blotting-paper. This makes the chicken almost like a roasted chicken, and to many people better than a plain boiled chicken, especially as it is stuffed. This is an old-fashioned way of cooking this fowl.

The modern housekeeper who thinks she must have fresh steak, chops, cutlets or other expensive things every day should make an effort to get acquainted with these good dishes. They may be a little more trouble to prepare, but they are far more satisfying to a hungry family, as well as a great saving on fuel. These hearty soups are, taken all in all, a general economy.

Fashion News Notes

PARIS.—White today is extremely fashionable, not merely in sports clothes, but in afternoon and evening frocks as well. One afternoon frock is shown in white morrocain, with a wrap-around skirt ornamented with a huge Egyptian medallion in green and silver. The bodice is sleeveless.

PARIS.—Pewter gray, a shade which came into prominence for a while last spring, is with us again. It has the soft, dull shine of an old pewter platter and is an ideal background for the exotic colors which Luxor has bequeathed us.

LONDON.—Flannel, like calico and cotton before it, has achieved aristocracy. Today the debutante would not think of using flannel for anything so humble as a petticoat. She has flannel country suits, flannel coatees for her velvet skirts, and even an occasional flannel hat.

LONDON.—It is the height of fashion at the moment to have a silk muslin dance frock—a return to the simplicity of the early '90s. With the frock you should have also a cape of silk muslin to match, and both frock and cape should be trimmed with many ruffles.

NEW YORK.—It would appear, after scanning the spring fashions as seen on the streets here, that pockets are for decoration as well as for utility. The pockets of some street suits are ornamented with a flower and leaves in satin ribon, a touch most effective on a pastel tint.

NEW YORK.—Many of the rather fluffy high collars which some of the spring capes effect are given a seasonal touch by the addition of huge roses of chiffon, in a contrasting color. These roses are posed on the front of the collar.

NEW YORK.—Even a small hat which sets out to be merely a cloche is likely to fall under the poke bonnet influence today. One sees many little straw hats, in grays and greens, with the merest suggestion of a poke bonnet shape in the front, hardly more than a widening of the brim.

Why Youthful Marriages Are Dangerous

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB.

A YOUNG woman, not out of her teens, has returned "home to mother" after a few months of married life. She begs to be forgiven and wants to forget her husband as quickly as possible.

It was one of those mad marriages—the result of moonlight and candy and too much freedom. And the latter reason is the very one that should be used against early, and hasty marriages.

In those good old grandmother days the best thing to do was to marry young. Why? Because people did really settle down. That was the trend of the times.

They married, had homes, brought up children, and that was the woman's job, and so regarded.

Things are different now, and we might as well recognize them as they are. Today she has a career; she is more looked upon as a distinct individual. She has freedom plus. She does what she pleases, goes where she pleases, and in business she is mingling with men every minute. She is her own property and not that of her husband.

Besides, life is an entirely different proposition. With the entrance of radios, telephones, moving picture houses and dance halls—all of these things make for easy communication and contact with the world that encourages freedom of action everywhere.

Therefore, when a girl marries today she does not "settle down" in the old sense, and except for swearing fidelity to her husband, she is as free after marriage as she was before. Therefore, she meets other people, other men, has other pleasures and other associations—a thing that her grandmother knew little or nothing about.

The home is not now looked upon as the Alpha and Omega of existence. Because of this entrance of women in the world of work, the couple that marries should be dead sure that the freedom they insist upon will not separate them.

This takes common sense—and experience of human values. Besides, they must understand that the "give and take" idea is not for one to give all and take nothing, and the other to take all and give nothing.

All of these fundamental requisites for the successful marriage cannot be acquired readily by young people, unless they are exceptional young people.

That is why many a youthful marriage today is the tragic one, because of the attractions that each has to compete with, outside the home.

In the olden days these were minimized. There was very little outside of it to detract from the household.

Yesterday marrying a man meant bondage to home and husband; today the marriage tie means freedom.

When people assume the marriage vows after mature judgment their chances for happiness is enhanced. They have been in touch with the world at large and they have seen the trials and vicissitudes of their friends and their families. They have learned something about the crying need of peace in the home. In other words, they do not go into it blindly as in youth.

As a general thing, women need not marry for the prime purpose of getting a home. They can make their own living and need not marry just to let some one else do it. Therefore, they have more opportunity for a successful marriage. They may really choose their mate as a mate, and not as a "meal ticket."

Almost any one can get married, but it is not so easy to get "unmarried."

Early marriages should be discouraged. As a rule the person that you think you love at 16 is not the person you would choose at 25. That is the sum and substance of it. The exceptions are not common.

WORDS of WISE MEN

Be humble and gentle in your conversation—of few words, but always pertinent when you speak, hearing out before you attempt to answer, and then speaking as if you would persuade, not impose.

A sound mind in a sound body is a short but full description of a happy state in this world. He that has these two has little more to wish for, and he that wants either of them will be but little the better for anything else.

Now a QUICK Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Please Note That

Oats almost ready—quicker than eggs

Now your grocer has Quick Quaker Oats.
They are the quickest cooking oats in the world.
Try them if you want your breakfast in a hurry.
The dish will be ready, and cooked to perfection, long before the coffee.

Like the Quaker you know

No difference in quality or flavor.
You get in Quick Quaker all the Quaker delights.
We simply cut the oats before flaking. Then they are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Now Quaker comes in two styles—take your choice.
Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. We get but ten pounds of these delicious flakes from a bushel.
But note what this means in flavor.
Here is a dish that every oat lover loves.
Millions of mothers, all the world over, send across seas to get it. And it makes this supreme food doubly welcome to children everywhere.
Insist on Quaker—either style—for the children's sake.

nails more than tiny white spots dotted over their surface. I know you've seen nails that are well-shaped and well-cared-for and that would be lovely except for these disfiguring little white spots all over them.

Sometimes these disfigurements come from too much care—that is, care applied too painstakingly. Some women spend far too much time pushing the cuticle back from the rims of their nails. They push and push, and while they are doing it they let the orange stick slip several times, with the result that it bruises the root of the tender young nails.

You should use an orange stick always for the purpose of pushing back the cuticle and to clean your nail—never a steel implement.

Here is a good soothing cuticle salve which you will find convenient to apply to your nails by dipping the end of your orange stick in it:

Lanolin
Olive oil.

The lanolin, of course, is a paste. Thin this out by applying olive oil, a little at a time, until it reaches the consistency of a thin salve. Apply this to your cuticle where it is bruised or hurt and you will find it both soothing and healing.

These small aids mean much in attaining the well-cared-for nail that gives individuality to your hand.

What a Little Green Grass Did

By Thornton W. Burgess

Happiness is catching, so
Spread it everywhere you go.
—Carol the Meadow Lark.

CAROL, the Meadow Lark, sat on a fence post near the home of Johnny Chuck and sang as only Carol can in the joy of spring. His yellow waistcoat was beautiful to see. It seemed all the brighter for the broad, black crescent on his breast. His clear, piercing notes could be heard across the Green Meadows, and no one who heard them could doubt that Carol was nearly bursting with happiness.

Now happiness is catching. Yes, sir, happiness is catching. I don't know of anything that is more catching. It was quite impossible for Johnny Chuck to sit there looking at Carol and listening to him and remain grouchy. Besides, Carol had told him of green grass, and that news of itself was enough to put an end to his bad temper. When he begged Carol to tell him where the nearest patch of green grass was his voice had become almost pleasant.

Now Carol the Meadow Lark rejoices in his own happiness, and dearly loves to make others happy. "Watch me, Johnny Chuck," said he. "I will fly straight over to the nearest patch of green grass."

So Johnny Chuck sat up very straight and watched. Carol spread his stout wings and flew out over the Green Meadows. He didn't go far before he dropped to the ground. Johnny Chuck waited only long enough to make sure just where Carol had disappeared. He forgot that he had been complaining of feeling stiff. His black heels fairly twinkled as he left his doorstep and started straight for that place.

When he got there he found Carol waiting for him. "How does that look to you?" cried Carol as Johnny came up.

Johnny drew a long breath. "It is the best thing I've seen for a long, long time," declared Johnny as he looked hungrily at a little patch of green where the young grass had just begun to grow. When you stop to think of it, that wasn't a surprising statement, considering the fact that until that morning Johnny Chuck hadn't seen anything for many long weeks.

The grass was young and tender, and, of course, it was very short, for it had only just begun to grow. Johnny began to nibble it eagerly. There wasn't enough of it to be very filling, but there was enough to take the edge from his appetite. Besides, he wasn't so very hungry. You see he still had the fat he had stored under his skin before going to sleep in the fall. And he didn't really need food just yet.

It was the fact that there was food, and the knowledge that every day there would be more, which made such a difference to Johnny Chuck. As he nibbled and nibbled and nibbled the whole world changed for Johnny Chuck. Yes, sir, it did so. By the time he returned to his doorstep you wouldn't have known him for the same Chuck who had been so grouchy to Peter Rabbit and Winsome Bluebird and Jimmy Skunk. He was glad he was awake. He fairly tingled all over with the joy of spring. Yes, sir, he did just that. He actually wanted to sing, but, of course, he couldn't. He forgot that he had ever grumbled and growled and complained. And that is what a little green grass did for Johnny Chuck.

Heredity and Environment

By WINIFRED BLACK

THE grandson of the great merchant famous around the world for his honesty and his upright dealing, is in prison in France. He's been gambling at Deauville—and when he couldn't pay his gambling debts with honest money, he is said to have forged some checks—and not even the name of his great and highly respected grandfather could save him.

And now he's in prison, with crooks and gamblers, and pickpockets and burglars, and all kinds of criminals, big and little.

What will those who preach to us so glibly of heredity have to say of this affair?

Come, come now, Dr. Eugenics—you've been telling us that no one should marry without a clean bill of health from an examining physician.

You insist that people with a criminal taint or an invalid taint or a mental taint should not marry.

The Two Sides.

"We must not hand these tendencies down," you say.

Well, how about this young gentleman and his grandfather, and his grandmother, and his father and his mother? They were the very pink of propriety, and every one of them an example to the rest of the world.

What about environment—too?

The world's divided into two classes of thinkers today.

One thinks that nothing can happen to you if you're born right. No matter where you go, or how you were raised, your blood will tell.

"Plant a rose in a barnyard—and it will still be a rose."

That's what the heredity preachers insist.

"Honesty and courage and decency and common sense are born in a man. They're in his blood—or they're not—and that's all there is to it.

"Eugenic marriages, eugenically planned—breed in the good, breed out the bad—that's the only way to improve the race.

"Education, surroundings, youthful training—that tells the whole story," so argues the other side of the house.

"Give me the son of a thief, and let me bring him up in the right surroundings, with the right education, and I'll bet on him against the son of an honest man brought up in a family of thieves," declares the other side.

Which Is Right?

Which side of the argument appeals to you?

Don't ask me what I think about it.

On Monday, when I hear that the daughter of an old friend has broken her mother's heart and thrown her own life away, I think it's her grandmother on her father's side that's to blame.

And when I meet, as I did the other day, an official in high standing in the city of his birth, and realize that he is the son of a beggar and a shoplifter—I give all the credit for his character to the people who took him from the foundling asylum and brought him up in the way of honor and probity.

What a mysterious web we weave with every day we live, and how little we understand the pattern we're helping to make.

A Wise Mother's Prescription

For Preserving Family Health

JOHNNY is taking a prescription. His careful mother—the family Health Doctor—ordered it. The greatest health authorities would applaud her judgment. Her daily ounce of prevention works wonders in combating disease.

But—you say—he is simply washing his face! No, he is doing MUCH MORE. He is purifying his face with Lifebuoy. A great health prescription.

Dirt is Dangerous

Health is so priceless—and so easily lost! Every day your children touch filthy objects, meet diseased persons, cover themselves with germ-laden dirt.

Almost every known disease can be traced to dirt. Famous Health Foundations plead with you to safeguard husband and children against this dreaded menace.

The Health Habit

Give them Lifebuoy—the health soap. Its rich, creamy lather carries a wonderful health element deep down into dirt-clogged pores. The skin is completely cleaned, purified and deodorized—delightfully stimulated.

Be sure to put a cake at every place where there is running water. How the men folks will thank you! Lifebuoy, you know, is preferred by men everywhere.

You can always recognize the true health soap by COLOR and ODOR. Pure, unbleached palm-fruit oil is red. So Lifebuoy is RED. The unique health element gives Lifebuoy its pungent, healthful odor. The odor vanishes instantly—the protection remains.

Good lighting, proper ventilation, sanitary surroundings. They are provided in every modern office.

But until recently little attention was paid to the sanitation of DRINKING. Methods were inconvenient or unsafe.

The development of BURT CUPS has changed the situation. Offices are now installing dust-proof containers to dispense the modern, perfect cup.

Employees are being taught to drink just enough water—and to drink more frequently. Minds freed from thoughts of thirst are more efficient.

The BURT CUP holds the exact amount of water required to quench the thirst, but not enough to chill the stomach. There is no spilling or wasting of excess water.

The conical shape of the BURT CUP makes it easy to hold and impossible to use more than once. Each cup is perfectly made from immaculate paper.

The Man on the Sandbox

by L. Cowan

THE POINT OF VIEW.

THERE was a man on our team,
And he was wondrous gifted;
He hit the pellet on the seam
And o'er the fence it drifted.
But when he reached the second sack,
The rooters raised a howl,
Because the umpire called him back
And said it was a foul.

A bimbo on the other team
Was similarly gifted;
He soaked the pill right on the seam
And o'er the fence it drifted.
But when the umpire made him stop
As homeward he was moving,
The rooters yelled, "Good eye, old top!
Your eyesight is improving."

A WHOLESALE ORDER.

THE late Sam Davis, editor of the Carson Appeal, was known as the oracle of the Nevada sagebrush—and deserved the title. Once upon a time he was instructed by the San Francisco Examiner to meet Mme. Sarah Bernhardt at Reno and bring her over the mountains of California on her first tour of the Western slope.

Davis, aside from his journalistic abilities, was a most likable person. The great French actress became so fond of him, upon the occasion of their first meeting that thereafter she declined to be interviewed by any other newspaper man during her sojourn on the coast. If she had anything to say for publication, he said it for her.

The day came when the train bearing her private car was about to start on the long journey back East. As the locomotive bell was ringing, she put her hands upon his shoulders, kissed him upon either cheek, and then squarely upon the mouth, remarking as she did so:

"The right cheek for the Carson Appeal, the left for the Examiner, the lips, my friend, for yourself."

"Madame," said Davis, without the slightest sign of bashfulness, "I also represent the Associated Press, which serves 800 papers west of the Mississippi River."

FARIS ORDERS PADLOCK ON 8 SALOONS AND 3 ROADHOUSES

Federal Injunctions Issued Closing Rigoletto Inn, Joe Gonnella's Place and the Eleven-Mile House, All in County, for Period of One Year.

RULING GOES INTO EFFECT IMMEDIATELY

Owners of Buildings Used by Condemned Bars Given Opportunity to Show They Had No Knowledge of Law Violations.

Injunctions closing three notorious St. Louis County roadhouses and eight saloons in St. Louis for one year as penalty provided under the national prohibition law in case of persistent violation of the Volstead act, today were issued by Federal Judge Faris.

The order against the roadhouses was absolute and final, but the court allowed owners of the buildings in which the saloons are located opportunity to show they had no knowledge of illegal liquor sales therein and will lose financially by the closures.

Mrs. Reedy's Tea Room on the Manchester road, conducted by Mrs. Margaret Reedy Heaney, widow of William Marion Reedy, who was the author of "Reedy's Mirror," was made the object of an injunction, but the order concerning her was qualified.

She was placed under $1000 bond not to sell intoxicating liquor, and is to be permitted to occupy the place as a residence and to conduct a place dispensing beverages no stronger than tea.

Attorneys for Gonnella and Mrs. Reedy contested the injunctions before Judge Faris. All other defendants failed to appear.

Not Police Court, Says Faris.

Gonnella's lawyer pleaded his client had been fined for each violation of the prohibition law and hence the case against him already had been adjudicated.

"I see your point," Judge Faris replied, "but if you think the Government has no right to take action twice against your client, you will have to go to a higher court for decision."

The Court then declined to grant a 10-day stay of execution, remarking: "I intend to show some people that my court is not always a police court."

The former Mrs. Reedy asserted through counsel that she was not responsible for and had no knowledge of the liquor law infractions at her tearoom. She laid the blame on a Negro waiter, John Harvey. The home brew that raiders had found in her quarters had been made for her personal use, she explained. Other liquors discovered on the premises she asserted, were left to her by William Marion Reedy.

Saloons Ordered Closed.

Frank Adams, 9500 South Broadway.

Anna Bohun, 9827 South Broadway.

William Delabar, 7 South Broadway.

Eugene Flood, 614 North Vandeventer.

Joe Heinzer, 2650 Arsenal street.

Anton Loeffler, 615 Market street.

George Niederberger, 115 Chambers street.

Peter Rosegrant, 6301 Easton avenue.

An attorney representing Gustav Rosenberg, owner of the building 2814 North Vandeventer avenue, in which the saloon run by Eugene Flood is located, appeared before the court to raise the point which caused Judge Faris to grant all similar property owners a hearing. Rosenberg's position was that he was not a party to the illegal acts of his te
